PREFACE

The advent of the Competence-Based Curriculum (CBC) heralds a new era of dynamic and practical learning experiences designed to equip learners with the 21st century skills.

The choice of the Competence-Based Curriculum (CBC) marks a transformative step in improving education quality and relevance. The Ministry of Education understands the challenges that come with transitioning to a new curriculum and is; therefore, committed to ensuring provision of quality teaching and learning materials to support effective lesson delivery.

The English Language Teaching Module has been shaped in line with the Competence Based Education principles which seek to link education to real life experiences. The English Language Teaching Module fully embraces the General Competences provided in the 2023 Zambia Curriculum Framework such as collaboration, critical thinking, creativity and innovation, problem solving, analytical thinking, emotional intelligence, digital literacy and entrepreneurship. Effective implementation of the CBC requires clarity of focus, undivided dedication, commitment and setting higher level competences.

It is my sincere hope that this CBC English Language Teaching Module for Form 1, will greatly improve the quality of education provided to English Language as outlined and emphasized in various policy documents; 'Education for Sustainability, 2023', and '2023 Zambia Education Curriculum Framework.

This module reflects the Ministry's unwavering commitment to making this journey as smooth as possible for teachers, by providing structured guidance, suggested activities, and formative assessments that align with the CBC's objectives. However, teachers are encouraged to supplement this module with their own research and innovations in order to address any gaps that may arise during implementation.

Permanent Secretary- Educational Services MINISTRY OF EDUCATION

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The Form 1, Term 3 English Language Teaching Module is a result of wide consultation involving several stake holders within and outside the Education system.

The Ministry of Education wishes to express its heartfelt gratitude for the valuable contributions of all those who participated in the development of this Teaching Module under the 2023 Competence Based Curriculum.

Finally, I acknowledge the dedication and hard work of the staff at the Curriculum Development Centre, whose efforts were instrumental in ensuring the successful completion of the English Language Teaching Module.

Charles K. Ndakala (Dr.)
Director Curriculum Development

INTRODUCTION

The Form 1 Teaching Module has been meticulously designed to support teachers in the effective delivery of English Language lessons under the reformed curriculum. The module is developed based on the approved 2024 Competence-Based English Language Syllabus. It aims to bridge the gap created by the absence of approved textbooks and to equip educators with practical tools, activities, and assessments tailored to the learners' level and needs.

The Ministry, understands the challenges that come with transitioning to a new curriculum that is Competence Based. The choice of the Competence-Based Curriculum (CBC) marks a transformative step in improving education quality and relevance. This module reflects the Ministry's unwavering commitment to making this journey as smooth as possible for teachers, by providing structured guidance, suggested activities, and formative assessments that align with the CBC's objectives. However, teachers are encouraged to supplement this module with their own research and innovations in order to address any gaps that may arise during implementation.

The suggested activities and assessments provided in this module are designed to foster practical and critical thinking skills in learners while ensuring relevance and adaptability to different school contexts. Teachers are encouraged to tailor these suggestions to their unique classroom dynamics and to explore alternative, acceptable approaches when necessary. This flexibility is key to ensuring that all learners, regardless of their environment, benefit from meaningful and impactful Curriculum.

It is envisaged that this module will serve as a valuable resource for teachers as they navigate the new Competence-Based Curriculum, enhancing their ability to inspire and equip learners with essential English Language knowledge, skills and positive attitudes desired to create a vibrant and responsive education system.

CHAPTER 1: FINANCIAL EDUCATION

TOPIC: DIRECTIONS

1. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Directions are instructions or guidelines that help individuals navigate from one place to another or complete a specific task. They can be given verbally, written down, or represented through symbols, maps, or diagrams. Understanding and following directions is an essential skill in daily life, as it ensures clarity, efficiency, and accuracy in movement and communication. Whether used for travel, assembling objects, or executing tasks, directions provide a structured way to achieve a goal. This topic, will discuss how to give and ask for directions.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Use appropriate language (verbal and non-verbal) in different situations
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
- Hook: What did you do when you needed to find a place but did not know its location?

KEY TERMS / WORDS / VOCABULARY

- Directions: Instructions that guide someone to a specific location.
- Intersection: A point where two or more roads cross or meet.
- Landmark: A recognisable feature or structure that helps people identify a location.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: GIVING DIRECTIONS

• INTRODUCTION

Giving and asking for directions is an essential skill for effective communication. Being able to give clear and accurate directions is an important communication skill, whether one is helping someone find a location or navigating a new place. In this topic, learners will learn common phrases and vocabulary used for giving directions. They will also explore how to give directions politely and ensure they are easy to understand.

- Specific Competence(s): Give directions

3.0. Learning activities:

Learning Activity 1: Using appropriate language to ask for directions.

- Pair learners and introduce common phrases they can use when asking for directions.

Examples:

“Excuse me, how do I get to the bank?”

“Excuse” me, where is the nearest ATM or mobile money agent?”

“Excuse me, is there a market near here?”

- Explain that clear directions improve accessibility, prevent confusion, and save time, especially in emergencies.

Learning Activity 2: Using appropriate language to give directions

- Learners practise giving directions using appropriate language.

Example:

“Go straight ahead until you reach the bank.”

“Take the second turning on the right; the ATM is next to the supermarket.”

“Walk past the pharmacy, and you will see the mobile money agent on your left.”

- Learners take turns asking and giving directions using the dialogue below.

- Organise a role-play where learners work in pairs.

Dialogue: Asking for Directions to a Mobile Money Agent

Waana: Excuse me, sir. Could you help me? I'm looking for the nearest mobile money agent.

Stranger: Sure! Which mobile money service are you looking for?

Waana: I'm looking for an MTN mobile money agent.

Stranger: Oh, that's easy. Walk straight down this road for about 200 meters, then turn left at the supermarket. You'll see a small shop with an MTN sign. The agent is right there.

Waana: Thank you! Is it far from here?

Stranger: No, it's just a five-minute walk.

Waana: Great! I really appreciate your help.

Stranger: You're welcome! Have a good day.

Waana: You too!

- Peer assessment: allow partners to give feedback on pronunciation and clarity.

Project/Homework:

- Assign a project-based task where learners create a simple map of their town or community and indicate any key financial institutions, mobile money agents, shops, and markets.
- Learners to give an oral presentation on the map by describing how to get to a bank, ATM, shop, or mobile money agent using proper language.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Worksheets
- Maps
- Flashcards
- Charts

4. Expected Standard: Directions given appropriately

Assessment:

- Observe learners as they use appropriate language when asking for and giving directions.

- Learners should interpret maps correctly and give directions accurately.

Summary.

- Reinforce key phrases for asking for directions.
- Emphasise key phrases for giving directions.
- Giving clear and accurate directions is an important communication skill whether one is helping someone find a location or navigating a new place.
- Encourage learners to use accurate phrases when giving directions in everyday life.

TOPIC: COMPREHENSION

1. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Comprehension is an active process of understanding spoken or written information. It is important for real-life tasks, like following instructions, having conversations, and interpreting information. This topic focuses on building basic comprehension skills, especially listening. Learners will practice listening to passages, identifying main ideas, and joining discussions to improve their understanding.
- General Competence(s):
 - Collaboration:
 - Respect the views of group members while working together.
 - Listen to other group members and make meaningful contribution to a given task.
 - Communication:
 - Apply good Listening and Speaking Skills
 - Analytical Thinking:
 - Grasp and break down information and effectively share with others.
- Hook: Imagine trying to follow instructions in an emergency and misunderstanding them.

KEY TERMS / WORDS / VOCABULARY

- Comprehension: The ability to understand and interpret spoken or written language.
- Listening: Actively paying attention to sounds and making sense of them.
- Retelling: Recounting a story or passage in one's own words.
- Main Idea: The central point or message in a passage.
- Supporting Details: Facts or examples that explain or reinforce the main idea.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: LISTENING COMPREHENSION

- INTRODUCTION:

Listening comprehension refers to the ability to understand spoken language. It plays a crucial role in academic settings and daily communication. Through listening comprehension, learners build vocabulary, develop critical thinking, listening skills and gain knowledge. It enhances the capacity to follow instructions, engage in discussions, and respond appropriately to spoken information.

- Specific Competence(s): Listen and comprehend information.

3.0. Learning activities:

Activity 1: Listening to a read passage or information

- Explain to learners that listening requires concentration and the ability to filter main ideas from supporting details.
- Read a story or informational passage.
- Tell learners to listen without writing.
- Tell learners to focus on the speaker, maintain silence, and mentally note key ideas.

Model Passage

“Kalulu and Suntwe: The Wisdom of the Calabash Bank”

Long ago, in a quiet village nestled near the great Zambezi River, lived two friends: Kalulu and Suntwe. Kalulu was quick, clever, and full of charm, but he had a weakness—he loved spending money the moment he earned it. Suntwe, on the other hand, was slow but wise in thought. He believed in planning for the future.

One hot afternoon, the two friends sat under the shade of a baobab tree, drinking sweet baobab juice and chatting.

Kalulu: Tapping his pouch "Ahhh, Suntwe, today I sold vegetables at the market. Look how full my pouch is! Let's go to the village feast and spend it all!"

Suntwe: Chuckling softly "You've only just earned that money, Kalulu. Don't you think you should save some of it?"

Kalulu: Waving his paw "Save? For what? The feast is today, not tomorrow!"

Suntwe: "Ah, my brother, what if it rains tomorrow and the river floods? What if you fall sick or need to fix your roof? Money is like millet—you save it during the harvest or you'll starve in the dry season."

But Kalulu was not one to listen. He skipped away happily, his pouch jingling, while Suntwe slowly walked back to his hut, carrying a large calabash with a tiny hole at the top. He called it his "Calabash Bank."

Weeks passed. Kalulu spent freely at every dance, every feast, and every drumming night. He bought new sandals, fancy gourds, and roasted maize on every corner.

Then one season, the rains came too early and the fields were washed away. The market was quiet. No one was buying vegetables, anymore.

Kalulu: Hungry and worried "Suntwe, my friend... do you have anything to eat? My pouch is empty."

Suntwe: Opening his hut door slowly "Come in, Kalulu. I have something for us."

Inside, Kalulu saw Suntwe's calabash, now heavy and full. Suntwe broke it open and inside were money, groundnuts, and dried fish—everything a wise animal needed to survive the rainy season.

Kalulu: Ashamed "You were right, Suntwe. I danced while the drums were beating, but I forgot the drums can stop. Will you teach me how to use the Calabash Bank?"

Suntwe: Smiling "Of course, my friend. It is never too late to learn the importance of saving."

From that day on, Kalulu learned to keep half of his earnings in a little calabash, and though he still danced at the feast, he always had something left when the music stopped.

3.0. Learning activities:

Activity 2: Discussing the passage

- Put learners in small groups and ask them to retell the story and discuss the main subject.
 - Learners to reconstruct the passage using their own words, identify the main idea and supporting points. A few selected groups to present to the rest of the class.
 - Emphasise to learners that retelling helps reinforce memory and checking for understanding.

Activity 3: Completing given table while passage is being read.

- Give learners a table and ask them to fill it in during the second reading of the passage.
- Learners are expected to extract specific details and organise them logically.

Table

Character	Action/Belief
Kalulu	Kalulu loved to _____ money as soon as he _____ it.
	He went to every _____ and spent freely.
Hyena	Hyena _____ his money in a _____ bank.
	He believed money is like _____—you save it during harvest.

Activity 4: Answering questions based on the read passage or information

- After reading, learners will respond to both open and closed questions.
- Learners are expected to demonstrate understanding by recalling facts, making inferences, and expressing opinions.

Comprehension Questions:

1. Where was the village in the story located?
2. What was Kalulu's main weakness?
3. What natural disaster affected the village?
4. Why couldn't Kalulu buy food during the rainy season?
5. What lesson did Kalulu learn from Suntwe by the end of the story?
6. In your opinion, why is it important to save money even when you have plenty?

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Model story

- Pre-recorded story

4.0. Expected Standard: Information listened to and comprehended correctly.

Assessment:

- Observe maximum participation in the activities.
- Learners should demonstrate understanding of each learning activity through the activities conducted.
- Learners to fill in a table while the passage is being read.
- Learners to answer comprehension questions based on the given passage.

Summary:

- Comprehension is understanding spoken or written language.
- It is important for daily life and academic success.
- Listening comprehension involves paying attention, understanding, and recalling spoken information.
- Saving information from listening helps in real-life problem-solving and communication.

COMPOSITION

TOPIC: DESCRIPTIVE WRITING

1. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Descriptive writing is an essential skill in both personal and professional contexts, as it allows individuals to vividly convey experiences, emotions, and observations to others. In real life, effective descriptive writing helps people communicate more clearly and persuasively, whether it is in creative writing, business reports, or everyday conversations. Descriptive writing plays a vital role in real-life situations as it enhances the ability to communicate effectively and vividly. There is a description of a person, an animal or an object.

This topic will look at a description of an object.

- General Competences:
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
 - Emotional Intelligence:
 - Communicate and relate effectively with others
 - Creativity and innovation:
 - Organise information and ideas
 - Critical thinking
 - Ensure opinions are based on facts
- Hook: How would you describe a K100 note to a friend from a foreign country?

