PREFACE

The advent of the Competence-Based Curriculum (CBC) heralds a new era of dynamic and practical learning experiences designed to equip learners with the 21st century skills.

The choice of the Competence-Based Curriculum (CBC) marks a transformative step in improving education quality and relevance. The Ministry of Education understands the challenges that come with transitioning to a new curriculum and is; therefore, committed to ensuring provision of quality teaching and learning materials to support effective lesson delivery.

The English Language Teaching Module has been shaped in line with the Competence Based Education principles which seek to link education to real life experiences. The English Language Teaching Module fully embraces the General Competences provided in the 2023 Zambia Curriculum Framework such as collaboration, critical thinking, creativity and innovation, problem solving, analytical thinking, emotional intelligence, digital literacy and entrepreneurship. Effective implementation of the CBC requires clarity of focus, undivided dedication, commitment and setting higher level competences.

It is my sincere hope that this CBC English Language Teaching Module for Form 1, will greatly improve the quality of education provided to English Language as outlined and emphasized in various policy documents; 'Education for Sustainability, 2023', and '2023 Zambia Education Curriculum Framework.

This module reflects the Ministry's unwavering commitment to making this journey as smooth as possible for teachers, by providing structured guidance, suggested activities, and formative assessments that align with the CBC's objectives. However, teachers are encouraged to supplement this module with their own research and innovations in order to address any gaps that may arise during implementation.

Permanent Secretary- Educational Services
MINISTRY OF EDUCATION

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The Form 1, Term 2 English Language Teaching Module is a result of wide consultation involving several stake holders within and outside the Education system.

The Ministry of Education wishes to express its heartfelt gratitude for the valuable contributions of all those who participated in the development of this Teaching Module under the 2023 Competence Based Curriculum.

Finally, I acknowledge the dedication and hard work of the staff at the Curriculum Development Centre, whose efforts were instrumental in ensuring the successful completion of the English Language Teaching Module.

Charles K. Ndakala (Dr.)
Director Curriculum Development

INTRODUCTION

The Form 1 Teaching Module has been meticulously designed to support teachers in the effective delivery of English Language lessons under the reformed curriculum. The module is developed based on the approved 2024 Competence-Based English Language Syllabus. It aims to bridge the gap created by the absence of approved textbooks and to equip educators with practical tools, activities, and assessments tailored to the learners' level and needs.

The Ministry, understands the challenges that come with transitioning to a new curriculum that is Competence Based. The choice of the Competence-Based Curriculum (CBC) marks a transformative step in improving education quality and relevance. This module reflects the Ministry's unwavering commitment to making this journey as smooth as possible for teachers, by providing structured guidance, suggested activities, and formative assessments that align with the CBC's objectives. However, teachers are encouraged to supplement this module with their own research and innovations in order to address any gaps that may arise during implementation.

The suggested activities and assessments provided in this module are designed to foster practical and critical thinking skills in learners while ensuring relevance and adaptability to different school contexts. Teachers are encouraged to tailor these suggestions to their unique classroom dynamics and to explore alternative, acceptable approaches when necessary. This flexibility is key to ensuring that all learners, regardless of their environment, benefit from meaningful and impactful Curriculum.

It is envisaged that this module will serve as a valuable resource for teachers as they navigate the new Competence-Based Curriculum, enhancing their ability to inspire and equip learners with essential English Language knowledge, skills and positive attitudes desired to create a vibrant and responsive education system.

CHAPTER 1: LIFE SKILLS AND HEALTH EDUCATION (LSHE)

LISTENING AND SPEAKING

TOPIC TITLE: PUBLIC SPEAKING

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Public speaking is the art or skill of delivering a speech or presentation to an audience. It can take place in many settings like a classroom, at a conference, a business meeting or a social gathering. Public speaking is about communicating ideas effectively. Apart from words, body language, vocal tone and audience engagement are also essential for effective public speaking. This topic will cover debate.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication: Using appropriate language (verbal and non-verbal) in different situations.
 - Emotional Intelligence: communicate and relate effectively with others
- Hook: Did you know that it takes a lot of effort to speak in public?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Audience: the group of people you are speaking to
- Tone: the emotion and emphasis behind the speaker's voice
- Voice Projection: speaking loudly and clearly so that everyone can hear
- Persuasion: the ability to convince or influence an audience
- Eye Contact: the act of looking at the audience to engage them and establish connection
- Body Language: the non-verbal gestures, posture, and movements that communicate a message

2.0. SUB-TOPIC – DEBATE

- INTRODUCTION: A debate is a formal discussion where two parties present opposing views on a topic. In debate there are two sides, opposing and proposing. Debate helps develop critical thinking, persuasive speaking, and logical reasoning. Debates are common in education, politics and competitions to explore different views on important issues. This topic aims at equipping learners with skills to use in carrying out a debate.
- SPECIFIC COMPETENCE: Use appropriate language to debate on different cross-cutting issues

2.1 Learning Activities

Activity 1: Identifying and discussing appropriate language for debate

- Divide the class into two and ask the learners to debate a given motion
For example: - Self-defence should be a compulsory part of life skills education
 - A healthy diet is more important than regular exercises
- Lead learners into identifying appropriate language for debate and explain debate language as follows:
 - Introducing an argument (My main argument is that..., the evidence clearly suggests..., I firmly believe that...)
 - Agreeing with a point (I completely support this idea because..., I agree with..., I concur...,)
 - Disagreeing Politely (I oppose the motion..., I see your point but I respectfully disagree..., I disagree...,)
 - Concluding an argument (To summarise my point..., In conclusion..., The evidence supports that...,)
 - In Parliamentary debate (Mr. Speaker, sir/madam may I take this opportunity to... I wish to interject..., I would like to bring to the attention of this house...)

Activity 2: Using appropriate language to debate on cross-cutting issues:

- organise the class to conduct a debate session on any of the following motions:
 - Is time management an inborn skill or one that is developed over time?
 - Should schools include mental health education in the curriculum?
 - A healthy diet is more important than regular exercise.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Video clips on debate
- Worksheets/charts with appropriate language used in debate

- Picture showing two panels of one proposing and the other opposing

3.0. EXPECTED STANDARD: Language to debate on different cross cutting issues used correctly.

Assessment:

- Learners take turns to debate on different motions and are scored based on clarity of expression, tone of voice, voice projection, body language.

Summary

- Debate is a formal discussion where two parties present opposing views on a topic.
- Debates are common in education, politics and competitions to explore different views on important issues.
- In debate there are two sides, opposing and proposing.
- Appropriate language is used in debate.

TOPIC: COMPREHENSION

1.0 INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Comprehension is a process of active engagement that leads to accurate understanding and interpretation of what is heard or read. The importance of comprehension lies in its application to real-life situations such as understanding instructions, engaging in conversations, and interpreting information. Learners will read passages, extract main ideas, and engage in discussions to enhance their understanding. This topic introduces learners to the basic skills of comprehension, focusing on reading comprehension.
- General Competence(s)
 - Communication: Apply good reading skills.
 - Critical Thinking: Analyse texts to improve the ability to understand.
- Hook: Have you ever read something and felt like you understood every word, but still missed the deeper meaning?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Skimming: reading quickly to note only the important points
- Scanning: reading carefully to find specific information

- Factual: true, accurate, corresponding to reality
- Inference: conclusion reached on the basis of evidence and reasoning

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: INTENSIVE READING

- INTRODUCTION: The ability to read with understanding allows a learner to understand other subjects in school. Learners need to develop skills in reading at a good speed, answering questions, recalling details and understanding meaning of unfamiliar words. This lesson gives an opportunity for the learner to practise and develop intensive reading skills.
- SPECIFIC COMPETENCE: Read and comprehend information (Intensive Reading)

2.1.LEARNING ACTIVITIES:

Activity 1: Intensive reading and comprehending various pieces of information or texts:

- Ask learners to skim through the passage to get the general idea
- Time learners to ensure that they read at a speed of 200 words per minute.
- Guide learners to avoid bad reading habits

PASSAGE

1. Stress is the body's natural, human response to challenges or demands. It is a feeling of being under pressure, overwhelmed, or unable to cope with certain situations. Many different situations can cause stress, and this can change depending on our age. For instance, stress in teenagers may be caused by examinations, bullying, or difficult family situations. In comparison, young and older adults may struggle with stress relating to employment or significant events like becoming a parent and managing long-term health conditions.
2. Stress in relationships can affect the way you think, feel, and behave. Stress in relationships can be as a result of arguments, family difficulties, illnesses, and bereavements.
3. Stress can also be work related. For example, feeling a lack of control over your job, needing to continually work harder and for longer, worries about unemployment and not feeling rewarded for hard work can contribute to stress at work.