KEY TERMS / WORDS / VOCABULARY

- Description: A detailed explanation of how something looks, feels, or functions, using specific words to create a clear image.
- Vivid: Clear, strong, and detailed, making descriptions more engaging and easier to imagine.
- Sensory: Related to the five senses (sight, sound, smell, taste, and touch) used to create rich descriptions.
- Object: A physical thing that can be seen and touched, often described by its shape, size, colour, and texture.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: DESCRIBING AN OBJECT

- INTRODUCTION

Describing an object involves using words to give a clear and detailed picture of its appearance, texture, size, shape, colour, and other features. It helps the reader or listener understand what the object looks like, feels like, or even how it is used. Good descriptions use sensory details, such as how the object feels to the touch, how it smells, or the sounds it makes. In this topic, learners will learn how to describe objects clearly and effectively by using adjectives, comparisons, and specific details. They will practice observing objects closely and choosing the right words to make their descriptions more vivid. Learners will write or speak about objects in a way that helps others imagine them easily.

- Specific Competence(s): Write a description of an object
- 3.0. Learning activities:

Activity 1: Reading model descriptive compositions on objects.

- Divide learners into groups and provide them with a descriptive passage to read. Alternatively, read the description to the class.

The Banking System and the Importance of Saving Money

A bank is a place where people trust their money to be kept safe and secure. As you walk inside, the cool, refreshing air greets you, and the atmosphere is calm and organised. The floors gleam under the bright fluorescent lights, reflecting the polished surfaces of the counters and walls. The scent of freshly cleaned tiles fills the space, and the sound of hushed conversations blends with the soft clicking of keyboards and the occasional ringing of a phone. People stand in organised queues, each waiting for their turn at one of the counters. Some are depositing their hard-earned money into their accounts, while others are withdrawing cash for their daily needs.

Behind the high, polished counters, the bank workers sit professionally, offering help with efficiency and a friendly smile. They process transactions quickly, their fingers gliding over the keyboards as they assist customers with their money matters. The rows of ATM machines in the far corner provide another way for people to access their funds. These machines, with their bright screens and easy-to-follow instructions, allow customers to withdraw money at any time, without waiting in line. On the walls, digital screens flash useful information, offering advice on saving money and how it can grow over time through the magic of interest. The bright, clear graphics highlight the importance of saving and investing for a secure future. Banks play an essential role in helping people safeguard their money, ensuring it stays protected from theft or loss.

Saving money is a crucial step in preparing for the future. When people consistently save, they can use the funds for important things, like paying for education, handling emergencies, or even starting their own business. Banks support this by adding a small amount to their savings over time, a process known as earning interest. This growing balance helps people live with greater peace of mind, knowing they have the financial means to face unexpected challenges. In this way, banks play a vital role in building a secure financial future for their customers.

- Explain to learners that descriptive writing uses sensory details, adjectives, and clear structure. These should be pointed out to the learners as they read the text.

Activity 2: Discussing features of a descriptive composition.

- In groups, learners discuss essential elements of descriptive writing in the text (physical appearance, size, colour, location, function)
- Learners identify descriptive features in the model text and discuss their effectiveness.
- Group leaders to present at least ten descriptive words used in the text.

Activity 3: Using appropriate descriptive language.

- Learners practise using nouns, adjectives, adverbs, and sensory words to describe at least three objects of their choice.

Example:

- i. Red pen.
- ii. Clean/dirty floor.
- iii. Big bag, etc.

- In groups, learners complete a guided exercise in which they add simple descriptions using more vivid language. E.g. adjectives ...

Example:

Early in the morning, the market was already _____ with activity. Vendors arranged their _____ fruits and vegetables neatly on wooden tables. A _____ woman bargained with a seller over the price of tomatoes, while a _____ boy rushed past carrying a basket of fish.

Activity 4: Writing short descriptive compositions of objects (e.g. mobile money booth, ATM, bakery).

- Individually, learners complete a short guided descriptive composition.

Example:

In our office, we use a _____ (size/type) cash box to keep money safe during the day. It is a _____ (type) metal box with a strong lock and a _____ (quality) handle for carrying. The box is painted in a _____ (colour) colour, which makes it easy to spot. Even though it is a bit _____ (condition) from daily use, it is still reliable. Its _____ (design/type) layout includes separate compartments for different kinds of cash. The cash box is usually kept in a _____ (location) place during working hours. When I open it, I feel a _____ (taste/feeling) sense of control over our finances. It gives me a _____ (quality) impression of how organised we are. Every Friday, we clean it with a _____ (type/quality) cloth to keep it looking professional.

- Peer review and teacher feedback on descriptive clarity, vocabulary use, and coherence should be given.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Model descriptive text
- Visual objects such as a money, cell phone, ATM card, mobile money booth

- Chart showing descriptive words.

2. Expected Standard: Description of an object written correctly.

Assessment:

- Observe that every learner is able to identify descriptive words in texts.
- Learners to describe objects.

Summary

- Descriptive writing uses sensory details to create vivid mental images.
- Important features include structure (introduction, body, and conclusion) and precise vocabulary.
- Practicing descriptive writing improves communication skills in everyday interactions.

STRUCTURE

TOPIC: CONTRAST

1. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Contrast is an important concept in the English language that helps express differences between ideas, events, or situations. In writing and speaking, contrast allows for clearer communication by highlighting opposing thoughts. Understanding contrast helps one improve their sentence structure, express their thoughts more effectively, and engage in meaningful conversations. This topic will guide learners in using contrast correctly in both written and spoken English.
- General Competences:
 - Communication
 - Use appropriate language (verbal and non-verbal) in different situations.
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
 - Creativity and Innovation:
 - Organise information and ideas effectively.

- Critical thinking

- Become more open minded towards different views
- Hook: How would you describe a situation where one thing is similar but different from another?

KEY TERMS / WORDS / VOCABULARY:

- Contrast – A difference between two ideas.
- Conjunction – A word that connects sentences, other words or clauses
- Main Clause – A group of words that can stand on its own.
- Dependent Clause – A group of words that cannot stand on its own.
- Punctuation Mark – Symbols used in writing to clarify meaning and indicate pauses.
- Opposing Ideas – Two statements that contradict each other.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: Using 'But' and 'Yet' to Show Contrast in Sentences

• INTRODUCTION:

'But' and 'Yet' are conjunctions that are used to combine two contrasting ideas in a sentence. Both conjunctions show contrast, but 'yet' often carries a stronger sense of expectation or surprise. Learners will understand how these conjunctions connect two opposing ideas, enhancing their writing and communication skills. This topic is important in real-life situations as contrast is commonly used in conversations, academic writing, and decision-making processes. By mastering this skill, learners can express themselves more clearly and effectively.

• Specific Competences:

- Use 'but' and 'yet' to show contrast in sentences.

3.0. Learning activities:

Activity 1: Discussing the use of 'but' and 'yet' in sentences

- Introduce 'but' and 'yet' with examples and discuss their usage in sentences.

- a. 'But' introduces an unexpected or opposite idea.

Example:

Mutinta is smart but she doesn't spend her money wisely."

- b. 'Yet' is similar to 'but' but can imply a stronger contrast or a surprising twist.

Example:

"He had all the money needed, yet he failed to buy school supplies."

- Display sentence strips and charts with more example sentences.
- Learners examine given sentences and identify the role of 'but' and 'yet' in connecting contrasting ideas.

Activity 2. Identifying the main clause and the clause showing contrast in sentences

- Write at least five sentences, or display a chart, containing 'but' and 'yet' and highlight the main clause and contrasting clause.

Example: He made a lot of money, yet he failed to save any of it.

Main clause: He made a lot of money.

Contrast clause: yet he failed to save any of it.

- In groups, learners will break down sentences into main and contrasting clauses and discuss their meanings. Group leaders to present to the rest of the class.
- Explain that:
 - i. A main clause has a complete thought (e.g., "He trained every day").
 - ii. A contrast clause introduces an unexpected idea (e.g., "but he lost the race.").

Activity 3. Punctuating sentences containing 'but' or 'yet'.

- Explain comma placement before 'but' and 'yet' and provide incorrect and correct sentence examples.
 - i. 'But' usually doesn't need a comma unless joining two independent clauses.
 - ii. 'Yet' often has a comma before it in formal writing.

Example: She wanted to purchase a new dress, yet she needed the money to buy books.

- iii. If the sentence has two complete thoughts, use a comma before ‘yet’
- In their groups learners correct punctuations to given sentences and present to rest of the class.

Example:

- a. He wanted to save money but he kept spending it on unnecessary things.
- b. She earns a good salary but she does not have a budget to manage her expenses.
- c. They invested in a business yet they did not make a profit in the first year.
- d. He planned to open a savings account yet he never visited the bank to do so.

Activity 4. Constructing sentences using ‘but’ and ‘yet’

- Learners construct sentences using ‘but’ and ‘yet’ (encourage variety in sentence structures).

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Worksheets with sentences expressing contrast
- Table showing main clauses and dependent clauses
- Chart

2. Expected Standard: ‘but’ and ‘yet’ to show contrast in sentences used correctly.

Assessment

- Learners construct sentences using ‘but’ and ‘yet’ correctly.
- Learners correctly punctuate sentences with contrast conjunctions.
- Learners explain why ‘but’ or ‘yet’ is used in a given sentence.
- Class Project: As an after-class activity, learners select ten best written sentences, write them on the chart and display on the classroom wall.

Summary

- ‘But’ and ‘yet’ are used to show contrast between two ideas in a sentence.
- A comma is usually placed before ‘yet.’
- ‘Yet’ often carries a stronger sense of contrast than ‘but.’
- Identifying the main clause and the contrast clause helps in constructing correct sentences.
- Effective use of contrast makes communication clearer and more engaging.

SUMMARY WRITING

TOPIC: SHORT MESSAGES

1. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Short messages are a quick and effective way to communicate important information in everyday life. Whether sending reminders, invitations, or urgent updates, short messages must be clear and to the point. In this topic, learners will appreciate the purpose of short messages and how to write them effectively using simple, concise language. They will also learn to use abbreviations, symbols, and proper formatting to make messages easier to read. By practicing different types of short messages for real-life situations, learners will develop skills to communicate clearly and efficiently.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
 - Express oneself using different media and symbols.
 - Critical Thinking:
 - Analyse texts to improve the ability to understand.
- Hook: Imagine you have only three words to send a congratulatory message to your best friend or family member. What words would you choose to make sure your message is clear and meaningful?

KEY TERMS / WORDS / VOCABULARY:

- Short Message System (SMS): A text messaging service that allows people to send and receive short text messages on mobile devices.
- Abbreviations: Shortened forms of words or phrases used to save space in SMS.
- Acronyms: A type of abbreviation formed from the initial letters of words, often pronounced as a single word.
- Symbols: Special characters or pictograms used to represent words or emotions in short messages.
- Concise: Expressing ideas in a clear and brief way, avoiding unnecessary words.
- Clarity: The quality of being easy to understand, ensuring that the message is not confusing.
- Recipient: The person who receives the SMS message.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: SHORT MESSAGE SYSTEM (SMS)

• INTRODUCTION

SMS is a text messaging service that allows people to send and receive short text messages on mobile devices. The key to writing an effective SMS is keeping it short while ensuring clarity. This topic introduces learners to short messages, focusing on Short Message System (SMS). It covers the importance of concise communication, key elements of SMS, and how to compose effective short messages. The ability to write clear and effective short messages is crucial in daily life, including business communication, emergency alerts, and social interactions.

- Specific Competence: Use Short Message System (SMS) in summary.

3.0. Learning activities:

Activity 1. Discussing Short Message System (SMS).

- In pairs/groups, learners analyse different SMS samples displayed on a chart (or written on the chalkboard) and identify their key features.

Examples:

- i. LOL – Laugh out loud
- ii. OMG - Oh my God
- iii. BRB - Be Right Back
- iv. TY - Thank You
- v. IDK - I Don't Know
- vi. TMI - Too Much Information
- vii. CU - See You
- viii. NVM - Never Mind
- ix. YOLO - You Only Live Once
- x. SMH - Shaking My Head
- xi. TBH - To Be Honest
- xii. FOMO - Fear Of Missing Out

Note: Sometimes emojis are also used to convey meaning.

- Explain that SMS:
 - i. usually has limited characters.
 - ii. should be concise and clear.
 - iii. should use appropriate language, depending on the recipient.
(formal and informal)
- Learners provide common abbreviations and symbols that are used to shorten messages (e.g., 'U' for 'you', 'BRB' for 'be right back'). Group representatives present to the rest of the class.

Activity 2. Composing SMSs

- Provide learners with mobile phones or design phone interfaces on plain papers. Learners practise writing SMS messages for different situations, such as advising a friend to start a small business, reporting corruption, or confirming a meeting.
- Learners write at least three SMS messages using abbreviations, symbols, and clear language.

Example:

‘HT had a mtg meeting with tchrs @ sch 2day.’

- Provide content tips:
 - i. Use key information only (Who, What, Where, When, Why).
 - ii. Apply abbreviations appropriately (e.g., thx for thanks).
 - iii. Ensure the message remains understandable despite being short.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Cell phones
- Flip charts
- Plain paper

2. Expected Standard: Short Message System in summary used correctly.

Assessment

- Learners compose clear and concise SMS messages.
- Learners use abbreviations and symbols appropriately.
- Learners differentiate between formal and informal SMS writing.
- Group Project/Homework: Learners to create a collection of SMS messages for various real-life situations. These should be displayed on a chart in the classroom. Learners should be encouraged to add new SMS shortcuts every time they discover any.

SUMMARY

- SMS is a Short Message System used for quick communication.
- Effective SMS writing requires conciseness, clarity, and appropriate abbreviations.
- SMS has character limit which requires selecting key information carefully.
- SMS is used in various real-life contexts, including personal, business, and emergency communication.
- Proper use of abbreviations and symbols ensures clarity in messaging.

- Care should be taken in the use of SMSs to avoid misunderstanding information.

CHAPTER 2: SPECIAL AND INCLUSIVE EDUCATION

TOPIC: FIGURATIVE LANGUAGE

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Figurative language refers to the use of words in a way that deviates from the conventional order and meaning in order to convey a hidden meaning. These include similes, metaphors, hyperbole, personification, idioms, proverbs and many more. This topic, shall look at proverbs.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication
 - Use appropriate language (verbal and non-verbal) in different situations.
- Hook: What do you call the sayings that elderly people use when admonishing, advising, giving caution, consoling, or teaching life lessons?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Proverb: A proverb is a simple, traditional saying that expresses a perceived truth based on common sense or experience.
- Metaphor: an implied comparison where you compare without using the word ‘as’ or ‘like’.

- Metaphorical: Something that uses a metaphor to convey a meaning or idea.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: PROVERBS

• INTRODUCTION

Proverbs are well known sayings that offer guidance or advice while they also declare a well-acknowledged fact or universal truth. Proverbs are often metaphorical and are an example of formulaic language. They are a collection of generations of wisdom and applies to life on earth.

- Specific Competence: Use proverbs in various social contexts

3.0. Learning Activities

Activity 1: Discussing proverbs

- Put Learners into small groups and ask them to do the following:
 - a. Discuss proverbs
 - b. Interpret their meanings
 - c. State the situations in which proverbs are applied.

Example: Honesty is the best policy

Meaning: It is always best to tell the truth, even if it is difficult.

Application: Use it when advising someone struggling with telling the truth.

- iv. Group representatives to present their work and teacher to give guidance during the discussion and explain further what proverbs are.
- v. Proverbs are wise sayings that convey valuable lessons and insights.

Activity 2: Identifying situations when to use proverbs

- vi. Group learners and assign them proverbs to interpret and identify situations when to use them
- vii. Monitor learners and give guidance that proverbs can be used in many contexts and their meanings and applications can vary depending on the culture and language in which they are used.

Examples:

1. When offering advice or guidance to someone, proverbs can be used to convey a message in a concise and memorable way.

Example: Don't count your chickens before they hatch.

Meaning: Don't assume something will happen until it's confirmed.

2. Proverbs can be used to encourage and motivate someone to take action or persevere through challenges.

Example: When the going gets tough, the tough get going.

Meaning: When faced with difficulties, strong people will work harder to overcome them.

3. Proverbs can be used to warn someone of potential dangers or consequences.

Example: Beware of the wolf in sheep's clothing.

Meaning: Be cautious of people who appear friendly, but may have ulterior motives.

4. Proverbs can be used to teach children and adults alike valuable life lessons and morals.

Example: Winners never quit and quitters never win.

Meaning: Success comes to those who persist and never give up, while those who give up too easily never achieve victory.

5. Proverbs can be used to offer comfort and consolation to someone who is experiencing difficulties or hardships.

Example: Time heals all wounds.

Meaning: With time, the pain and sadness will lessen.

6. Proverbs can be used to celebrate someone's successes or achievements.

Example: The fruit of your labour is sweet.

Meaning: The rewards of your hard work are enjoyable and satisfying.

7. Proverbs can be used to describe a situation or circumstance in a vivid and memorable way.

Example: It's raining cats and dogs.

Meaning: It's raining very heavily.

8. Proverbs can be used to add humour or wit to a conversation or situation.

Example: "Don't cry over spilled milk."

Meaning: Don't waste time feeling sorry for something that's already happened and can't be changed.

Activity 3: Interpreting and using a variety of proverbs

- Group learners and ask them to interpret given proverbs:

1. A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.

Meaning: It is better to appreciate what you already have than to take a risk to get something more.

Interpretation: This proverb encourages people to be content with what they have and not to gamble with uncertain outcomes.

2. Actions speak louder than words.

Meaning: What you do is more important than what you say.

Interpretation: This proverb highlights the importance of taking action and following through on your commitments, rather than just talking about them.

1. All's fair in love and war.

Meaning: In situations where emotions are high or the stakes are great, normal rules and conventions may not apply.

Interpretation: This proverb suggests that in extreme circumstances, people may do things they wouldn't normally do, and that's just the way it is.

2. An apple a day keeps the doctor away.

Meaning: Eating healthy foods can help prevent illnesses.

Interpretation: This proverb encourages people to take care of their physical health by making healthy choices, like eating nutritious food.

3. Blood is thicker than water.

Meaning: Family ties are stronger than any other relationship.

Interpretation: This proverb highlights the importance of family bonds and suggests that they should take priority over other relationships.

4. Give someone an inch and they'll take a mile.

Meaning: If you give someone a small amount of freedom or power, they'll likely take advantage of it and try to take more.

Interpretation: This proverb warns people against being too generous or permissive, as it can lead to exploitation.

5. Practice what you preach.

Meaning: You should do what you advise others to do.

Interpretation: This proverb encourages people not to be hypocritical and to live by the principles they claim to believe in.

6. Rome was not built in a day.

Meaning: Big things take time to accomplish.

Interpretation: This proverb encourages people to be patient and to recognise that achieving great things requires time, effort, and perseverance.

7. The grass is always greener on the other side.

Meaning: People often think someone else's situation is better than their own, but it is not always true.

Interpretation: This proverb warns people against comparing themselves to others and encourages them to appreciate what they have.

8. "When in Rome, do as the Romans do."

Meaning: When you are in a different place or culture, you should try to fit in and do things the way the locals do.

Interpretation: This proverb encourages people to be respectful of different cultures and customs, and to adapt to new situations.

Activity 4: Researching on proverbs used in the local community

- Ask learners to research on proverbs used in the local community, providing interpretations and situations when to use them.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Worksheets/Texts with proverbs
- Audios

3. Expected Standard: Proverbs in various social contexts used appropriately.

Assessment

- Pair learners and provide them with proverbs to interpret.
- Give learners situations and ask them to supply proverbs that could be used.

Summary

- Proverbs are well known sayings that offer guidance or advice.
- They also declare a well-acknowledged fact or universal truth.
- Proverbs are often metaphorical.
- They are a collection of generations of wisdom and applies to life on Earth.
- Different proverbs are used in different real-life situations.

COMPREHENSION

TOPIC: COMPREHENSION

1.0.INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Comprehension is a process of active engagement that leads to accurate understanding and interpretation of what is heard or read. The importance of comprehension lies in its application to real-life situations such as understanding instructions, engaging in conversations, and interpreting information. Learners will read passages, extract main ideas, and engage in discussions to enhance their understanding. This topic exposes learners to the basic skills of comprehension, focusing on reading comprehension.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Apply good reading skills.
 - Critical thinking:
 - Analyse texts to improve the ability to understand
- Hook: Is it possible for one to have knowledge of anything if they have no ability to understand it?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Intensive reading: a kind of reading which involves carefully analysing and understanding a text in detail.
- Comprehension: The ability to understand and grasp meaning of spoken or written texts.
- Skimming: Reading something quickly so as to note only the important points.
- Scanning: Reading a text quickly in order to find specific information.
- Retelling: To tell again or in another form.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: Reading Comprehension (Intensive reading)

- Introduction: The ability to read with understanding allows a learner to understand other subjects in school. Learners need to develop skills in reading at a good speed, answering questions, recalling details and understanding meaning of unfamiliar words. This lesson gives an opportunity for the learner to practise and develop intensive reading skills.
- Specific Competence: Read and comprehend information

3.0. Learning Activities

Activity 1: Intensive reading and comprehending various pieces of information or texts.

- Ask learners to Skim through the passage to get the general idea
- Ask learners to read the passage
- Time learners to ensure that they read at a speed of 200 words per minute.
- Guide learners to avoid bad reading habits

Passage

1. Inclusive education is an approach that values diversity and promotes the participation of all learners, regardless of their abilities or disabilities. It involves creating a learning environment that is welcoming, supportive, and challenging for all learners. Inclusive education recognises that every learner has unique needs, interests, and learning styles, and seeks to provide opportunities for all learners to reach their full potential.

2. One of the key principles of inclusive education is the concept of Universal Design for Learning (UDL). UDL involves designing learning experiences that are accessible and engaging for all learners, regardless of their abilities or disabilities. This can involve using multimedia materials, providing choices and options, and incorporating assistive technology.
3. Inclusive education also requires teachers to be flexible and adaptable in their teaching practices. This can involve differentiating instruction to meet the diverse needs of learners, using assistive technology to support learners with disabilities, and providing opportunities for learners to take ownership of their learning.

Teaching Points:

- Divide the learners into groups and ask them to discuss the passage.
- Groups retell the details of the passage.
- Let Learners scan the passage and identify unfamiliar words. Inferences should be drawn from the text
- Inclusive – welcoming all students, regardless of their abilities.
- Approach – a way or method of doing something.
- Diversity – variety; differences among people.
- Participation – involvement in an activity.
- Abilities – skills or talents.
- Disabilities – physical or mental conditions that limit activities.
- Environment – the surrounding conditions where learning takes place.
- Supportive – giving help or encouragement.
- Challenging – difficult in a way that tests ability.
- Unique – one of a kind; different from others.
- Learning styles – different ways people learn best.
- Potential – the ability to develop or succeed.

- Universal Design for Learning (UDL) – an educational framework to improve learning for all.
- Accessible – easy to use or reach for everyone.
- Engaging – interesting and able to keep attention.
- Multimedia – content using more than one form of media, like text, video, and sound.
- Ask Learners to answer factual and inference questions given.

Questions:

1. What is the main goal of inclusive education?

- A. To separate learners with disabilities from other students
- B. To provide opportunities for all learners to reach their full potential
- C. To focus only on academic achievement
- D. To ignore the diverse needs of learners

2. What is Universal Design for Learning (UDL)?

- A. A teaching method that focuses only on learners with disabilities
- B. A learning environment that is welcoming and supportive for all learners
- C. A design approach that involves creating learning experiences accessible and engaging for all learners
- D. A technology that helps learners with disabilities

3. What are some ways that teachers can create a welcoming and supportive learning environment for learners with diverse needs?

4. How can assistive technology be used to support learners with disabilities in the classroom?

5. What are some benefits of inclusive education for learners with and without disabilities?

6. Describe a situation where a teacher might need to differentiate instruction to meet the diverse needs of learners. What strategies might the teacher use to differentiate instruction?

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Passages
- Worksheet with vocabulary on passage

4.0.Expected Standard: Information read and comprehended correctly.

ASSESSMENT

- Provide a comprehension passage and ask learners to answer the questions that follow.
- Observe learners' participation in discussions.
- Check their ability to locate answers in the passage.
- Assess group work and engagement.

SUMMARY

- Intensive reading involves the detailed reading of texts.
- The two goals are to understand the text and learn language features through a deliberate focus on these items.

COMPOSITION

TOPIC: PERSUASIVE WRITING

1.0. INTRODUCTION

Overview: Persuasive writing is a form of writing where the writer attempts to convince or persuade the audience to adopt a particular point of view or take a specific action by presenting logical reasoning, supporting evidence, and compelling arguments. It has the goal of influencing the reader to adopt a certain opinion, ideas or complete an action.

This topic will look at an argumentative composition.

- General Competence(s):

- Communication:

- Effectively share one's thoughts and emotions and understand others.

- Hook: What does it take to win an argument?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

Persuade: To induce someone to do something through reasoning or argument.

Agree: To have the same opinion about something.

Disagree: To have or express a different opinion.

Controversial: Giving rise or likely to give rise to controversy or public disagreement; relating to or causing much discussion, disagreement, or argument.

Metaphor: is a figure of speech in which a word or phrase literally denoting one kind of object or idea is used in place of another to suggest likeness or analogy between them.

Analogy: is a comparison between one thing and another, typically for the purpose of explanation or clarification.

Repetition: is a literary device that involves using the same word or phrase over and over again in a piece of writing to emphasise a point or create a specific effect.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: An Argumentative Composition

INTRODUCTION

Argumentative composition is a type of writing that aims to persuade or convince the reader to adopt a particular point of view, take a specific action, or accept a certain claim. It involves presenting a claim or position, supporting it with evidence and reasoning, and addressing potential counterarguments.

3.0. Learning Activities

Activity 1: Discussing features of an argumentative composition

- Distribute a passage to learners and ask them to read it.

Example:

The Inclusion Revolution: Why Special Education Belongs in the Mainstream Classroom

For decades, learners with disabilities have been segregated from their non-disabled peers, relegated to special education classrooms that often lack the resources and support necessary for academic success. However, this approach is not only ineffective but also unjust. It is time to revolutionise the way we approach special education, embracing inclusive education as the norm.