4. Money and debt concerns are placing huge pressure on many of us, especially with the high cost of living. Many people are struggling to pay bills and grocery prices. To avoid money related stress and mental health difficulties, financial literacy comes in handy.
5. When stressed, many people are tempted to turn to alcohol, nicotine, or other recreational drugs to help them cope. However, drugs such as alcohol can have a depressant effect, so, when they wear off, can make us feel worse. In some cases, people may start to consume them in larger doses to maintain the initial sense of relief. However, this can lead to dependence and worsen stress.
6. It is important to note that the ones mentioned here are not the only causes of stress. If you or someone you know is struggling with stress, it may be due to any one of these factors or it may be something else entirely.
7. As long-term stress can be damaging to our mental and physical health, it is important to know how to reduce stress through daily coping skills.
8. To understand when stress is causing you a problem, try to connect your feelings or physical signs with the pressure you are facing in your life. Remember to look out for the physical warnings, such as tense muscles, over tiredness, headaches or migraines, as well as emotional signs like irritability and forgetfulness.
9. Once you notice feelings of stress in your body or mind, try to pause for a moment. What happened right before you noticed these feelings? Tracking your physical and mental sensations of stress over a couple of days or weeks can help you pinpoint where they are coming from and where in your life you could make changes. Check your lifestyle habits, engage in physical activity, get restful sleep and keep a healthy diet. Be kind to yourself by not blaming yourself and practicing regular self-care, maintain a routine with a definite daily pattern of sleeping, eating and exercising. Stay away from alcohol and nicotine.
10. It is okay to ask for professional help if you feel that you are struggling to manage stress on your own.

(Adapted from Mentalhealth.org.uk)

Activity 2: Discussing the main points.

- Use the question-and-answer technique to lead a discussion of the new vocabulary in passage

Activity 3: Retelling details of stories or passages.

- Ask learners to say any facts they have learnt from the passage

Activity 4: Scanning pieces of texts to locate specific information.

- Ask learners to answer the questions in their books

Activity 5: Answering factual and inference questions.

- Ask learners questions based on the reading passage

Activity 6: Deducing meanings of unfamiliar words and idiomatic expressions.

- Learners bring out unfamiliar words and they are discussed in class

Activity 7: Drawing inferences from texts by direct or indirect reference.

- Learners answer questions based on the reading passage.

Activity 8: Describing feelings, qualities and motives of characters in stories.

- Ask the learners to express their feelings about the passage

QUESTIONS

1. According to Paragraph 1, stress is a...
A. challenge.
B. change.
C. demand.
D. feeling.
2. Paragraph 1, the following are causes of stress in young and older adults except...
A. becoming parents
B. employment.
C. examinations.
D. health conditions
3. According to the passage, a young trained person awaiting deployment is likely to suffer from...
A. Long term stress
B. Mental health stress
C. Stress in relationships
D. Work related stress
4. Fill in the blanks with one word to complete information from Paragraph 4
Many (i)..... need financial (ii)..... to avoid suffering the effects of the high (iii) of living as they struggle to pay (iv) and grocery prices.
5. Paragraph 5. “However, this can lead to dependence...” What does the word ‘this’ refer to?
A. can feel worsened stress
B. consuming drugs in larger doses
C. coping with recreational drugs
D. turning to alcohol and nicotine
6. Which of the following statements is true about the passage?
A. Alcohol is a solution to stress

- B. Tense muscles is a physical warning of stress
- C. There are very few situations that can cause stress
- D. To overcome stress, avoid sleeping and exercising

7. What would be the best title for this passage?

- A. Causes of stress
- B. Challenges and stress
- C. Health and stress
- D. Stress in teenagers

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Teaching module
- Worksheets with vocabulary
- Reading comprehension passage (text on life skills)

EXPECTED STANDARD- Information read and comprehended correctly.

Assessment:

- Learners discuss the main points of the passage in pairs.
- Use the question-and-answer technique to lead a discussion of the new vocabulary in the passage.
- Learners comprehensively answer questions based on the passage

SUMMARY

- Intensive Reading is the ability to read with understanding.
- It allows a learner to understand other subjects in school.
- Learners need to develop skills in reading at a good speed.
- It is important for learners to apply intensive reading skills in daily life.
- Comprehension skills help learners to reach deeper meaning in the text.

COMPOSITION WRITING

TOPIC: NARRATIVES

1.0 INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Narrative writing is a type of composition that tells a story with a clear beginning, middle and end. It involves presenting a sequence of events, either real or imagined, in a way that engages the reader. It usually has characters who drive the action. Narratives can be written in different ways with characters as the main movers of the action. A strong narrative engages the audience by creating vivid imagery and emotional depth. It can be fiction or non-fiction. In this topic we are going to focus on story writing.
- General Competence(s)

- Communication: Effectively share one's thoughts and emotions and understand others
- Creativity and Innovation: Organise information and ideas
- Hook: What if the life you thought was yours was actually a lie?

Key Terms /Words/Vocabulary

Plot: sequence of events in a story

Sequence: order in which events are told

Characters: people or animals that take part in the events

Setting: time and space where the story takes place

Point of view: the perspective from which the story is told

Theme: the underlying message or lesson of the story

Narrator: The voice that tells the story

Suspense: a technique used to build tension and keep the audience

2.0 SUB-TOPIC: Story Writing

• INTRODUCTION

Story writing is an important aspect of writing that allows a writer to share experiences and feelings and lets readers know about different cultures and ways of life. Story writing or story telling enhances creativity and imagination. A story can be told from different points of view. This lesson will allow learners to tell stories.

- SPECIFIC COMPETENCE: Write stories

LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Activity 1: Identifying the elements of a narrative

- Ask Learners to read a given story (Teacher can also read the story aloud to the class)

Sample story

A Bridge for Nabwalya Village

In Nabwalya village of the Muchinga escarpment, there was a river that divided the land. For many years, the villagers struggled to cross it, using canoes that were often swept away by strong currents.

In the village was a young woman named Mulenga. She was not a village elder and she did not have any position of leadership. Mulenga saw the struggles of the people and decided to act. One day, after nearly losing her only child to the rushing waters, she gathered the villagers and proposed an idea. She suggested that the villagers unite to build a sturdy bridge that could connect the two sides of the village.

Many villagers doubted her. Mulenga's cousin Bupe even teased her about how a helpless woman like her could manage to convince the entire village.

"We have always lived this way," said one old woman

Others wondered how they could build a bridge without any materials. Despite the discouragement, Mulenga refused to give up on her idea. She started gathering some stones from the river bank and piled them in heaps. She started calling on other young women to help her. The women saw her determination and slowly one by one they started joining her. Seeing the women's efforts, the village carpenter offered his skills, the blacksmith his tools, and the children carried smaller stones.

Days turned into months, through thick and thin, Mulenga never lost hope. When motivation waned, she reminded them of their vision- a future where no one feared to cross the river. She listened to their concerns. When new challenges came, she adapted to them and ensured that every hand and effort felt valued.

Finally, after a year, the bridge stood strong, a testament to what unity and leadership could achieve. On the day of its unveiling, the village celebrated not only the crossing, but also the woman who had led them with courage, patience and unwavering belief.

- Lead learners in identifying the elements of a story based on the story read
- The following are the elements of the story:
 - Setting: place, time, lifestyle, and weather associated with the events in a story
 - Character: person or another being in a narrative e.g. main characters and minor characters
 - Plot: sequence of events in which each event affects the next
 - Theme: central topic or message in a story
 - Style: a unique way an author expresses their thoughts through word choice
 - Conflict: struggle between opposing forces in a narrative
- Emphasise that a story should have the above discussed elements in order to give clarity and capture the reader's interest.

Activity 2. Composing stories

- Teacher divides learners into groups and distributes worksheets with jumbled Sentences (based on picture strips/jumbled sentences, paragraphs...)
- Teacher asks learners to rearrange them and create a story.