One of the primary arguments against inclusive education is that it would be too difficult for learners with disabilities to keep up with their non-disabled peers. However, this assumption is rooted in a flawed understanding of disability and intelligence. Learners with disabilities are not inherently less capable than their non-disabled peers; they simply require different accommodations and support. By providing these accommodations and support in the mainstream classroom, we can ensure that learners with disabilities have equal access to education.

Another argument against inclusive education is that it would be too costly and logistically challenging to implement. However, this argument ignores the long-term benefits of inclusive education. By educating learners with disabilities alongside their non-disabled peers, we can promote greater understanding, acceptance, and empathy. This, in turn, can lead to a more inclusive and equitable society, where individuals with disabilities are valued and respected.

Furthermore, inclusive education is not only a moral imperative but also a legal requirement. The Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act mandate that learners with disabilities have access to a free and appropriate public education (FAPE) in the least restrictive environment (LRE). Inclusive education is the most effective way to meet these requirements, providing learners with disabilities with the support and accommodations they need to succeed.

In conclusion, the time for inclusive education is now. By embracing this approach, we can promote greater understanding, acceptance, and empathy, while also ensuring that learners with disabilities have equal access to education. It is our moral, legal, and educational responsibility to make inclusive education a reality.

- Explain the key features of an argumentative composition with reference to the passage read.
- Introduction: Introduces the topic, provides background information, and states the claim.
- Main Body: Presents data, warrants, and backing to support the claim, addressing potential counterarguments. Acknowledge and respond to opposing views.
- Conclusion: Summarises the main points, reiterates the claim, and provides a final thought or call to action.

Tips for Writing an Effective Argumentative Composition:

- Choose a clear and focused topic.
- Conduct thorough research to gather evidence and data.
- Organise your ideas logically and clearly.
- Use persuasive language and rhetorical devices.
- Address potential counterarguments to strengthen your argument.

Activity 2: Using appropriate language to express opinion in writing by agreeing or disagreeing with controversial statements.

- Explain to the learners the kind of language to use when agreeing and disagreeing.

Expressing agreement	Expressing disagreement
I strongly agree with the statement because...	I respectfully disagree with the statement because...
In my opinion, the poor suffer more because they cannot afford to bribe officials.	While corruption is harmful, it affects everyone, not only the poor.
Indeed, corruption deprives the poor of basic services like health and education.	In some cases, the rich may lose more money through corrupt systems.
There is no doubt that corruption mostly affects the poor because...	I believe the effects of corruption are widespread and not limited to a single group.

Activity 3: Writing an argumentative composition

- Divide learners in groups and assign them tasks in which they shall argue for or against a given controversial statement.

Example: Inclusive education is the most effective way to support learners with disabilities.

Argue for or against this statement.

- Ask group representatives read the compositions to the class, after which a postmortem is done to check the use of appropriate features of argumentative composition writing taught.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Model persuasive composition
- Worksheets with expressions for argumentative

4.0. Expected Standard: An argumentative composition written appropriately.

Assessment

- Ask each group to write a composition using points gathered.
- Give homework for individual practice.

Summary

- Argumentative composition is a type of writing that aims to persuade or convince the reader to adopt a particular point of view or accept a certain claim.
- It presents a claim or position.
- The writer supports the argument with evidence and reasoning.
- Argumentative composition addresses potential counterarguments.

STRUCTURE

TOPIC: CONDITION

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Conditional sentences are an important aspect of language that enable us to express hypothetical or uncertain situations and their potential consequences. They also allow us to address the question ‘what if’, which makes them an important tool for critical thinking, problem solving and effective communication. Conditional sentences have two clauses that give a condition in the dependent clause and a result in the independent clause. The conditional clause usually contains an ‘if’ statement.

This topic, will look at the types of conditional sentences and the tense changes that apply in each of them.

- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
 - Creativity and innovation

- Understand connection between seemingly unrelated subject matter.
- Hook: What would you do if you won a million Kwacha?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Condition: A situation that must exist before something else is possible or permitted.
- Likely/probable: Something that is likely to happen or be true; indicating a higher degree of likelihood based on evidence or reasoning; having a good chance of happening or being something.
- Unlikely/improbable: Not likely to be true or to happen; an unlikely outcome; not to be reasonably expected.
- Impossible: Incapable of being or of occurring; cannot happen or be achieved.
- Main clause: the core part of the sentence that can stand alone.
- Conditional clause: part of the clause that describes a situation

2.0. SUB-TOPIC 1: Types of Condition

INTRODUCTION

Conditional sentences are sentences that express a condition and its corresponding consequences. It consists of two clauses; the if-clause (or condition) and the main clause (or consequence). There are several types of conditional sentences. This topic will focus on the likely or probable condition, unlikely or improbable condition and the impossible condition. These types of conditional sentences help us express different degrees of possibility, hypothetical situations, and consequences.

- Specific Competence: Use conditional sentences

3.0. Learning Activities

Activity 1: Distinguishing the types of conditional sentences

- Display a chart with three conditional sentences.
- Divide learners into groups and ask them to discuss the differences they note in given conditional sentences.

Examples:

1. If you work hard, you will be successful.
 2. If you worked hard, you would be successful.
 3. If you had worked hard, you would have been successful.
- Explain the three types of conditional sentences.

Type 1: Likely/ Probable Condition (Future Possibilities)

Used to describe future possibilities or predictions.

If + present simple, will + base verb

Example: If Jimaima asks Inonge, she will help him.

Or: Inonge will help Jimaima if he asks her.

This means that Jimaima is likely to ask Inonge to help him.

Type 2: Unlikely/Improbable Condition (Present or Future Hypotheticals)

Used to describe hypothetical or uncertain situations in the present or future.

If + past simple, would + base verb

Example: If Jimaima asked Inonge, she would help him.

Or: Inonge would help Jimaima if he asked her.

This means that it is unlikely, or improbable that Jimaima would ask Inonge to help him.

Type 3: Impossible Condition (Past Hypotheticals)

Used to describe hypothetical or uncertain situations in the past.

If + past perfect, would have + past participle

Example: If Jimaima had asked Inonge, she would have helped him.

Or: Inonge would have helped Jimaima if he had asked her.

This means that Jimaima did not ask Inonge for help.

- Divide learners into pairs/groups and ask them to construct two sentences for each type of condition.
- Ask group representatives to present their sentences to the class.

Exercise 1

Underline the conditional clause in each sentence:

1. If it stops raining, we will go to the park.

2. She wouldn't have failed the test if she had studied harder.
3. If you apologise, he will forgive you.
4. If the sun sets, we will light the candles.

Exercise 2

Fill in the blanks with an appropriate conditional clause:

1. If I _____ (have) a million dollars, I would travel the world.
2. I will call you if _____ (something, happen).
3. _____ (study) hard, and you will pass your exams.
4. If they _____ (arrive) late, we will start without them.

Exercise 3

Match the condition (A) with the appropriate result (B):

	If I were you,	You'll feel tired all day.
	If they practice every day,	they will win the competition.
	If it had rained last night,	I would apologise immediately.
	If you don't eat breakfast,	we would have planted maize today.

Exercise 4

Rewrite the following using the correct conditional type:

1. You don't help him, so he fails. (Type 3 conditional)
2. She joins the team, she becomes the best player. (Type 1 conditional)
3. I win the jackpot, I will buy a car. (Type 2 conditional)

Activity 2: Constructing sentences using the three types of conditions

- Ask learners to individually construct sentences using different types of conditional sentences.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Worksheets with conditional sentences
- Charts
- Flashcards
- Matching table

4.0. Expected Standard: Conditional sentences used appropriately.

Assessment

- Learners distinguish types of conditionals.
- Learners match the conditional clause with the appropriate main clause.

Summary

- There are three types of conditional sentences.
- They express a condition and its corresponding consequence.
- They consist of two clauses; the if-clause (or condition) and the main clause (or consequence).
- Conditional sentences help us express (meaning) different degrees of possibility, hypothetical situations, and consequences in real life.

2.1. SUB-TOPIC 2: Tense Changes in Conditional Clause and Main Clause.

• INTRODUCTION

Conditional sentences often involve tense changes that help convey the degree of possibility or hypothetical nature of the situation, and are essential in constructing conditional sentences that accurately express the intended meaning.

- Specific Competence: Use appropriate tenses in conditional sentences.

3.1.Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Distinguishing the tenses used in conditional sentences

- Explain the tense changes in conditional sentences:

Three types of conditional sentences

Type of condition	If clause	Main clause
Type 1	If + Present Simple	Future Simple

Likely or Probable	If Jimaima asks Inonge, If he comes,	She will help him. I will speak to him.
Type 2 Unlikely or Improbable	If + Past Simple If Jimaima asked Inonge, If he came ,	Would + Verb She would help him. I would speak to him.
Type 3 Impossible	If + Past Perfect If Jimaima had asked Inonge, If he had come ,	Would + Present Perfect She would have helped him. I would have spoken to him.

Activity 2: Constructing sentences using conditional tenses

- Divide learners into groups and ask them to construct sentences in the three conditional sentence types applying the tense changes that apply to each type.

Examples:

1. If Bwalya comes, we will play football.
2. If Bwalya came, we would play football.
3. If Bwalya had come, we would have played football.

- Invite group representatives to present the sentences to the class and discuss.

HOMEWORK

- Ask learners to individually construct the three types of conditional sentences and apply tense changes accordingly

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Table with tense changes in sentences
- Worksheets with conditional sentences
- Flashcards
- Charts

4. Expected Standard: Appropriate tenses in conditional sentences used correctly.

Assessment

- Learners distinguish types of conditionals.
- Learners construct conditional sentences with appropriate tenses.

SUMMARY

- Conditional sentences often involve tense changes that help convey the degree of possibility or hypothetical nature of the situation.
- These are essential in constructing conditional sentences that accurately express our intended meaning.
- First Conditional: If-clause: present simple → Main clause: future simple
- Second Conditional: If-clause: past simple → Main clause: would + base verb
- Third Conditional: If-clause: past perfect → Main clause: would + have + past participle

ADVERTISEMENTS

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: An advertisement is an announcement in a public medium promoting a product, service or event or publicising a job vacancy. Advertising aims to present a product or service in terms of utility, advantages and qualities of interest to the consumers. This topic will look at types of advertisements and their importance in real life.
- General Competence(s):
 - Creativity and Innovation
 - Organise information and ideas
- Hook: Why do some products sell more than others?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Announcement: A formal public statement about a fact, occurrence, or intention; a public statement that is usually formal and has a specific purpose.

- Medium: Communication tools used to store and deliver information or data; a system or channel through which a speaker or writer addresses their audience.
- Promoting: Encouraging people to like, buy, use, do, or support something; helping sell a product, service ... or make it more popular by advertising it or offering it at a special price.
- Publicising: To make widely known to the public.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: Types of Advertisements

• INTRODUCTION

Advertisements come in different forms. They can be print, broadcast, digital and experiential, each with unique methods and examples like radio and television commercials, social media advertisements, billboards, and email or short message system campaigns.

- Specific Competences: Write advertisements

3.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing advertisement

- Divide learners in groups and ask them to discuss and reproduce their favourite advertisements from radio or television.
- Invite group representatives to present the advertisements to the class.
- Provide a number of advertisements for groups to scrutinise the features:

Examples:

Advertisement 1: Inclusive Education Conference

Headline: "Join the Conversation: Inclusive Education for All"

Body: "Attend our conference to learn from experts and network with educators, parents, and professionals passionate about inclusive education. Register now!"

Advertisement 2: Autism-Friendly Resources

Headline: "Creating a More Autism-Friendly World"

Body: "Our organization provides resources, support, and education to help create a more autism-friendly community. Contact us to learn more!"

Advertisement 3: Special Needs Support Group

Headline: "You're Not Alone: Join Our Support Group"

Body: "Our support group provides a safe space for families and caregivers of individuals with special needs to connect, share, and support one another. Join us!"

- Invite group representatives to present the features observed from the advertisements.
- Explain the features of an advertisement.

Example:

- Share the name of the item being advertised.
- What is the product and what does it do?
- A clear and compelling message.
- Emotional appeal, use persuasive language that will appeal to the customer.
- A targeted approach.
- Creative visuals.
- A strong call to action.
- Consistency across platforms.
- Adhering to legal and ethical standards

Activity 2: Discussing the purpose for advertising

- Divide learners into groups and ask them to discuss the importance of advertising.
- Invite group representatives to present to the class the importance of advertising.
- Discuss the purpose of advertising with learners:

Examples:

- Boosts sales.

- Builds brand awareness.
- Introduces products.
- Helps retain customers.
- Announcing job vacancies
- Announcing an event
- Contributes to competitive advantage.
- Contributes to overall business success

Activity 3: Composing adverts in a given situation

- Divide learners into pairs/groups and ask them to compose adverts.
- Invite group representatives to present the composed adverts to the class
- Class to review each advert presented.

Examples:

Advertisement 1: Inclusive Pre-school

Learn, Play, Grow Together!

Our inclusive preschool welcomes children of all abilities! Our experienced teachers provide a nurturing environment that fosters social, emotional, and cognitive development. Contact us to schedule a tour!

Advertisement 2: Special Education Services

Empowering Students with Special Needs

Our team of special education professionals provides individualised support for students with autism, ADHD, and other learning differences. Contact us to learn more about our services!

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Sample adverts
- Newspapers/Magazines with adverts
- Worksheets showing adverts
- Charts with features of adverts
- Expected Standard: Advertisements written correctly.

Assessment

- Divide learners into groups and provide them situations for which they should compose advertisements.
- Give homework to learners to compose adverts in given contexts.

SUMMARY

- Advertisement is an announcement in a public medium promoting a product, service or event or publicising a job vacancy.
- Advertising aims to present a product or service in terms of utility, advantages and qualities of interest to the consumers.
- Adverts must have a clear and compelling message.

- Emotional appeal, use persuasive language that will appeal to the customer.

CHAPTER 3: ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH AND POLLUTION MANAGEMENT

TOPIC: FIGURATIVE LANGUAGE

1. INTRODUCTION:

- Overview: Figurative language refers to the use of words in a way that deviates from the conventional order and meaning in order to convey a hidden meaning. These include similes, metaphors, hyperbole, personification, idioms, proverbs and many more. This topic, shall look at riddles.
- General Competence (s):
 - Communication:
 - use appropriate language (verbal non-verbal) in different situations
 - Analytical thinking:
 - Grasp and breakdown information to effectively share with others.

- Critical thinking:
 - Solve complex problems
- Hook: What has a bed but does not sleep and has a mouth but does not eat?

KEY TERMS/ WORDS/ VOCABULARY:

- Riddle: A statement or question with a hidden meaning
- Interpret: explain or understand the meaning of something
- Inference: drawing conclusions based on cues and hints.
- Cue: a hint or piece of information that's helps solve a problem
- Pun: a play on words, often using repeated multiple sounds
- Double meaning: a word or phrase with multiple interpretation
- Word play: Using language in a playful way
- Deductive reasoning: Using logic to arrive at a solution/conclusion
- Literal language: exactly what it says
- Figurative language: uses metaphors, similes and symbolic expressions
- Brain teaser: a puzzle that challenges mental agility and logic.

2.0. SUBTOPIC: Riddles

• INTRODUCTION

Riddles are statements or phrases that require thought and contemplation to decipher their meaning, often using wordplay, puns, double meanings and other literary devices. They typically have a hidden answer or solution that is not immediately apparent. They are a fun and creative way to challenge your mind and test your problem-solving skills. This topic will focus on riddles and their usage in various social contexts.

- Specific competence(s): Use riddles in various social contexts

3.0. Learning activities:

Activity 1: Discussing riddles

- Explain riddles- questions, statements or short poems that are meant to be puzzling or tricky.

Examples of riddles with answers

4. I am as clear as glass but polluted everyday by human actions, in a most harmful way. What am I? Answer: water
5. I'm the result of fire activities, a gas so unkind, contributing to climate change, leaving all behind. What am I? Answer: carbon dioxide.
6. I am a necessary process but often done with neglect. Leaving behind waste, a toxic inspects. What am I? Answer: waste management
7. I'm a way to reduce waste, a practice so simple ad true. Helping to protect the environment for you and me. What am I? Answer: recycling
8. I'm a natural disaster, caused by human neglect, a consequence of pollution, a warring we must inspect. What am I? Answer: climate change
9. What has a key but never unlocks any door? Answer: Keyboard
10. What starts with an "E", ends with an "E" but only contains one letter? Answer: envelope.

- Divide learners into groups and ask them to discuss riddles they know.

Activity 2: Identifying situations when to use riddles.

- Ask learners to mention situations when to use riddles.
- Explain situations when to use riddles:
 - Educational settings
 - Entertainment
 - Social interactions
 - Cognitive development

Activity 3: Interpreting and using riddles

- Explain that riddles carry meaning, they should not be understood literally.
Example:
Question: What has an eye but cannot see?
Answer: a needle.
- Learners share their own riddles and interpret meaning.

Note: Some riddles may have several meanings or answers.

- Quiz: Divide learners into groups to interpret riddles.
- Learners to exchange riddles and solve them.

Activity 4: Researching on riddles used in local communities.

Project:

- Learners to collect riddles used in their communities.
- Learners create a collection of riddles with their meanings.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Worksheets with riddles
- Charts with riddles explained
- Flash cards with riddles

4.0. Expected standard: Riddles in various social contexts used correctly.

ASSESSMENT

- Provide guided practice by giving learners a riddle to provide meaning in pairs or small groups.
- Allow learners to share their riddles with the class.
- Assess participation by observing learners' engagement and involvement in the activity. (pair or group).
- Learners to conduct a project of collecting riddles common in their communities.
- Learners to interpret riddles.

SUMMARY

- Riddles are statements or phrases that require thought and contemplation to decipher their meaning, often using wordplay, puns, double meanings and other literary devices.
- They have a hidden answer or solution that is not immediately apparent.
- They are a fun and creative way to challenge the mind and test problem-solving skills.

TOPIC: READING COMPREHENSION

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Comprehension is a process of active engagement that leads to accurate understanding and interpretation of what is heard or read. The importance of comprehension lies in its application to real-life situations such as understanding instructions, engaging in conversations, and interpreting information. Learners will read passages, extract main ideas, and engage in discussions to enhance their understanding. This topic exposes learners to the basic skills of comprehension, focusing on reading comprehension.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Apply good reading skills.
 - Critical thinking:
 - Analyse texts to improve the ability to understand
- Hook: Imagine reading something and not understanding anything?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Intensive reading: a kind of reading which involves carefully analysing and understanding a text in detail.
- Comprehension: The ability to understand and grasp meaning of spoken or written texts.
- Skimming: Reading something quickly so as to note only the important points.
- Scanning: Reading a text quickly in order to find specific information.
- Retelling: To tell again or in another form.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: Reading Comprehension (Intensive reading)

- Introduction: The ability to read with understanding allows a learner to understand other subjects in school. Learners need to develop skills in reading at a good speed, answering questions, recalling details and understanding meaning of unfamiliar words.

This lesson gives an opportunity for the learner to practise and develop intensive reading skills.

- Specific Competence: Read and comprehend information

4.0. Learning Activities

Activity 1: Intensive reading and comprehending various pieces of information or texts.

- Ask learners to Skim through the passage to get the general idea
- Ask learners to read the passage
- Time learners to ensure that they read at a speed of 200 words per minute.
- Guide learners to avoid bad reading habits

Passage

Environmental pollution

1. One of the biggest problems facing the world today, especially in big cities and towns is environmental pollution. Pollution is the act of making the air, water, soil, or the natural surrounding dirty or unclean.
2. In major industrial areas and big cities, cars, trains, aeroplanes and other machines that run industries fill the air with carbon dioxide. This affects life because it makes it difficult for people, animals and plants to breathe. Badly polluted air can cause illness and even death.
3. Water is also being polluted in many ways. Many forms of rubbish are dumped in rivers, dams and lakes. Since oil from ships and oil rigs, makes water dangerously dirty, it kills fish and other living creatures in water.
4. Soil is another part of the environment that has been polluted. The overuse of pesticides and fertilisers pollutes the soil and makes it poor. Therefore, farmers have to use even more chemicals to grow crops. Other forms of pollution include throwing junk and litter around. This is both dangerous to our health and ugly to look at.
5. The problem of the environmental pollution is both complicated and serious. It is complicated because pollution is caused by things that benefit people. For example, smoke from cars, taxis, buses and trucks cause a lot of air pollution. But these vehicles provide transportation for millions of people and goods that need to go to different places. Factories discharge chemicals that pollute the air, water and the soil too, but factories provide jobs for people and produce goods that people want. Fertilisers and pesticides can affect the soil, yet they are important as we need them to grow crops. So, we all cause pollution in one way or the other!

6. However, pollution can be and is being reduced in several ways. Scientists are working together to find ways to reduce the amount of pollution. For example, cars and other machines now discharge less smoke because they are made differently. Since there are new laws that prohibit factories from discharging smoke, there is less air pollution in many countries. Most importantly, individuals and groups of people are taking action to reduce pollution because they realise that this is the only way to preserve the environment and the life on Earth.

- Divide the learners into groups and ask them to discuss the passage.
- Groups retell the details of the passage.
- Learners scan the passage and identify unfamiliar words. Inferences should be drawn from the text

Vocabulary

- Pollution: The process of making the environment dirty or harmful by adding harmful substances to air, water, or land.
- Carbon dioxide: A gas produced by burning carbon and by respiration. It is released by cars and factories and can be harmful in large amounts.
- Pesticides: Chemicals used to kill insects or pests that harm crops.
- Fertilisers: Substances added to soil to help plants grow better by providing nutrients.
- Discharge: To release or send out substances (like

Questions:

Use the information from the passage to answer the questions.

Choose the correct answer from among those given.

1. Paragraph 1. The most challenging problem being faced by the world is...
 - A. air
 - B. pollution
 - C. Soil
 - D. Water
2. Paragraph 2. The following fill the air with carbon dioxide except for one.
 - A. aeroplanes
 - B. Cars
 - C. Industries
 - D. Trains
3. Paragraph 2. The word “this” refers to ...
 - A. animal and plants
 - B. carbon dioxide
 - C. machines
 - D. people
4. Find a word from the passage that means the same or nearly the same as the following:
 - A. To throw unwanted things in a careless way, especially by leaving them somewhere (para 3)
 - B. To give off or let out liquids or gases (para 5)
 - C. Gas produced when we breathe or use oxygen (para 2)
 - D. Chemicals used to kill pests on crops (para 4)
5. Paragraph 3. Fish and other creatures living in water are killed by
 - A. Dams and lakes
 - B. Dangerous dirty water
 - C. Forms of rubbish
 - D. Oil from ships

6. Paragraph 4. The other non-chemical things that pollute the soil are....
- A. Forms of pollution
 - B. Junk and litter
 - C. Pesticides and fertilisers
 - D. Use of pesticides
7. According to the passage, the environment includes:
- A. air and natural elements
 - B. air and water only
 - C. air, water and soil
 - D. water and soil
8. Read these sentences and state if they are true or false.
- A. Car users cause the most pollution
 - B. Everyone is guilty of pollution
 - C. Factories do not discharge harmful substances into the air
 - D. Factories provide employment for people.
 - E. Fertilisers and pesticides weaken the soil
 - F. Pollution is caused by things that people need.
9. Write down two ways in which pollution is being reduced in some countries.
- i. _____

 - ii. _____

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Passages
- Worksheet with vocabulary on passage

4.0. Expected Standard: Information read and comprehended correctly.

ASSESSMENT

- Provide a comprehension passage and ask learners to answer the questions that follow.

- Observe learners' participation in discussions.
- Check their ability to locate answers in the passage.
- Assess group work and engagement.

SUMMARY

- Intensive reading involves the detailed reading of texts.
- Understand the text
- Learn language features through a deliberate focus on the text.

COMPOSITION

TOPIC: PERSUASIVE WRITING

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Persuasive writing is a form of writing where the writer attempts to convince or persuade the audience to adopt a particular point of view or take a specific action by presenting logical reasoning, supporting evidence, and compelling arguments. It has the goal of influencing the reader to adopt a certain opinion, ideas or complete an action.

This topic will look at discursive composition.

- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Effectively shares one's thoughts and emotions and understand others.
- Hook: What if your job was to defend something you do not believe in?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

Persuade: To induce someone to do something through reasoning or argument.

Agree: To have the same opinion about something.

Disagree: To have or express a different opinion.

Controversial: Giving rise or likely to give rise to controversy or public disagreement; relating to or causing much discussion, disagreement, or argument.

Metaphor: is a figure of speech in which a word or phrase literally denoting one kind of object or idea is used in place of another to suggest likeness or analogy between them.

Analogy: is a comparison between one thing and another, typically for the purpose of explanation or clarification.

Repetition: is a literary device that involves using the same word or phrase over and over again in a piece of writing to emphasise a point or create a specific effect.

2.0. SUBTOPIC: Discursive Composition

INTRODUCTION

In a discursive Composition, the writer explores both sides of a topic and draws a conclusion. The composition could be on opposing opinions, cause and effect, compare and contrast, problem and solution, advantages and disadvantages or just exploratory.

- Specific competence(s): Write a discursive composition

3.0. Learning activities:

Activity 1: Discussing features of a discursive composition

- Provide a passage and ask learners to read.

Model discursive composition

The world is facing a serious problem of how to balance the need for economic growth and how to protect the environment and manage pollution. Pollution in all its forms has become a threat to human well-being, with far reaching consequences for our planet. This composition will explore the complex relationship between environmental health and pollution management.

On one hand, economic growth is often seen as the key to improving living standards and reducing poverty. However, the need for economic growth has led to higher levels of pollution with devastating consequences for environmental health. The World Health Organisation estimates that air pollution is responsible for seven million deaths. Burning fossil fuels has led climate change which poses a serious threat to human societies.

On the other hand, some argue that environmental regulations and pollution management can hold back economic growth and hinder development. Enforcing and implementing environmental regulations outweighs the benefits leading to reduced competitiveness and loss of jobs. However, this perspective neglects the long term cost of environmental degradation, which can have catastrophic consequences for human health and the economy,

We can help to avoid this by adopting a more circular economy which gives priority to recycling, reuse and reduction of waste. This can help reduce pollution conserve natural resources and promote economic growth. Government can also invest in clean technologies such as renewable energy.