Activity 3: Writing short stories using a clear layout

- Teacher explains that a story should have a beginning, middle and ending
- Ask Learners to write narratives based on given situations (completing story or writing from a question, changing a point of view)
- Instruct Learners to complete the given story using the first person narration:

Example:

In my village, Nabwalya of the Muchinga escarpment, there was a river that divided the land. For many years, we struggled to cross it using canoes that were swept away by strong currents.

Suggested teaching and learning materials:

- Plot maps
- Model story
- Picture strips showing various settings and characters
- Worksheets with prompts

EXPECTED STANDARD: Stories written correctly

Assessment: Ask learners to write stories from a different point of view.

SUMMARY

- Story writing involves telling a real or imaginary story
- When writing short stories, there is need to follow a clear layout (beginning, middle and ending)
- A story needs to have a title, plot, characters, setting, theme, conflict, style (elements of a story)
- It is possible to write stories based on given situations (completing story or writing from a question,

STRUCTURE

Topic: RESULT

1.0 INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Result is used to express the outcome or effect of a particular cause or action. The structure helps us to connect actions to their consequences.
- General Competence(s)
 - Communication: Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively
 - Use appropriate language in different situations
- Hook: Every action we take leads to an outcome. What language can help us to express how one event triggers another?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Cause and effect: the relationship between an action (cause) and its consequence (effect)
- Outcome: The end result or effect of an action
- Consequence: a result, especially one that follows an action naturally or logically

2.0. SUBTOPIC: Different Ways of Expressing Result

• INTRODUCTION

When we want to express result in a sentence, we use certain structures to show cause and effect relationships. In such constructions, an action or situation is connected to its result. This lesson explores different ways of expressing result.

3.0.SPECIFIC COMPETENCE: Use different expressions of result in sentences

4.0.LEARNING ACTIVITIES

Activity 1: Discussing different expressions of result

Type 1: Using Therefore, as a result, for this reason, consequently, to express result

- Ask a tall learner to come to the board and touch the top of the board.
- Then write:

Lombe is tall. Therefore, she can touch the top of the board.

- Explain that in this type of expression of result, two sentences are used.

e.g. The bridge was swept away. Therefore, Mwila could not cross the river.

As a result,

For this reason,

Consequently,

Note that a comma is needed after the word used to express result.

- Explain the other ways of expressing result as follows:

Type 2: Using so to express result

The two ideas are joined into one sentence using the word so

A comma is needed before the word so.

e.g. Lombe is tall, so she can touch the top of the board
 The bridge was swept away, so Mwila could not cross the river.
 She learnt how to budget, so she saved enough money to buy a new bag.

Type 3: Using so...that to express result

In this type, the two ideas are joined by using so...that

Between so and that, there should be an adjective or an adverb.

- e.g. Lombe is so tall that she can touch the top of the board
Annel was so careful that he did not contract Covid-19.

Type 4: Using such (a)...that to express result

In this type, such (a)...that is used to join two ideas into one sentence. The article a is used when referring to a singular noun and is dropped when referring to a plural noun.

- e.g. Lombe is such a tall girl that she can touch the top of the board

Activity 2: Constructing sentences to express Result

- Ask learners to look around the classroom and construct sentences to express result.
e.g.
The classroom is so big that we can all fit.
The floor is very clean. Therefore, I can sit on it.
The room is so dark that I cannot see.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Table showing expressions of cause and effect
- Chart
- Flashcards with sentences expressing result

EXPECTED STANDARD: Different expressions of result in sentences used correctly

Assessment

Ask learners to pick sentences from column A and join with one from column B. Use any of the words learnt to express result.

A

The boys were found using drugs

Our ice cream melted

There was too much Gender based violence in the country

She collapsed at the office

Mazuba was a good leader

She could not buy a ticket for the movie

The accountant did not have enough rest

Everyone liked her

Mulimona did not have breakfast

The women staged a demonstration

Bupe finished her pocket money

They were arrested by the Drug Enforcement Commission

It was very hot

She felt weak

SUMMARY

- Discussing different expressions of result
- Constructing sentences to express Result

TOPIC: SUMMARY WRITING

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: A summary is a concise and brief retelling of the main points and key details from a larger piece of content, such as an article, book, movie or speech. It extracts the essential information into a shorter format while preserving the core message or storyline. Summarising is a vital skill in both academic and everyday settings. It allows individuals to shorten lengthy texts or stories into their most important points, making information more manageable and easier to communicate.

This topic will look at Title Summary.

- General Competence(s):
 - Critical Thinking: Analyse texts to improve the ability to understand.
 - Creativity and Innovation: Organise information and ideas
- Hook: What if the success of a story or idea depended on just one perfect line-The title?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Title- the name of a book, composition, or other artistic work.
A name or label given to something

2.0. SUB-TOPIC - TITLE SUMMARY

INTRODUCTION:

A concise title can help convey the main idea of the passage and provide context for the reader. Titles are like a sneak peek into the content they represent, giving us a glimpse of what to expect, and always appear at the top of the passage or cover of a book.

Specific Competence(s) – Choose best title summary

Learning Activities

Activity 1: Reading given passage.

- Ask learners to read a given passage.

Too many challenges in one's life affect mental health. Your overall well-being, how you think, feel and handle life can show the state of your mental health. Mental health care should be a priority in anyone's life. It is all about, consistent efforts that strengthen resilience and help you feel at ease. Making self-care a priority, staying active, connecting with other people helps you to improve your mental health. Setting realistic goals for yourself and seeking professional help when you need it can also help.

- A. Causes of Mental Health
- B. Improving Mental Health
- C. Mental Health Care
- D. Mental Health Challenge

Fast food may be useful, but its regular consumption can have serious health concerns. Many fast foods are high in unhealthy fats, sugars and sodium which can contribute to obesity, heart disease, diabetes and high blood pressure. Fast foods can sometimes lack important nutrients, resulting in poor food balance. Fast foods have environmental and economic disadvantages. They increase waste and cause dependence on large companies that may be more interested in making profit than healthy food. While a special fast-food meal once in a while is not harmful, careful choices are necessary to maintain a healthy lifestyle.

- A. Consumption of Fast Foods
- B. Convenient Fast Foods
- C. Moderation of Fast Foods
- D. Negative Effects of Fast Foods

Choosing best title for given paragraph

- Ask the learners to recall what they learnt in the first term on titles
- Explain that a title is a summary of what a passage, book, film, song is about. It is a name or label given to something.

- The learners are led into discussing a title and its characteristics

Characteristics of a good title

Clear- straight forward and easy to understand, avoiding ambiguity.

Brief –concise delivering meaning in as few words as possible

Relevant- connects with the content or subject it represents. It grabs attention and set expectations.

- Ask learners to choose the best title from the given passages

Supplying the best title summary.

- Provide a passage to the learners and ask them to give it a title.

Example:

A good life is every person's dream. Every human being wants to enjoy a healthy and happy life. One way of achieving this is through personal hygiene. Personal hygiene is a practice of maintaining cleanliness and grooming of the body to promote health and wellbeing. However, some people do not realise the importance of hygiene. For instance, Mutinta, a Form one pupil once struggled with frequent illnesses and low self-esteem. He rarely bathed, wore dirty clothes, and never brushed his teeth. His classmates avoided him, and he felt lonely and sad. One day, his teacher gave a lesson on personal hygiene and its importance in living a healthy life. The lesson opened Mutinta's eyes. He decided to change. He began waking up early to bathe, brushing his teeth twice a day, and washing his clothes regularly.

Suggested teaching and learning materials:

- Sample paragraphs

EXPECTED STANDARD- Best title summary chosen correctly.

Assessment

Ask learners to read given passages and provide suitable titles.

SUMMARY

- A good title gives a clear idea of what a piece of writing contains, yet it uses very few words.
- It is supposed to be clear, brief and relevant.