Furthermore, education and awareness raising campaigns can play an important role in promoting environmental health and pollution management.

In conclusion the pollution paradox is a complex challenge that requires a comprehensive and integrated approach. By adopting a circular economy, investing in clean technologies and promoting awareness we can mitigate the negative impact of pollution and promote environmental health while supporting sustainable economic growth.

(Adapted from World Health Organisation 2018 Air Pollution)

- Ask learners to discuss the features of a discursive composition.

Example:

- balanced arguments
- clear topical issues
- logical presentation
- objectivity

- analysis
- evaluation
- factual or evidence-based arguments

Activity 2: Using appropriate language to express different points of view

- Explain appropriate language to use in discursive composition such as:
On one hand, on the other hand, while, whereas, moreover, furthermore, on the contrary...
E.g. Some say recycling is pointless. On the contrary, it reduces waste and saves energy.
I am convinced without reasonable doubt that climate change is real.
On the one hand, economic growth is often seen as the key to improving living standards and reducing poverty.

Activity 3: Writing a discursive composition

- Ask learners to write a discursive composition on a given topic.

Example:

Is there a relationship between environmental health and pollution management?

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Model discursive essay
- Worksheets showing expressions used in discursive essays.
- Chart showing features of discursive essay.

4.0. Expected standard: Discursive composition written correctly.

ASSESSMENT

- Learners read a model discursive essay and discuss its features.
- Learners to write a discursive essay using appropriate language.

SUMMARY

- Discursive Composition explores both sides of a topic and draws a conclusion.

- It could express opposing opinions, cause and effect, compare and contrast, problem and solution, advantages and disadvantages or just exploratory.
- A discursive essay uses appropriate words or expressions to transition from one point of view to another.
- Discursive composition helps one think critically, see multiple sides of an issue, and communicate their views clearly and respectfully.

STRUCTURE

TOPIC: ABILITY

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Ability refers to the capacity to perform a specific task or function. It can also refer to a natural talent or skill that someone or something possesses. Understanding ability is important in real-life situations because it helps individuals to talk about skills in conversations, explain past experiences, ask for or offer help. This topic is valuable because it equips learners with essential language for everyday communication, enabling them to confidently talk about what they or others can or cannot do.
- General Competence (s)
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively
 - Analytical thinking:
 - Break down problem and evaluate solution
- Hook: Have you ever imagined not being able to do something that almost everyone can easily do?

KEY TERMS/ WORDS/ VOCABULARY:

- Present: Current time, happening or existing now
- Past: A period of time that has already happened.
- Future: A period of time that has not yet happened
- Ability: Capacity to perform a specific task

2.0. SUBTOPIC: Expressing ability

INTRODUCTION

Expressing ability in English can be done using various grammatical structures and vocabulary. Some of the common ways to express ability include using; can, could, be able to...

- Specific competence(s): Express ability in sentences

3.0. Learning activities

Activity 1: Discussing the use of ability in the present, past and future.

- Select a learner to perform a few tasks. (touch the board, close the window, ride a bicycle, sing, spell a word, breath in, breath out ...).
- Ask learners to use the word 'can' or 'be able to' to describe what their classmate is able to do.
- Explain the different ways of expressing ability:

1. Can and be able to both express ability in the present but can is more usual.

Can	Be able to
I can plant flowers.	I am able to plant flowers.
I can speak about climate change boldly.	I am able to speak about climate change boldly.
I can ride a bicycle.	I am able to ride a bicycle.
I can make a biodigester.	I am able to make a biodigester.

Note: Can and be able to should not be used together.

Example

I can be able to come tomorrow. (Wrong)

Instead say

I am able to come tomorrow. Or I can come tomorrow. (Correct)

2. Shall and will be able to (used to express ability in the future)

Shall	Will be able to
I shall plant flowers.	I will be able to plant flowers.
I shall speak about climate change boldly.	I will be able to speak about climate change boldly.
I shall ride a bicycle.	I will be able to ride a bicycle.

3. Could and Was/Were able to (used to express ability in the past).

Could	Was/were able to
I could plant flowers. They could plant flowers.	I was able to plant flowers. They were able to plant flowers.
I could speak about climate change boldly. They could speak about climate change.	I was able to speak about climate change boldly. They were able to speak about climate change.
I could ride a bicycle. They could ride a bicycle.	I was able to ride a bicycle. They were able to ride a bicycle.

- Other Ways of Expressing Ability.

Instead of using can and be able to we can sometimes use

i. Know how to

Example:

I can plant flowers. I know how to plant flowers.

ii. Be capable of + verb + ing

Example:

He is able to plant flowers. He is capable of planting flowers.

- Divide learners into groups, distribute worksheets with sentences and ask them to discuss and identify which sentence is expressing ability in the present, past and future.

Activity 2: Constructing sentences to express ability:

- Ask learners to construct sentences expressing ability in the present, past and future.
- Give learners worksheets to complete sentences expressing ability.

Example

Fill in the spaces using either can, could, be able to...

1. My brother.....ride a bicycle.

2. She make shoes from plastics.
3. They Swim very well last year.
4. The government is Provide clean water.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Tables with expressions of ability.
- Worksheets with expressions of ability.

4.0. Expected standard: Ability in sentences expressed correctly

ASSESSMENT

- Learners discuss ways of expressing ability in the present, past and future.
- Learners construct sentences expressing ability using different expressions.

SUMMARY

- Ability refers to capacity to perform a specific task or function.
- It can also refer to a natural talent or skill that someone or something possesses.
- Expressing ability in English can be done using various grammatical structures and vocabulary.
- Some of the common ways to express ability include using; can, could, able to, ...
- Can and be able to should not be used together.

TOPIC: NOTE SUMMARY

1.0. INTRODUCTION:

- Overview: A note summary is a set of points or notes obtained from a passage or an oral source. It is a collection of all the important points. These points are listed. The points do not need to be written in full sentences. Abbreviations may also be used.
- General Competence(s):

- Creativity and Innovation:
 - Organise information and ideas.
- Critical Thinking:
 - Analyse texts, to improve the ability to understand
- Communication:
 - Use appropriate language (verbal and non-verbal) in different situations
- Emotional intelligence:
 - Communicate and relate with others effectively
- Hook: Did you know that sometimes the simplest notes hold the most important information?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Notes: Writing in point form
- Prose: Writing in complete sentences in paragraphs
- Abbreviations: Shortened form of a word or phrase.
- Symbols: Something that stands for, represents, or suggests another
- Main ideas: key points, essential information
- Paraphrase: express the meaning of something using different words.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: TYPES OF NOTE SUMMARIES

INTRODUCTION

Note summaries are either from an oral source or from a written source. If it is from an oral source, it is called note taking. Note making is when notes are written from a written source. This topic covers both note taking and note making.

- Specific competence(s): Write note summaries.

3.0. Learning activities:

Activity 1: Discussing the two types of note summaries.

- Pair learners and ask them to name sources of information.
Oral sources: Television, YOUTUBE videos, Radio, Speeches
Written sources: Newspapers, Articles, Journals, Magazines, Textbooks

- Explain that we take notes from an oral source, while we make notes from a written source i.e. Note making and Note taking.

Note making is the process of writing down important information in a short and organised form for future reference from a written source.

Note taking is the process of quickly taking down information as you listen to an oral source.

Activity 2: Discussing steps in note summary writing.

- Explain the steps to follow when writing note summaries:

Steps in note making

- i. Reading passage (skimming)
- ii. Study and understand the question,
- iii. Pick points relevant to the question (scanning)
- iv. Extract the main facts
- v. Do not change words to alter meaning
- vi. You may use bullets or number your points
- vii. Use one complete point per bullet
- viii. Paraphrasing- do not change the meaning of the text.
- ix. Keep the original idea
- x. If you are not able to paraphrase, lift from the text leaving out elaborations and floral language
- xi. Arrange your points in the order in which they appear in the text.

Steps in note taking

- ii. Listen attentively
- iii. Identify main ideas
- iv. Use short forms, abbreviations, symbols
- v. Stay organised (use headings, subheadings, numberings)
- vi. Review and edit

Activity 3: Writing note summaries.

- Ask learners to write note summaries from various sources paying particular attention to the question.

Biodiversity

The importance of biodiversity is often overlooked but it plays an important role in maintaining the health of the planet. Biodiversity refers to the variety of different species of plants, animals and microorganisms that live in an ecosystem. It also includes the genetic diversity of ecosystems themselves.

Biodiversity is essential for maintaining the balance of nature. It ensures that ecosystems are resilient to environmental changes and can recover from disasters. Biodiversity also provides numerous benefits to humans, including food, medicine, and clean air and water.

Despite its importance, biodiversity is facing numerous threats. Habitat destruction, pollution, climate change, and overexploitation of resources are all major drivers of biodiversity loss. The consequences of biodiversity are far reaching and can have significant impact on human well-being.

Use the following questions to make note summaries of the passage.

1. What is biodiversity?
2. Why is biodiversity important?
3. What are the benefits of biodiversity?
4. What are the threats to biodiversity?
5. What are the consequences of biodiversity loss?

Project

- Ask learners to take notes during church service or assembly.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Note summary passages
- Charts with features of note summary writing
- Model passage for short summary

- Audio (reading/speech)

4.0. Expected standard: note summary written correctly.

ASSESSMENT

- Observe learners as lesson is progressing to monitor their progress and understanding of note summary skills
- Learners to write note summaries by giving them individual exercise.

SUMMARY

- There are two types of note summaries which are note- making and note taking.
- Note making entails making note from a written source whereas note-taking entails taking note from an oral source.

CHAPTER 4: MENTAL HEALTH

TOPIC TITLE: FIGURATIVE LANGUAGE: IDIOMATIC EXPRESSIONS

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Figurative language refers to the use of words in a way that deviates from the conventional order and meaning in order to convey a complicated meaning. These include similes, metaphors, hyperbole, personification, idioms, proverbs and many more. This topic, shall look at idiomatic expressions and their importance in communication.

- General Competence (s):

- Communication:

- use appropriate language (verbal non-verbal) in different situations

- Analytical thinking:

- Grasp and breakdown information to effectively share with others.

- Critical thinking:

- Solve complex problems

- Hook: Do phrases such as 'time flies' or 'it is raining cats and dogs' make you wonder?

KEY TERMS/ WORDS/ VOCABULARY:

- Similes: a figure of speech that directly compares two different things using the words like or as.
- Metaphors: a figure of speech that makes an implicit or direct comparison between two unrelated things by stating that one is the other.
- Personifications: a literary device that gives human qualities, emotions, or behaviours to non-human entities, such as animals, objects, or ideas.
- Idiomatic expressions: phrases or sayings whose meanings are not immediately clear from the individual words.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: Idiomatic Expressions

- INTRODUCTION

An idiom is a phrase or expression with a figurative meaning that is not immediately obvious from its literal words. Idioms add colour to conversations. Using idioms effectively can make conversations more engaging, expressive and natural. This topic will introduce idiomatic expressions, explore some common idioms and highlight their importance in daily conversation, literature and cultural understanding.

- Specific Competence(s): Use idiomatic expressions in speech.

3.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing idiomatic expressions

- Provide idiomatic expressions and ask learners to guess their meanings.
 - break the ice
 - hit the nail on the head
 - it's raining cats and dogs
 - an egghead
 - get on one's nerves
- Reveal the meanings and explain what idiomatic expressions are and emphasise that understanding them makes language more natural and engaging.

Example:

Break the ice

Meaning: Initiate a conversation or activity that helps people feel more comfortable, especially in a social setting where there might be awkwardness or tension.

- Discuss how context can help uncover figurative language.

Example:

If someone says, “She spilled the beans” during a conversation about a planned surprise party, context helps us understand that she revealed a secret, not actually dropped beans

Activity 2: Interpreting and using idiomatic expressions.

- Provide learners with idiomatic expressions and ask them to interpret.

Example

Idiom	Meaning
Read between the lines	Simple and very easy to do.
Jump on the bandwagon	To start something with great enthusiasm and energy.
Keep your chin up	To understand the hidden meaning behind something that is not directly stated

Piece of cake	To stay positive and optimistic even in tough situations.
Hit the ground running	To join others in doing something popular or trending.

- Learners match the idiomatic expressions to their corresponding meaning.
- Clarify misconceptions about idioms to the learners.
 - Do not take the literal meaning
 - Consider context used
 - Do not use them anyhow
 - Idioms are not universal across languages; they are language specific.

Activity 3: Researching on idiomatic expressions used in the local community

- Ask learners to collect idiomatic expressions used in their community.
- Learners discuss the idioms collected from their community for presentation.
- Learners make presentations and explanations of the idiomatic expressions they have researched on in the groups.
- Learners develop lists of idiomatic expression used in their local community.
- Clarify on any misconceptions about the presentations made.

Activity 4: Constructing sentences using idiomatic expressions orally.

- Ask learners to construct sentences using idiomatic expressions.

Examples:

1. He kicked the bucket just days before his retirement party.
2. She now calls the shots about who she talks to and when.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials

- Worksheets with idiomatic expressions
- Tables with idiomatic expressions

- Short passage with idiomatic expressions

4.0. Expected Standard: Idiomatic expressions used in speech appropriately.

ASSESSMENT

Homework:

- Provide individual learners with short passages with idiomatic expressions and ask them to interpret them for the next class.
- Ask learners to find five new idiomatic expressions and bring them to the next class.
- Provide learners with idiomatic expressions and interpretations and ask learners to match them.
- Learners match idiomatic expressions with the interpretations.

SUMMARY

- An idiom is a phrase or expression with a figurative meaning that is not immediately obvious from its literal words.
- Using idioms effectively can make conversations more engaging, expressive and natural.
- This topic introduced idiomatic expressions, explored some common idioms and highlighted their importance in daily conversation.

TOPIC TITLE: READING COMPREHENSION

1.0 INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Comprehension is a process of active engagement that leads to accurate understanding and interpretation of what is heard or read. The importance of comprehension lies in its application to real-life situations such as understanding instructions, engaging in conversations, and interpreting information. Learners will read passages, extract main ideas, and engage in discussions to enhance their understanding. This topic introduces learners to the basic skills of comprehension, focusing on reading comprehension.

- General Competence(s):
 - Creativity and innovation:
 - Ask thoughtful questions; justify one's reason and procedures
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively; effectively share one's thoughts and emotions and understand others
 - Critical thinking: Analyse texts to improve the ability to understand
- Hook: Did you know that success in reading is largely influenced by our reading practice?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY:

- Comprehension: the ability to read and understand
- Extensive reading: reading a variety of texts for pleasure.
- Plot: sequence of related events in a story
- Setting: place, time, lifestyle and weather depicted in a story
- Theme: Central idea in a story that reader wants to convey
- Characterisation: the process of painting a verbal picture on characters directly and indirectly

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: EXTENSIVE READING

• INTRODUCTION

Extensive reading can be defined as reading done for pleasure or gaining general understanding by focusing on a large volume of materials. The goal of extensive reading is to expose learners to a wide range of texts, vocabulary, and sentence structures in a natural context helping to improve reading fluency, language learning, and overall confidence. To achieve the objective of extensive reading a rich collection of books is needed both at home and at school.

- Specific Competence(s): Read a variety of texts extensively

3.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing reading mannerisms

- Divide learners into groups and ask them to discuss adverse reading mannerisms (avoid head movement, verbalising, whispering, finger or pen pointing of words)

Activity 2: Reading for enjoyment or information

- Ask learners to select books of choice from a collection and read.

Passage 1

A young woman named Tasha struggled silently for years with anxiety and depression. She was known for her bubbly personality, but beneath the surface, she battled feelings of emptiness and overwhelming self-doubt. After years of trying to manage on her own, she reached her breaking point. One day, she confided in a close friend, who encouraged her to seek help.

Taking that step wasn't easy, but Tasha eventually found support in therapy and began to explore mindfulness practices. Her journey was not a quick one; it took time, patience, and self-compassion. Little by little, she learned to process her emotions and recognise her triggers. Tasha also discovered the healing power of creativity, channelling her thoughts into painting and writing.

Her story reminds us that mental health struggles do not define a person. Seeking help is a sign of strength, and recovery is unique to each individual. It is important to foster understanding, break the stigma, and create spaces where people feel safe to share their struggles.

Passage 2

The Kingdom of Cheepa: A Tale of the Five Flames

Once, in the heart of a lush and peaceful land, there lay the Kingdom of Cheepa. Known for its beauty and harmony, the kingdom was also governed by a prophecy: “When the Five Flames of the heart are extinguished, darkness will fall. Only one with strength, kindness, and hope will reignite them to bring back the light.”

The Five Flames represented important qualities that helped people stay strong and connected: Courage, Growth, Love, Power, and Hope. These flames were kept alive on top of a great mountain by a group of monks who dedicated their lives to protecting them. But one day, a selfish and cruel warlord named Katenkana, driven by anger and fear, extinguished the flames, bringing sadness and despair to the kingdom. The sky turned grey, the crops failed, and the people felt hopeless.

In a quiet village lived Mutinta, a kind and caring healer who helped anyone in need. Mutinta did not know she was part of the prophecy, but she had a special gift—a heart that was strong, even in the toughest times. When Katenkana’s army attacked her village, Mutinta stayed calm, helping the wounded and comforting the scared. It was her courage and kindness that caught the eye of Mulala, a mysterious stranger who revealed himself as the last protector of the Five Flames.

Mulala told Mutinta about the prophecy and asked her to join him on a journey to rekindle the flames. Though she was not sure she could succeed, Mutinta knew her love for her people was stronger than her doubts.

Together, they set off to find the mountain where the flames had once burned brightly.

The journey was difficult, testing Mutinta's mind and spirit. To reignite the Flame of Courage, she had to face her own fears—memories of times when she had felt weak and scared. For the Flame of Growth, she travelled through the Forest of Time, where she revisited painful moments of loss, but came out stronger and wiser. Along the way, her connection with Mulala grew into a deep friendship, and it was their shared love that reignited the Flame of Love.

But the Flame of Power was the hardest challenge. As Mutinta stood before it, she was tempted by the idea of taking control of the kingdom, to make everything right on her own. However, with her heart full of love and understanding, chose instead to use her strength for the good of others, knowing true power comes from helping, not controlling.

Finally, they reached the Flame of Hope, but Mulala had been captured by Katenkana. Mutinta was alone, with the entire kingdom's future resting on her. She felt tired and sad, almost ready to give up. But then, she remembered the people she had helped and how they believed in her. Their courage and trust filled her heart with hope. With this, she reignited the Flame of Hope, bringing light back to the kingdom.

With the flames restored, Katenkana's dark spell was broken, and the kingdom began to heal. Mutinta was celebrated as a hero, but she chose not to rule. Instead, she continued her work as a healer, teaching others the importance of kindness, self-care, and hope. Cheepa Kingdom flourished, inspired by Mutinta's journey—a reminder that with courage, growth, love, strength used wisely, and a hopeful heart, even the darkest times can be overcome.

Questions while reading

- Encourage learners to interact with the text while reading.
 - What is the protagonist fighting against?
 - What do you think will happen at the end of the story?
 - What emotions most dominate the main character?
 - What was the conflict in the text?

Questions after reading

- Encourage learners to share their reading with others
 - Which part of the plot did you enjoy the most?
 - What is the setting of the story?
 - What was the conflict in the story?

Activity 3: Discussing passage read

- Lead the discussion by asking questions about the stories and information read.
- Learners share by retelling stories or explaining the information read. (Stories could be explained along themes, setting, plot, characters and characterisation and style)

Suggested Teaching and Learning materials:

- A collection of texts (newspapers, text books, magazines, novels, story books ...)
- Exercise books for writing summaries
- Worksheets focused on specific skills

4.0. EXPECTED STANDARD: Variety of texts read extensively.

ASSESSMENT

- Ask Learners to continue reading a variety of texts and share their reading with the rest of the class.
- Provide some more texts for learners to select from and ask them to read during their free time and make summaries in readiness for sharing with whole class.

SUMMARY

- Extensive reading is regarded as reading a variety or large quantities of materials for pleasure and information.
- Through reading widely, learners improve their ability to understand and interpret texts more effectively.
- Exposure to varied language usage boosts confidence in both reading and speaking in real life situations.

COMPOSITION

TOPIC: DIARY WRITING

1. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Writing composition is about sharing your thoughts, ideas and stories in a structured and creative way. It is not just about putting words together, but about organising them to communicate effectively, entertain, inform or persuade. This topic will explore diary writing.
- General Competence(s):
 - Creativity and Innovation:
 - Organise information and ideas
 - Communication:
 - Effectively share one's thoughts and emotions and understand others
- Hook: Have you ever had a moment when you wanted to capture your feelings, thoughts, or experiences?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Diary: a personal record where individuals write about their thoughts, feelings, experiences, and daily events.
- Diary entry: a written record of personal thoughts, feelings, experiences, or events from a specific day.
- Diary Writing: A personal and reflective activity used to record thoughts, feelings, events, or experiences.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: Introduction to Writing Diary Entries

- INTRODUCTION

Diary entries are a form of personal writing used to capture thoughts, feelings, experiences, and daily events. A diary serves as a private space for self-expression and reflection, often written in chronological order with dated entries. The diary helps improve self-expression, emotional awareness and writing skills. Imagine reading your diary years later and reliving your happiest moments, learning from your challenges, or even laughing at your past self. This topic explores how a diary can become your new best friend.

- Specific Competence(s): Write diary entries

3.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing the Diary.

- Ask learners if they know what a diary is and its use.
 - A diary is a personal note book or journal where someone writes about their thoughts, feelings and experiences.
- Ask them if they have ever kept a diary and what they think a diary is.
- Describe the diary and state its use and significance

Activity 2: Discussing the features of a diary

- Discuss the features with the class as follows:
 - Date: the date when the entry is done (day, month, year).
 - Salutation: this is the subject that the writer addresses his or her written work to.
 - In diary writing, the addressee is usually the diary.
 - Main body: records what has been experienced or what needs to be expressed. The main body can have several paragraphs depending on what is being recorded.
 - Conclusion: wraps up your reflections or thoughts for the day
 - Personal tone: the writing is informal and reflective often resembling a conversation with oneself.
 - Chronological order: entries are typically recorded in the order in which they happened.
 - Descriptive language: often used to vividly capture experiences and emotions
 - Honesty and Authenticity: authentic expressions allowing individuals to be true to themselves.
 - Language and style: language used is usually casual and conversational, without concern for grammar or structure.
 - Confidentiality: a private space where one can freely express thoughts and emotions without judgement.

Activity 3: Practising the recording of significant/memorable events or experiences based on given notes.

- Ask learners to make entries of the activities of the week in their personal diaries.

A Day in My Life

Instructions:

- a. Choose a week: select a week from the past month or a memorable week.
- b. Write diary entries: write descriptive and reflective diary entries about the chosen week.

Include:

- What happened
- How you felt
- What you learned
- Any challenges or successes

Response

Monday, 1st April 2025

Dear Diary,

Today was such an eventful day! It started out pretty ordinary, but everything changed when I got an unexpected call from my best friend. She told me about a surprise picnic she planned at the park, and of course, I couldn't say no.

The weather was perfect—clear skies, warm sun, and a gentle breeze. We had so much fun chatting and laughing over sandwiches and juice. At one point, I just sat there, soaking in the moment, feeling so grateful for friends and little adventures like this.

On the way back home, I couldn't stop thinking about how these simple moments make life special. I hope tomorrow brings more surprises, big or small!

Goodnight, Diary.

Me.

- Ask learners to share their diary entries if they are comfortable with it.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Worksheets with examples of diary entries (real or fiction)
- Blank notebooks or writing paper
- Prompts for diary writing

- EXPECTED STANDARD: Diary entries written correctly

ASSESSMENT

Homework

- Learners write a diary entry for the next few days and reflect on how it feels to maintain a diary.

SUMMARY

- Diary entries are a form of personal writing used to capture thoughts, feelings, experiences, and daily events in real life.
- It serves as a private space for self-expression and reflection, often written in chronological order with dated entries.
- It helps improve self-expression, emotional awareness and writing skills.

STRUCTURE

TOPIC: THE GERUND AND THE PRESENT PARTICIPLE

1. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: The Gerund and the Present Participle look identical but they have different grammatical functions. It is their identical nature that brings about confusion. This topic therefore, describes the gerund and the present participle, distinguishing them and discussing their functions.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
 - Use appropriate language (verbal and non-verbal) in different situations.
- Hook: Did you know that forms of the same verb can mean two different things?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Gerund: a verb form that ends in –ing and functions as a noun in a sentence.
- Participle: form of a verb that is used as an adjective to describe or modify nouns or pronouns.
- Present participle: form of a verb that ends in –ing and is used to describe or modify nouns or pronouns
- Adjective: a word that describes or modifies a noun or pronoun, giving more information about its qualities, quantity, or characteristics.
- Noun: a word that identifies a person, place, thing, idea, or concept.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: Difference between Gerunds and Present Participles

INTRODUCTION

Gerunds and participles, though both derive from verbs and ending in -ing, have distinct grammatical functions. Gerunds function as nouns while participles function as adjectives or part of a verb tense. This topic describes the gerund and the present participle and shows their functions in sentences.

- Specific Competence(s): Use gerunds and present participles in sentences.

3.0.Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing the difference between gerunds and present participles.

- Provide two sentences: one on gerunds and another on participles.

Examples:

Playing for a team is an honour. (Gerund)

He likes playing for the team. (Present participle)

- Ask learners to differentiate the meaning between the two sentences.
- Explain the difference between gerunds and participles.
- Explain functions of gerunds and participles.

- a gerund is that form of the verb which ends in -ing, and functions as a noun in a sentence.
- It is the continuous form (-ing) of verb which works as a noun in a sentence.

Examples: Gerunds

- Teaching is an interesting career. (subject of the verb)
 - I love teaching. (object of the verb)
 - He is passionate about teaching. (object of the preposition about).
 - My passion is teaching. (subject complement).
 - Your teaching is amazing. (object of the possessive adjective your).
- Explain that the Present Participle is the form of a verb which ends in -ing and functions as an adjective in a sentence.