CHAPTER 2: NATIONAL VALUES AND PRINCIPLES

DRAMA

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Drama is a type of storytelling performed on stage or screen, where actors portray characters and emotions through dialogue and actions, often exploring conflicts and themes in human life. Drama, as an art form, has been a powerful medium for storytelling for centuries, and it continues to be relevant in various aspects of society. This topic will explore short plays, a form of drama that tells interesting stories within a limited timeframe. It will examine their structure, key elements, and how they reflect real-life issues. Short plays offer a condensed, yet impactful way to engage with complex human emotions and situations, making them relevant in both entertainment and life lessons.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Effectively share one's thoughts and emotions and understand others.
 - Manage one's emotions.
 - Creativity and innovation:
 - Organise information and ideas
 - Justify one's reasoning and procedures
 - Ask thoughtful questions
- Hook: Can someone make you laugh, cry, or rethink your own beliefs?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY:

- Short Play: A concise form of drama typically lasting 15-30 minutes, focusing on brief yet impactful storytelling.
- Character: The individuals in the play who perform actions, speak dialogue, and undergo development throughout the story.
- Characterisation: The way in which an author develops characters, showing their personality and growth throughout the play.
- Audience: The people who watch the performance, interpret the play, and respond to its themes, emotions, and events.

- Narrator: (If present) A voice or character that provides background information or commentary to help the audience understand the context or events.
- Scene: A specific section of the play, often occurring in a single location, where characters interact and events unfold. Scenes typically change as the setting or time shifts.
- Act: A major division in the play, often consisting of several scenes. Acts help structure the flow of the story and mark significant changes in the plot.
- Plot: The sequence of events in the play, including the conflict, climax, and resolution, that drive the action and reveal the themes.
- Dialogue: The conversation between characters in a play, which drives the plot and reveals character traits.
- Conflict: The central problem or challenge that drives the plot in a play, often between characters or within oneself.
- Resolution: The conclusion or solution to the conflict, often providing closure to the story.
- Setting: The time and place in which the play's events occur, establishing the context for the story.
- Theme: The underlying message or central idea explored in the play, such as love, loss, or justice.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: SHORT PLAYS

- Introduction:

A short play is a form of drama that tells interesting stories within a limited timeframe.

- Specific Competence: Use appropriate language to dramatise short plays

Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing basic elements of a short play

- Lead Learners in a discussion on the elements of a short play (character, dialogue, audience, narrator, scene, act, plot...)
- Provide the class with a short play excerpt from a simplified version of a famous play, Romeo and Juliet by William Shakespeare, or any modern short play that is age-appropriate and hand out the first scene.

Step 1: Reading the Excerpt

Assign learners to read the short play excerpt in groups or pairs.

Here is a short excerpt from Romeo and Juliet by William Shakespeare, Act 1, Scene 5, which you can use for your classroom situation:

Romeo:

(To Juliet)

If I'm being too bold by touching your hand,

Then let me make it right—
My lips are like shy pilgrims,
Ready to smooth things over with a gentle kiss.

Juliet:

Good pilgrim, you're being too hard on your hand—
It's showing proper devotion.
Even saints allow pilgrims to touch their hands—
Holding palms is like a holy kiss between them.

Romeo:

Don't saints and pilgrims have lips too?

Juliet:

Yes, but lips are meant for praying.

Romeo:

Then, my dear saint, let lips do what hands do:
They pray. Please let me kiss you—
Or my faith might turn into despair.

Juliet:

Saints don't move, even when prayers are granted.
So don't move—let me answer your prayer this way.
(She kisses him)
Now, by your kiss, you've taken away my sin.

Romeo:

Then my lips now carry that sin. What should I do?
(They kiss again)

This excerpt is from the famous moment when Romeo and Juliet meet and share their first kiss. It's a great scene to analyse, as it contains key elements of character, dialogue, and plot.

Step 2: Group Discussion

After learners have read the scene, divide the class into small groups. Each group is given a set of questions to help them focus on identifying the basic elements of the play. Questions could include:

- Character: Who are the main characters in this scene? What do we learn about them through their dialogue and actions?
- Dialogue: What important information is revealed through the characters' conversations? How does the dialogue express the emotions or conflict in the scene?
- Audience: Imagine you are watching this play performed. What kind of reactions might the audience have to this scene?
- Narrator: Is there a narrator in this scene? If not, how does the dialogue or the stage direction help us understand the story?

- Scene: What is the setting of the story? How does it affect the mood or tone of the play?
- Act: How does this scene fit within the larger structure of the play? If the play were divided into acts, what would this scene represent?
- Plot: What is the main event or conflict that happens in this scene? How does it move the story forward?

Step 3: Whole-Class Sharing

After the group discussions, ask group representatives to share their thoughts on each of the elements. Guide the discussion with additional questions or clarifications. For example:

- What role does the setting play in shaping the characters' actions?
- How does the dialogue between Romeo and Juliet reveal their feelings toward each other?
- What would the audience likely feel at this point in the play?

Step 4: Reflection and Application

- Ask learners to reflect on the importance of these elements in understanding the play. For instance:
 - Why do you think the characters' dialogue is so crucial in revealing the plot of the play?
 - How do these elements (character, plot, etc.) work together to create the overall impact of the play?
- Ensure that by the end of the lesson, learners have a clearer understanding of how basic elements like character, dialogue, and plot contribute to the structure and meaning of a short play.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Excerpt from Romeo and Juliet Act 1 scene 5
- Short plays
- Character Charts: with names of characters in the play and brief descriptions of their traits.

EXPECTED STANDARD: Language to dramatise short plays used appropriately

Assessment:

Written Assessment (Quiz/Tests):

- Evaluate learners' understanding of the basic elements of the play through individual written responses by administering a written quiz or a set of open-ended questions. These may include:
 - Closed Questions: Multiple-choice or true/false questions about the characters, plot, or setting.

Example: “Who says the lines, ‘My lips, two blushing pilgrims, ready stand...’?”

- Open-Ended Questions:

Questions that require learners to explain concepts in depth.

Example: "How does the dialogue between Romeo and Juliet in this scene demonstrate their developing relationship?"

SUMMARY:

- The topic focuses on analysing the basic elements of a short play using Romeo and Juliet. Key elements include character, dialogue, audience, narrator, scene, act, and plot, which together shape the structure and meaning of the play.
- The goal is for learners to understand how these elements interact and contribute to the narrative.
- Learners will analyse these elements to deepen their understanding of any play.

COMPREHENSION

1.0 INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Comprehension is an active process of understanding spoken or written information. It is important for real-life tasks, like following instructions, having conversations, and interpreting information. This topic focuses on building basic comprehension skills, especially listening. Learners will practise listening to passages, identifying main ideas, and participating in discussions to improve their understanding.
- General Competence(s):
 - Collaboration:
 - Respect the views of group members while working together.
 - Listen to other group members and make meaningful contribution to a given task
 - Communication:
 - Apply good Listening and Speaking Skills
- Hook: Have you ever struggled to understand instructions because you missed a key detail?

KEY TERMS/WORDS/VOCABULARY:

- Comprehension: The ability to understand something.
- Passage: A complete piece of writing that conveys a specific idea, message or story.
- Retelling: Tell a story again or differently.
- Interpretation: The process of explaining the meaning of something.
- Main Idea: The primary message, point or argument that a text, passage or author is trying to convey.
- Details: Elements or pieces of information that collectively describe or explain a topic, situation or object.
- Active Listening: Fully concentrating, understanding, and responding to what is being said.
- Discussion: The action or process of talking about something in order to reach a decision or to exchange ideas.
- Paraphrasing: Restating someone else's ideas in your own words to ensure understanding.
- Listening Skills: The abilities needed to hear, interpret, and respond to spoken information.
- Verbal Communication: The use of words to convey information or express ideas.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: LISTENING COMPREHENSION

- Introduction: Listening comprehension is the ability to understand spoken information. In this lesson, learners will practise listening carefully to passages and identifying key ideas. This skill is essential for following instructions, engaging in conversations, and acquiring new knowledge.
- Specific Competence(s): Listen and comprehend information.

Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Listening to a read passage or information

- Write the title “The Tortoise and the Hare” and ask learners to predict what the story might be about.
- Read the passage and encourage learners to listen carefully.
- Explain to the learners that this story teaches valuable lessons about patience, perseverance, and the idea that slow and steady can win the race. It is widely recognised across many African cultures, making it a relatable and engaging choice for learners.

The Tortoise and the Hare (Summarised Version)

Once upon a time, in a forest, there was a boastful hare who was very proud of his speed. He often teased the tortoise for being so slow. One day, the tortoise became tired of the hare's teasing and challenged him to a race.

The hare, confident he would win easily, agreed to the race. When the race began, the hare quickly sped ahead and, feeling so sure of his victory, decided to rest under a tree. Meanwhile, the tortoise continued to move slowly but steadily, never stopping.

While the hare slept, the tortoise kept going and eventually passed him. When the hare woke up, he rushed to the finish line but was too late. The tortoise had already won the race.

(Source: Aesop's Fables – "The Tortoise and Hare")

Now read the next passage.

The Lion and the Mouse (Summarised Version)

One day, a lion was sleeping in the forest when a small mouse accidentally ran across his paw. The lion woke up and caught the mouse in his huge paw, ready to eat it. The mouse, frightened, begged the lion to let him go, promising to help the lion someday in return.

The lion, amused by the tiny mouse's promise, decided to let him go. Not long after, the lion was trapped in a hunter's net. The mouse heard the lion's roars for help and quickly ran to him. Using its sharp teeth, the mouse chewed through the ropes and freed the lion.

The lion was grateful and realised that even a small creature can be a big help.

- The story teaches that kindness is never wasted, and even the smallest acts can make a big difference.

Activity 2: Discussing the Passages

- Pair learners and ask them to re-tell the story in their own words.
- Ask a few pairs to present to the rest of the class.

Activity 3: Completing given table while passage is being read.

- Provide learners with a simple table to fill out as they listen to the passage for the second time.
- Learners should fill in the table as teacher is reading.

Sample Table:

Story Element	Details
Main Characters	Write down the names of the characters in the story
Setting	Where and when does the story take place?
Problem	What problem do the characters face in the story?
Solution	How is the problem solved?
Lesson/Message	What lesson or moral does the story teach?

Activity 4: Answering questions based on the read passage or information.

- Ask questions based on the passage. Example questions:

Questions based on “The Tortoise and the Hare” story:

1. What made the tortoise win the race despite being slower than the hare?
2. What lesson do you think the hare learned after losing the race to the tortoise?

NOTE: These questions will help learners recall specific details from the story while also encouraging them to reflect on the underlying message of the tale.

Ask questions based on “The Lion and the Mouse” passage (These questions will help learners engage with the story on both a factual and reflective level):

1. What do you think the lion learned from his experience with the mouse?
2. How do you think the mouse felt when he was able to help the lion? Why?

Suggested Teaching and Learning materials:

- Short stories/passages
- Pre-recorded stories/passages

EXPECTED STANDARD: Information listened to and comprehended correctly.

Assessment:

- Practical Demonstration: Observe how well learners re-tell the story in their groups.
- Written Assessment: Observe how learners participate in the given assignment and whether they are able to listen to information and comprehend correctly.

SUMMARY:

- Comprehension is the ability to understand spoken or written information.
- Listening carefully is the first step to good comprehension.
- Activities like re-telling a story, filling in tables, and answering questions improve listening comprehension skills.
- These activities help learners focus on key details and better process the information.
- Engaging in these activities promotes better retention and interpretation of what has been heard or read.

COMPOSITION WRITING

Topic: DESCRIPTIVE WRITING

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Descriptive writing is an essential skill in both personal and professional contexts, as it allows individuals to vividly convey experiences, emotions, and observations to others. In real life, effective descriptive writing helps people communicate more clearly and persuasively, whether it is in creative writing, business reports, or everyday conversations. Descriptive writing plays a vital role in real-life situations as it enhances the ability to communicate effectively and vividly.

We can write a description of a person, an animal or an object.

This lesson will look at a description of an animal.

- General Competences:
 - Communication: Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
 - Emotional Intelligence: Communicate and relate effectively with others
- Hook: How would you use words to paint a picture in the mind of the reader?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Imagery: Words or phrases that appeal to the senses (sight, smell, touch, taste, hearing).
- Figurative Language: Non-literal expressions like metaphors, similes, and personification used to enhance descriptions.

- Adjectives: words that modify nouns.
- Personification: Attributing human characteristics to non-human things.
- Metaphor: A figure of speech comparing two unlike things directly.
- Simile: A figure of speech comparing two unlike things using “like” or “as.”

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: Describing an Animal

- Introduction: Descriptive composition involves painting a vivid picture of a subject using detailed language. When describing an animal, the aim is to capture its appearance, behaviour, and unique traits to engage the reader's senses. The main focus is on describing an animal's physical features, movements, sounds, and habitat. The goal is to create a clear, engaging image of the animal that allows readers to connect with it through rich, sensory details.

2.1.SPECIFIC COMPETENCE: Write a description of an animal.

Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Reading model descriptive compositions on animals.

- Learners read the passage.

A Description of a Monkey

A monkey is a lively creature, full of energy. Its fur is a soft blanket of golden-brown, with a lighter cream colour on its belly. Like a crown, its fur glows in the sunlight, shimmering as it moves. Its face is full of character: large, dark eyes that sparkle with curiosity, a small, flat nose, and a mischievous smile that never fades.

The monkey's hands are like tiny, delicate claws, quick and nimble. It swings through the trees with the grace of a dancer, leaping from branch to branch, its long tail curling like a coiled rope to keep balance. With each leap, its tail snaps and sways, a silent partner to its acrobatics.

The forest is filled with the monkey's chatter—high-pitched calls that rise and fall like a song. "Chatter-chatter!" it cries, the sound echoing off the trees. When it moves, it is a blur of motion, quick as lightning, darting in every direction. Its tiny feet tap, tap, tap on the tree trunks, a rhythmic beat against the jungle's hum.

It pauses, eyes wide with excitement, and plucks a juicy fruit from a branch. Its small hands twist it free, bringing it to its lips with the precision of a magician. The fruit crunches as the monkey bites, the sound sharp and satisfying in the quiet air.

In the thick, green jungle, the monkey is at home. The trees stretch high above, their leaves rustling like whispers in the wind. The monkey moves through this world, alive and ever-curious, with the forest as its playground and the sky as its limit.

Activity 2: Discussing features of a descriptive composition

- Learners list down the key features of an animal. (physical features, personality, age and lifestyle)
- Encourage learners to note sensory details such as sounds, textures, and movements. Example: What does the animal look like? How does it move? What does it eat? What sound does it make?

Activity 3: Using appropriate descriptive language

- Encourage Learners to use a variety of nouns, adjectives, adverbs and words that appeal to the five senses
- Encourage learners to use descriptive language (For example: *Like a crown, its fur glows in the sunlight; Its fur is a soft blanket of golden-brown)

Activity 4: Writing short descriptive compositions of animals.

- Learners write descriptions of animals based on given questions
For example: Write a composition on any of the following topics:
 - a. Our new dog
 - b. My Pet
 - c. The King of the Jungle (Lion)

Suggested teaching and learning materials:

- Worksheets with descriptive words
- A sample description of an animal

Expected Standard- Description of an animal written correctly.

Assessment:

- Learners choose an animal (either familiar or exotic) and write a detailed description focusing on sensory details like appearance, behaviour, and habitat
- Learners write short descriptions on given topics (Describe including physical traits, sounds, movements, and personal impressions to engage the reader).

Summary

- Descriptive writing helps convey experiences, emotions, and observations clearly and vividly.
- It is crucial in both personal and professional contexts, enhancing communication and engagement.
- The aim is to let learners paint a vivid picture by describing the animal's appearance, behaviour, and habitat using sensory details.
- Focus is on physical traits (size, shape, color), behaviour (movement, sounds, personality), and habitat.

TOPIC: ADVERBS

1.0.Introduction

- Overview: Adverbs are words that modify or give more information about verbs, adjectives, or other adverbs in a sentence. Understanding the position of adverbs is crucial in constructing clear and accurate sentences. This topic will explore the different positions where adverbs can appear within a sentence, such as before or after the main verb, at the beginning or end of a sentence, and how these positions can change the meaning or emphasis of the sentence.
- General Competence:
 - Communication: Express oneself (Spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
- Hook: What is the difference between these two sentences? Only Sara ate the cake. Versus Sara only ate the cake.

KEY TERMS / WORDS / VOCABULARY

- Adverb: A word that modifies a verb, adjective, or another adverb.
- Verb: An action or state of being in a sentence.
- Adjective: A word that modifies or describes a noun.
- Adverbial Phrase: A group of words that act as an adverb.
- Position: The placement of an adverb within a sentence (e.g., beginning, middle, end).
- Modifier: A word or phrase that provides more information about another element in the sentence.
- Emphasis: The focus or importance given to a particular part of the sentence, often influenced by adverb placement.