Examples: Present participles

- A charming lady gave me a lift. (adjective attributively used, modifying the noun lady).
 - Passengers saw the burning train. (adjective modifying the noun train).
 - The lesson was exciting. (adjective (subject complement) modifying the noun lesson).
 - The driver kept me waiting. (adjective predicatively used, modifying the object)
- Explain that since a participle is a verb-adjective, it must be attached to a noun or pronoun.

Example:

Entering the room, I found a doctor waiting for me. (adjective, referring to I)

Arriving late, Mary sat in the back row. (adjective, referring to Mary).

Activity 2: Constructing sentences using gerunds and present participles

- Ask learners to construct sentences using gerunds and present participles.
- Learners in pairs construct sentences and ask each other whether the verb + -ing used in the constructed sentence is a gerund or a present participle.

- Ask learners to share their pair work to the rest of the class.
- Clarify any misconceptions about gerunds and the Present participle.

Example:

Fridah: Singing is a noble career. (Gerund or Present Participle?)

Handili: Jumping high, Museshyo hit his head against the ceiling. (Gerund or Present Participle?)

Nora: Will you help me set up the baking pans, Precious? (Gerund or Present Participle?)

Precious: Chibwika likes baking. (Gerund or Present Participle?)

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Worksheets with expressions on gerunds and participles.
- Dialogue with expression on gerunds and participles.
- Think-Pair-Share
- Word cards

Expected Standard: Gerunds and Present Participles used in sentences correctly.

ASSESSMENT

- Learners identify gerunds and present participles in sentences.
- Learners use gerunds and present participles in dialogue.
- Learners construct sentences using gerunds or present participles.

SUMMARY

- Gerunds and participles, though both derive from verbs and ending in -ing, have distinct grammatical functions.
- Gerunds function as nouns while participles function as adjectives or part of a verb tense.
- Gerunds function as nouns in sentences while present participles function as adjectives.

STRUCTURE

TOPIC: SENSE RELATIONS

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Sense relations in grammar refer to the relationships between words based on their meanings. These sense relationships are important because they help us understand how words interact within a language's semantic system.
- General Competence(s):
 - Creativity and Innovation:
 - Understand connections between seemingly unrelated subject matter
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
- Hook: Did you know that words relate to each other in different ways?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Sense relation: the relationships between words based on their meanings.
- Synonymy: the relationship between words with the same or nearly the same meaning.
- Antonymy: relationship between words with opposite meanings.
- Homophones: words that sound the same but have different meanings and spellings.
- Homonyms: words that share the same spelling and pronunciation but different meaning.
- Synonym: a word whose meaning is the same as another.
- Antonym: a word which the opposite meaning of another word.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC 1: Synonyms and Antonyms

INTRODUCTION

Words are the building blocks of language and understanding their relationship helps communicate more effectively. Synonyms and antonyms are two key components of word relations. By mastering synonyms and antonyms, we expand our vocabulary and enhance our ability to convey emotions ideas and perspectives. This topic discusses synonyms and antonyms and how they could be appropriately used in different contexts.

Specific Competence(s): Use synonyms and antonyms

3.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing synonyms and antonyms

- Discuss synonyms and antonyms:
 - synonym is a word or a phrase that has the same or very similar meaning to another word or phrase.
Example:
Fast – quick
Big - huge
 - antonym is a word that has the opposite meaning of another word.
Example:
happy - sad
hot - cold.

Activity 2: Supplying synonyms and antonyms to given words

- Divide learners into groups and give them a table or worksheet with words.
Example:

Word	Synonym	Antonym
Little	Small	Big/Large
Hot
Happy
Loud
Fast
Kind
Clean

- Ask learners to supply synonyms or antonyms to given words.
- Ask group representatives to present their work to the class.
- Clarify any misconceptions about synonyms and antonyms.

Practice

Fridah: This house is big. Supply the synonym, Handili.

Handili: This house is (massive enormous, huge, large).

Nora: The baby has small hands. Supply the synonym, Precious.

Precious: The baby has (tiny, little, petite) hands.

Siaciwena: This examination is easy. Supply the antonym, Nawa.

Nawa: This examination is (difficult, hard, challenging).

Lazalo: Supply the antonym of strong, Estella.

Estella: The antonym of strong is (weak, or frail or fragile).

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Worksheets with synonyms and antonyms
- Table with synonyms and antonyms
- Chart with dialogue with synonyms and antonyms
- Quiz on synonyms and antonyms
- Expected Standard: Synonyms and antonyms used correctly

ASSESSMENT

- Learners identify synonyms and antonyms and write the activity in their books.

- Learners to fill in tables or supply synonyms and antonyms.

SUMMARY

- Synonyms and antonyms are two key components of word relations.
- Mastering synonyms and antonyms helps expand vocabulary and enhance ability to convey emotions, ideas and perspectives.
- Synonyms and antonyms are important in understanding language in real life situations.

SUB-TOPIC 2: Homonyms and Homophones

1.0.INTRODUCTION

Some words look or sound the same but have different meanings or uses. These are known as homonyms and homophones, and they play an important role in both spoken and written communication. Homonyms are words that share the same spelling or pronunciation but have different meanings, while homophones are words that sound alike but are spelled differently and also have different meanings. Learning to recognise and use these types of words correctly helps improve clarity, avoid confusion, and enhance overall language skills. This topic will focus on understanding homonyms and homophones and how to use them accurately in everyday language.

- Specific Competence(s): Use Homonyms and Homophones

2.0.Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing Homonyms and Homophones

- Discuss homonyms and homophones:
 - Homonyms are words that are spelled and pronounced the same, but have different meanings.

Example:

bank as in riverbank vs. bank as in financial institution.

refuse as in refusing to do something vs. refuse as in garbage.

- Homophones are words that sound the same but have different spellings and meanings.

Example:

flower and flour

bare and bear

Activity 2: Identifying different meanings of Homonyms and Homophones in different contexts.

- Divide learners into groups and give them worksheets with different homonyms and homophones
- Ask learners to provide meanings of the given homonyms and homophones.
- Learners identify meanings of given homonyms and homophones

Examples:

Homonyms

right (correct) vs. right (direction)

well (health) vs. well (water source) watch (a time piece) vs. watch (to observe) water (watering the garden) vs. water (liquid)

Homophones

stair/stare:

Stair: a single step in a staircase.

Stare: to look fixedly at something

Week/weak:

Week: any period of seven consecutive days.

Weak: lacking physical strength

See/sea:

See: to perceive or detect something with eyes

Sea: a large body of water

- Ask learners to present their work before the class.
- Ask learners to work in pairs and further identify meanings of given homonyms.
- Pairs give each other homonyms for meaning identification.

Example:

(scale (for weighing) and scale (for fish)

match (lighting match) and match (soccer match)

ring (circular piece of jewellery) and ring (sound of bell or phone) seal (a marine animal) and seal (to close tightly).

Activity 3: Distinguishing meanings of given homophones

- Ask learners to distinguish meanings of given homophones using appropriate situations.
 - Learners construct sentences to distinguish meanings of given homophones.
 - Ask learners to share their work to the class.
1. She is wearing a _____(blue/blew) dress.
 2. I will _____(mail/male) the letter tomorrow.
 3. It is considered rude to _____(stare/stair) at people.
 4. I asked for a _____(plain/plane) paper.
 5. That beautiful dress is on _____(sale/sail)

Suggested Teaching and learning materials:

- Flashcards/printed cards for matching games
- Worksheets with words (homonyms and homophones)

3.0.Expected Standard: Homonyms and Homophones used correctly.

ASSESSMENT

- Learners identify meanings of homonyms and homophones.
- Learners make charts for homonyms and homophones as homework.

SUMMARY

- Homonyms are words that share the same spelling or pronunciation but have different meanings, while homophones are words that sound alike but are spelled differently and also have different meanings.
- Learning to recognise and use these types of words correctly helps improve clarity, avoid confusion, and enhance overall language skills.
- Homonyms and Homophones are important in real life situations as they help in making communication clear and precise.

TOPIC: SUMMARY

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Summarising is a skill that is required for one purpose or another. A summary is a brief and concise explanation or account of the main ideas or essential points of a large text or event. A summary focuses on capturing the core meaning while omitting unnecessary details, making it easier to understand the gist of the content.
- General Competence(s):
 - Analytical Thinking:
 - Grasp and breakdown information and effectively share with others.
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
 - Critical Thinking:
 - Analyse texts to improve the ability to understand.

Hook: Have you ever read a long piece of writing but only remembered the key points.

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Main idea: the central point or overall theme of the text that the summary focuses on.
- Paraphrasing: restating information in your own words while retaining the original meaning
- Conciseness: the skill of expressing ideas briefly and without unnecessary words
- Key Points: specific pieces of information that are vital to understanding the text.
- Clarity: ensuring the summary is easy to understand and presents ideas logically
- Omission: removing less important information to keep the summary focused
- Context: maintaining the original meaning and tone while summarising the content

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: Tabulation Skills

INTRODUCTION

In order to focus on the most relevant information without unnecessary information, data is better saved in tables. To do this requires that one has tabulation skills. Tabulation skills play a significant role in summary writing as they help organise information systematically. This topic explores tabulation skills and their significance in data presentation.

- Specific Competence(s): Apply Tabulation skills

3.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Interpreting given tables, charts, diagrams and graphs

- Ask learners why organising information is important in daily life example: in school, business, research.
- Introduce tabulation as a method of organising information into rows and columns for clarity and analysis.
- Pair learners and ask them to discuss how they make data easy to understand.

Example: a list of learners' names and grades, class timetable

- Provide pairs with pre-made tables containing information
Examples: sales figures, survey responses.
- Ask learners questions to interpret the tables, such as finding the totals, or comparisons.
- Discuss what makes tables easy or difficult to understand.

Activity 2: Writing summaries using information from tables, charts, diagrams and graphs.

- Provide learners with tables, charts, diagrams and graphs and ask them to write summaries from the given tables.
- In pairs, learners extract information from the given tables and make summaries.
- Learners share their work with class in form of presentations.
- Discuss strengths and areas for improvement in the summaries presented.

Sample Passage

A survey was conducted among 100 learners to understand their favourite leisure activities. The results revealed that 40 learners preferred reading books, 30 enjoyed watching movies, 20 loved playing sports, and 10 chose painting. Interestingly, it was also noted that most learners who enjoyed reading books tended to spend more than 5 hours per week on the activity, whereas movie lovers typically spent around 3 hours weekly.

Sample Summary

A survey of 100 learners showed that the most popular leisure activity was reading (40%), followed by watching movies (30%), playing sports (20%), and painting (10%). Reading enthusiasts spent over 5 hours weekly on their hobby, while movie watchers averaged 3 hours per week.

Tabulated Information

Activity	Number of learners	Percentage	Time Spent Weekly
Reading Books	40	40%	More than 5 hours
Watching Movies	30	30%	Around 3 hours
Playing Sports	20	20%	-
Painting	10	10%	-

Activity 3: Completing tables, charts, diagrams and graphs using information from a passage

- Provide summary texts and charts to learners and divide them into groups.
- Ask learners to create tables and organise data, ensuring they include headings, labels and clearing formatting.
- Each group displays their completed tables for the whole class to see.
- Discuss group work to identify strengths and areas for improvement in the table structure and clarity.

Individual Work:

- Distribute summary passages to individual learners and ask them to summarise and there after tabulate the summarised information in their books.

Summary Passage

Mental health is a vital aspect of overall well-being that impacts how individuals think, feel, and behave in daily life. According to a recent study, 1 in 5 adults worldwide experience mental health challenges, with anxiety disorders and depression being the most prevalent conditions. Factors contributing to poor mental health include stress, lack of social support, financial struggles, and genetic predispositions.

The study also emphasized the importance of early intervention and access to mental health resources. Programs such as therapy, counseling, and mindfulness practices have been shown to significantly improve mental health outcomes. Additionally, creating awareness about mental health can reduce stigma and encourage individuals to seek help.

Globally, mental health initiatives are gaining momentum, with governments and organizations advocating for better policies, funding, and community outreach programs. However, there remains a gap in accessibility, especially in developing countries, where only 30% of those in need have access to treatment.

Common mental health problems	Causes
1.	1.
2.	2.

- Learners read the passage at individual level, summarise and tabulate the summarised information.
- Check individual tabulation skills and make comments.
- Display sample summary and tabulated information for learners to see.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials

- Worksheets with sample data sets
- Chart or digital tools like excel sheets.
- Samples of pre-made tables containing data.
- Summary passages/texts

4.0. Expected Standard: Tabulation skills applied correctly.

Assessment

- Ask individual learners to create a table using data from daily activities (e.g. smart phone usage habits)
- Homework

Smartphone Usage Habits

A research study on smartphone usage habits revealed that among 200 participants, 80 used smartphones for social media, 50 for gaming, 40 for online learning, and 30 for shopping. The study also found that social media users spent the most time—an average of 4 hours daily—on their phones, while online learners spent around 2 hours. Gamers and shoppers averaged 3 hours each per day.

SUMMARY

- Emphasise the importance, purpose and process of tabulation
- Learners discuss when tabulation might be useful in real-life situations such as budgeting or planning an activity.