2.0. SUBTOPIC: POSITION OF ADVERBS

- Introduction:

Adverbs modify verbs, adjectives, or other adverbs, and their position plays a key role in sentence structure and meaning. By understanding the placement of different types of adverbs (such as those of place, time, frequency, manner, and many others), learners will gain a deeper understanding of sentence construction, improving both their written and spoken communication. In this topic, learners will explore how adverbs are positioned within sentences and how their placement can affect the overall meaning and emphasis of the sentence.

- Specific Competence: Use adverbs in different positions in sentences.

- Learning Activities:

- Activity 1: Discussing the Different Kinds of Adverbs

- Introduce and explain the different kinds of adverbs: adverbs of place, time, frequency, manner, and degree.
 - Adverbs of place answer the question "Where?" (e.g., here, there, everywhere).
 - Adverbs of time answer the question "When?" (e.g., now, later, soon).
 - Adverbs of frequency answer the question "How often?" (e.g., always, often, never).
 - Adverbs of manner answer the question "How?" (e.g., quickly, carefully, slowly).
 - Adverbs of degree answer the question "To what extent?" (e.g., very, too, quite).
 - Give class a set of sentences with adverbs missing, as an example.

- Example:

1. Peter ate the fruit _____, (hungrily)
 2. I _____ read a book before going to bed. (always)
 3. The bag was _____ heavy _____.(very)
 4. _____ left the book _____. (here)
 5. She painted the portrait _____.(beautifully)
 6. The song was _____ composed. (creatively)
- Learners work in pairs or small groups to identify the type of adverb that would fit into each sentence and explain why.
 - Learners then share their answers and reasoning with the class.
 - Clarify any misunderstandings.

Activity 2: Using Adverbs in Different Positions in Sentences

- Present a series of sentences with adverbs in different positions (e.g., beginning, middle, and end of the sentence).
- Class analyses how the meaning of the sentence changes based on the placement of the adverb. For example:
 - There they are. vs. They are there.
 - She spoke softly. vs. Softly, she spoke.
- Learners work individually or in pairs to re-arrange sentences with given adverbs, focusing on the placement of the adverb and discussing the effects of changing its position.
- Explain that:
 - adverbs of place typically follow the verb or object, though they can be moved to the beginning of a sentence for emphasis (e.g., She went there vs. There she went).
 - Adverbs of time can be placed at the beginning or end of a sentence, but placing them at the beginning emphasizes the time element (e.g., Tomorrow, we will leave vs. We will leave tomorrow).
 - Adverbs of frequency usually come before the main verb (e.g., "She always wakes up early) but after the verb "to be" (e.g., She is always late).
 - Adverbs of manner often follow the verb or object, but can also be placed at the beginning of the sentence for stylistic effect (e.g., He runs fast vs. Fast, he runs.)
 - Changing the position of an adverb can change the emphasis or focus of the sentence.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Sentence strips with incomplete sentences for learners to complete with adverbs.
- Black/Whiteboard for demonstrating how word order changes in a sentence.
- Handouts with sentences for learners to rearrange and discuss.

4. Expected Standard: Adverbs in different positions in sentences used appropriately.

Assessment:

- Observation: Teacher observes learners as they classify adverbs and provide examples, checking for understanding of each adverb's type (place, time, frequency, manner, degree).
- Questioning: Ask learners to give additional examples of each type of adverb and explain their function in the sentence. This will help gauge whether they can identify adverbs correctly.

- Learner Review: During group work, learners can review each other's classifications of adverbs to promote collaborative learning and correct any misunderstandings.
- Quiz on Adverbs: Make sure learners understand the multiple-choice and fill-in-the-blank questions are based on the lesson's content.

Summary

- Adverbs are words that modify verbs, adjectives, or other adverbs in a sentence.
- There are different types of adverbs namely Adverbs of place, Adverbs of time, Adverbs of frequency, Adverbs of manner and Adverbs of degree
- Adverbs can appear at different positions in a sentence. Changing the position of an adverb affects the meaning, tone, or emphasis of the sentence.
- Learning to use adverbs correctly in sentences is crucial for effective communication and enhancing sentence variety.

STRUCTURE 2

TOPIC: ADJECTIVES

1.0.INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Adjectives are words used to describe or modify nouns and pronouns. They help add detail, emotion and colour to language, making speech and writing more vivid and precise. Adjectives answer questions like what kind, how many, and which one. Understanding how to use adjectives correctly can greatly improve one's ability to express ideas clearly and effectively.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Use appropriate language (verbal and non-verbal) in different situations.
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
- Hook: What three words would your best friend use to describe you?

KEY TERMS/WORDS/ VOCABULARY

- Adjective: a word that describes or says more about a noun.
- Order: arrangement of people or things in relation to each other according to a particular sequence, pattern or method.
- Noun: a word that denotes a person, place or thing.
- Pronoun: a word that takes the place of a noun.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: ORDER OF ADJECTIVES

INTRODUCTION

When describing a noun with more than one attribute, there is need to follow an acceptable sequence of adjectives. The order in which these attributes are usually arranged is general opinion, specific opinion, size, age, shape, colour, nationality, material.

- Specific Competence: Use the correct order of adjectives in sentences.

3.0.Learning Activities

Activity 1: Identifying adjectives in sentences:

- Learners identify the adjectives in sentences.

Examples:

- i. He is a kind handsome young man.
- ii. She wore a nice red dress.
- iii. I saw a cute little white cat on my way home.

Activity 2: Arranging adjectives in the correct order:

- Explain to the learners that there is need to follow an acceptable sequence when more than one adjective is describing a noun.
- Explain that the position of the adjective depends on how closely it is related in idea to the noun as follows:

Order	of	Adjective	of	Adjective	of	Adjective	NOUN
Adjectives		size, shape or weight		colour		from noun or gerund

Examples:

1. My sister has a big beautiful grey and white puppy. (size, quality, colour, colour)
 2. I keep my coins in a big square blue box. (size, shape, colour)
 3. We watched an amazing new Nigerian movie last night. (opinion, age, origin)
 4. My father bought a pair of black leather shoes for me. (colour, material)
- Ask learners to arrange a number of jumbled adjectives into the correct order (in pairs)

Example:

I love that old green beautiful dress of mine. X

I love that beautiful old green dress of mine. ✓

Exercise

1. a car (grey large American)
2. a desk (old large)
3. a watch (silver small)
4. a dress (cotton yellow cheap)
5. a jacket (leather brown untidy)
6. a house (big old beautiful appealing)

Activity 3: Constructing sentences with correct order of adjectives

- Ask learners to construct sentences of their own using the correct order of adjectives.

Example:

I bought a new blue dress.

Jane is a beautiful tall dark Zambian girl.

Suggested teaching and Learning Materials:

- Table of order of adjectives
- Worksheets with adjectives
- Objects to describe (phone, book, car, desk)

1.0.EXPECTED STANDARD: Correct order of adjectives in sentences used accordingly.

Assessment:

- Observe as the learners practice constructing sentences.
- Learners rearrange the order of adjectives in sentences.
- Individually, learners construct sentences with the correct order of adjectives.

SUMMARY

- The order of adjectives refers to the specific sequence in which multiple adjectives are arranged before a noun.
- Adjectives are words we can use to make our writing more vivid.
- The correct order of adjectives should be followed when more than one adjective is used in a description.

STRUCTURE 3

TOPIC: INTENSIFIERS

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: An intensifier is a word that strengthens or weakens or give emphasis to another word. The purpose of an intensifier is to tell us the intensity of another word.
- General Competence(s):
- Communication:
 - Use appropriate language (verbal and non-verbal) in different situations.
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
- Hook: Imagine you are asked to describe the best day of your life?

KEY TERMS/ WORDS/ VOCABULARY

- Degree: extent to which something happens.
- Intensity: strength, magnitude or degree of something.
- Adverb: a word that modifies a verb, an adjective or another adverb.
- intensifier: a word (often an adverb) used to strengthen or weaken the meaning of another word.
- Modifier: a word, phrase or clause that qualifies or describes another word.

2.0. SUBTOPIC: Using Intensifiers

- Intensifiers are words that can add intensity, degree or emphasis to a statement. There are several types of intensifiers. Some of them include: very, much, too, fairly and rather, quite, hardly, barely and scarcely, almost and nearly, just.
- Specific Competences: Use intensifiers in sentences

3.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing the use of intensifiers

- Give learners three sentences which have intensifiers
Example:
 1. Joyce is incredibly smart
 2. Chilombu is extremely happy.
 3. This meal is absolutely delicious
 4. I am utterly exhausted.
- Underline the intensifiers in the sentences
- Ask the learners what role the words are doing in the sentences.
- Explain intensifiers (adverbs) which strengthen, or give emphasis to other words.

Intensifiers

- i. Very means to a high degree

He is a very strong man.

This pie is very tasty.

- ii. Too means more than is necessary

This tea is too hot to drink.

I am too cold to walk in the rain.

What is wrong with these sentences?

He is too rich.

Siaciwena is too intelligent.

The party was too enjoyable.

These sentences do not make sense. For them to make sense we have to replace too with very.

He is very rich.

Siaciwena is very intelligent.

You should not use too when you mean very.

- iii. Much means a large amount or to a large degree.

I feel much better.

I don't earn much money

- iv. Fairly and rather both mean 'a little or moderately'. However, fairly suggests a more positive attitude than rather.

Kisu is fairly tall.

I am fairly good at mathematics.

Vitumbiko is rather lazy.

- v. Quite has two different uses. It can mean completely or a little less than.

My answer is quite different from yours. (completely).

Your composition is quite good. (a little less).

- vi. Hardly/barely/scarcely are near negatives and mean almost not.

He hardly ever goes to church. (almost doesn't)

We hardly had time to catch the train. (almost no time).

I was so tired I could scarcely keep my eyes open. (almost could not)

- vii. Almost and nearly are used to mean very near but not quite there.

The match had almost finished when the captain scored.

- viii. Just can have a similar meaning to barely, hardly and scarcely.

The party was just beginning when it started to rain.

He just managed to buy a car.

Just is often used with only.

We only just finished the exercise.

Activity 2: Identifying intensifiers in sentences

- Provide more sentences to the learners and ask them to identify words that are strengthening, or giving emphasis to other words.

Example:

1. The examination was fairly easy.
2. This food is very cold.
3. Musonda is too conservative.
4. Kalenga is quite shy.

Activity 3: Constructing sentences using intensifiers.

- Ask learners to construct their own sentences using the given intensifiers (quite, barely, rather ...)
- Give learners incomplete sentences and ask them to fill in the appropriate intensifiers

Exercise

For each of the following sentences, fill in the blanks with the words listed below.
rather, fairly, just, very, too, almost, much, quite, hardly, scarcely, barely.

1. I am..... sure I saw that boy in school this morning.
2. We have.....began the term and you are already complaining.
3. You must switch on the fan. It is hot.
4. They have..... any furniture left in the house. Most of it has been stolen.
5. I met Chansa in town. We..... said a word to each other.
6. The examination isover and all the pupils have finished writing.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Charts with intensifiers
- Worksheets with intensifiers

4.0. Expected Standard

Intensifiers used in sentences correctly.

Assessment

- Observe learners using intensifiers in sentences.
- Learners identify and highlight intensifiers in a piece of writing such as a magazine, newspaper, or text.

Summary

- Use intensifiers sparingly to avoid over emphasising or sounding insincere.
- Choose the right intensifier to convey the intended degree of emphasis.
- By using intensifiers, you can add appropriate depth and emphasis to your language making your communication more engaging.

SUMMARY WRITING

TOPIC: INTRODUCTION TO SUMMARY

1.0 Introduction

- Overview: A summary is a concise and clear restatement of the main ideas or points from a larger piece of text. It distils essential information while omitting unnecessary details, allowing readers to grasp the core meaning in a shorter form. Summarising can be done in various ways, and one of the most common methods is through a sentence summary.
This topic will look at Sentence Summary.
- General Competence(s):
 - Critical Thinking:
 - Analyse texts to improve the ability to understand.
 - Creativity and Innovation:
 - Organise information and ideas
- Hook: Have you ever explained a long story to someone in a few words but still kept the full meaning?

KEY TERMS/WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Summary: A brief and clear restatement of the main points or ideas of a text.
- Main Idea: The central concept or argument in a piece of writing.
- Concise: Expressing much in few words; brief but clear.
- Condense: To make something shorter by removing unnecessary details.
- Essential Information: The most important and relevant details.
- Overview: A general summary or outline of the content.
- Key Points: The most important aspects or elements of the material.
- Restate: To express the same idea in different words, usually more briefly.
- Omit: To leave out or exclude.
- Snapshot: A quick and clear representation of something, often capturing the main aspects in a short form.

3.0. SUB-TOPIC: SENTENCE SUMMARY

- Introduction: A sentence summary condenses the original material into a single, concise sentence that communicates the main idea or purpose of the content. It serves as a brief overview, providing a snapshot of the content in just a few words or a single sentence, while still capturing the essence of the original material. When writing a sentence summary, the goal is to highlight the most important points and ideas without getting bogged down in excessive detail. This practice is useful for quickly understanding and recalling key concepts.

Specific Competence(s): Choose the best sentence summary.

Learning Activities

Activity 1: Reading the Given Summary Passage (Paragraph)

- Provide a paragraph to the learners for reading.

Passage

In recent years, the global community has witnessed an increasing shift toward renewable energy sources. As the harmful effects of fossil fuels become more evident, countries are looking for sustainable alternatives. Solar power, wind energy, and hydropower are leading the way, with advancements in technology making these sources more efficient and cost-effective. Governments around the world are investing in green energy projects, and many companies are beginning to transition to more eco-friendly practices. This shift not only helps in reducing greenhouse gas emissions but also promotes energy security and long-term economic growth.

Despite the progress, challenges remain in the global transition to renewable energy. Some regions still lack the infrastructure or investment needed to adopt these technologies widely. Additionally, the intermittent nature of sources like solar and wind requires improved energy storage solutions. However, with continued innovation, international cooperation, and public support, the world can move closer to a cleaner, more sustainable energy future.

Activity 2: choosing the best sentence summary for a given paragraph

- Ask learners to read the paragraph carefully.
 - Encourage the class to discuss the main points of the passage.
 - Use guiding questions to ensure the learners grasp the essential concepts.
 - Ask learners to choose the best sentence summary from the following:
1. Countries are replacing fossil fuels with renewable energy because it's cheaper and easier to use.
 2. Solar and wind energy are the only alternatives being used to replace fossil fuels globally.
 3. The global focus on renewable energy is mainly about saving money and avoiding fossil fuel shortages.
 4. The world is shifting to renewable energy as a cleaner, sustainable alternative to fossil fuels, with support from governments and businesses.

Activity 3: Supplying the best Sentence Summary

- Ask learners to condense paragraph two into a single, clear sentence that summarises the core message.

Guidance for Sentence Summary:

- Explain that the goal is to capture the main idea of the paragraph in one sentence.
- Focus on the key points: the shift to renewable energy, the sources mentioned (solar, wind, hydropower), and the benefits.

Example of a Suitable Sentence Summary:

"Due to the harmful effects of fossil fuels, there has been a global shift toward renewable energy sources like solar, wind, and hydropower, which are more efficient and contribute to reducing emissions, improving energy security, and promoting economic growth."

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Summary passage
- Sample sentence summary

2.1 EXPECTED STANDARD: Best sentence summary chosen correctly

Assessment:

- Ask learners to pair up and share their sentence summaries with each other.

- Encourage learners to give constructive feedback on how well the sentence captures the core message of the paragraph.
- Encourage learners to practise writing sentence summaries for other passages as a way of improving their comprehension and synthesis skills.

Home work:

- Give worksheets with paragraph texts and ask learners to read and make sentence summaries.

 Summary

- Summary writing is important because it enhances comprehension skills and helps learners to improve writing skills by demonstrating the ability to absorb information.
- Summary writing also helps learners use the skill of Summarising to keep notes that would help them remember what they have read.
- Reiterate the importance of sentence summaries in understanding the core meaning of larger texts.

CHAPTER 3: HIV AND AIDS

PROCESS

1.0. INTRODUCTION

Overview: Mastering how to describe processes is an essential skill to transfer knowledge effectively. In this topic, learners will appreciate the value of describing a process in a professional, educational or casual setting. They will explore a variety of processes and ways of describing them.

- General Competence(s):
 - Analytical thinking: Grasp and breakdown information and effectively share with others.
 - Collaboration: Listen to other group members and make meaningful contributions to a given task.
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively
 - Express oneself using different media and symbols
- Hook: How do you prepare nshima?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY:

- Process: steps taken in order to accomplish or make something
- Describe: to explain something or illustrate something to make clearer or easier to understand.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: DESCRIBING A PROCESS

Introduction:

Ability to describe a process is an important skill that a learner must acquire. It enhances knowledge transfer, analytical thinking and collaboration in various education and professional situations.

Specific Competence(s): Describe simple processes.

Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing simple processes

- Divide the learners into groups and ask them to discuss different processes with peers,

For example: how to make tea, how to bake, how to make a kite, how to mend a bicycle tyre

Activity 2: Discussing a variety of sequence indicators to describe a process

- Write an example of process on the board (example: how to make tea) and ask Learners to read it:

How to make tea

Firstly, heat clean water to your preferred temperature-usually just below boiling for green tea and fully boiling for black tea.

Secondly, place your tea, either a tea bag or loose tea leaves in a cup or teapot. The amount of tea leaves depends on how many cups you estimate to make. Usually, a teaspoon for each cup is recommended.

Then, pour the hot water over the tea, and let it steep for 3 to 5 minutes depending on how strong you want it.

Thereafter, add your favourite sweetener (sugar or honey) and flavour (lemon or milk) if desired.

Lastly, relax and sip your perfectly brewed tea.

- Lead a discussion on the variety of indicators identified in the passage to describe the process

Example:

Firstly, secondly, then, thereafter, lastly

Activity 3: Describing simple processes

- Listening Practice: read aloud and slowly the tea (or any other) making process to the whole class.

- Learners carefully write down the steps
- Divide the class into small groups to discuss what they heard, and to add suggestions of flavour variations

- Speaking Practice:

In groups learners nominate a chef to present the recipe to the rest of the class while group members simulate the process or contribute their ideas.

- Individual Oral Practice: Ask learners to explain how they would describe any of the following processes to someone:

- d. How to bake scones.
- e. How to clean a wound

- f. How to prepare a balanced meal for a patient.
- g. How to make tea.

Suggested teaching and learning materials:

- Worksheets with words that describe processes (then, next ...)
- Picture strips with processes that can be described

EXPECTED STANDARD: Simple processes described correctly

Assessment:

- Observe if learners are correctly following instructions when describing processes

SUMMARY

- Describing processes can take place in different contexts.
- Use sequence indicators to describe a process.
- Use descriptive words such as, adjectives, adverbs, figures of speech.

COMPREHENSION

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Comprehension is a process of active engagement that leads to accurate understanding and interpretation of what is heard or read. The importance of comprehension lies in its application to real-life situations such as understanding instructions, engaging in conversations, and interpreting information. Learners will read passages, extract main ideas, and engage in discussions to enhance their understanding. This topic introduces learners to the basic skills of comprehension, focusing on reading comprehension.
 - General Competence(s):
 - Creativity and innovation:
 - Ask thoughtful questions; justify one's reason and procedures
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively; effectively share one's thoughts and emotions and understand others
 - Critical thinking: Analyse texts to improve the ability to understand
 - Hook: Can you imagine transforming reading into an adventure? Let us uncover the gems hidden in words!

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY:

- Comprehension: the ability to read and understand
- Extensive reading: reading a variety of texts for pleasure.
- Plot: sequence of related events in a story
- Setting: place, time, lifestyle and weather depicted in a story
- Theme: Central idea in a story that reader wants to convey
- Characterisation: the process of painting a verbal picture on characters directly and indirectly

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: EXTENSIVE READING

- Introduction:

Extensive reading can be defined as reading done for pleasure or gaining general understanding by focusing on a large volume of materials. The goal of extensive reading is to expose learners to a wide range of texts, vocabulary, and sentence structures in a natural context helping to improve reading fluency, language learning, and overall confidence. To achieve the objective of extensive reading a rich collection of books is needed both at home and at school.

2.1 Specific Competence(s): Read a variety of texts extensively

3.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing reading mannerisms

- Divide learners into groups and ask them to discuss adverse reading mannerisms
Example of bad reading habits include: avoiding head movement, verbalising, whispering, finger or pen pointing of words.

Activity 2: Reading for enjoyment or information

- Ask learners to select books of choice from a collection and read

Understanding HIV and AIDS

Extensive reading on HIV and AIDS opens the gateway to knowledge, empathy, and informed action. HIV, or Human Immunodeficiency Virus, is a virus that attacks the immune system, and if untreated, can lead to AIDS (Acquired Immune deficiency Syndrome). Over the years, the medical field has made significant progress in HIV treatment, making the virus manageable and improving the quality of life for those affected.

By reading extensively, students can explore the science behind HIV and AIDS. They learn about the virus's impact on the body, methods of transmission, and the importance of prevention. This includes the role of antiretroviral therapy (ART), which suppresses the virus and allows individuals to lead healthy lives.

Moreover, through personal narratives, secondary school students can better understand the social aspects of HIV and AIDS. They encounter stories of resilience, discrimination, and triumph. These stories break down stigma and encourage empathy toward affected individuals. Knowledge gained through extensive reading promotes tolerance, reduces misconceptions, and fosters inclusivity.

Extensive reading also allows students to delve into the global and historical context of HIV and AIDS. They learn how different cultures address the epidemic, understand the role of international organisations in combating its spread, and recognise the value of collective effort in raising awareness and supporting affected communities.

For secondary school students, reading widely about HIV and AIDS is not just about gathering facts. It is about developing a responsible attitude, taking active steps towards prevention, and supporting those living with the condition. Informed readers become advocates for positive change, emphasising the power of education in shaping a healthier and more compassionate world.

(Adapted from ‘healtheducationresources.unesco.org’)

Activity 3: Discussing passage read

- Lead the discussion by asking questions about the stories and information read.
Example:
 1. What is passage about?
 2. What lesson(s) do we get from the story?
- Learners share by retelling stories or explaining the information read. (Stories could be explained along themes, setting, plot, characters and characterisation and style)

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- A collection of texts (newspapers, text books, magazines, novels, story books ...)
- Exercise books for writing summaries

4.0. EXPECTED STANDARD: Variety of texts read extensively

Assessment:

- Ask Learners to continue reading a variety of texts and share their reading with the rest of the class.

SUMMARY

- Extensive reading is regarded as reading a variety or large quantities of materials for pleasure and information.
- Through reading widely, learners improve their ability to understand and interpret texts more effectively.
- Exposure to varied language usage boosts confidence in both reading and speaking in real life situations.

COMPOSITION WRITING

LETTER WRITING

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: One of the most common and effective methods of communication is by writing letters. It serves as a means of conveying thoughts, emotions, information and requests to others, either formally or informally. Despite the rise of digital communication, letter writing remains an art form that allows individuals to express themselves freely. There are three types of letters and we need to know how to write each type correctly. The three types are Informal letter, Semi-formal letter and Formal letter. This topic will look at Informal letters.
- GENERAL COMPETENCE(s):
 - Communication:
 - Effectively share one's emotions and understand others.
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
 - Emotional Intelligence:
 - Communicate and relate effectively with others
- Hook: Do you have someone you admire or miss, and would like to write them a letter?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY:

- Letter: Written or typed message that is sent to another to share thoughts, news, emotions or information.
- Informal language: refers to casual and conversational way of communicating and includes personal styles such as slang, contractions and colloquial expressions.
- Formal language: a style of communication used in professional, academic or serious context.

- Informal letter: a type of letter that is written in casual, friendly tone usually addressed to a peer, family member or even a close colleague.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: INFORMAL LETTER

- Introduction: The art of informal letter writing is a valuable skill for maintaining relationships and expressing emotions. The key features of this type of an informal letter include, among others, a friendly tone, sharing news, asking about someone's wellbeing, and conversational manner.
- Specific Competence(s): Write informal letters.

3.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing the features of informal letter

- Divide the learners into groups and ask them to discuss different features of an informal letter.

Examples: sender's address, date, salutations/greeting, introduction, main body, closing, and others.

- Display chart of model letter

Model of an informal letter, perfect for writing to a friend or family member:

*Mukonchi Secondary School,
P.O. Box 50,
Kabwe.*

11 April, 2025.

Dear Kapesa,

Hi! I hope you're doing well. It's been a while, and I just wanted to check in. Lately, I've been learning more about HIV and AIDS—it's really made me realise how important it is to know our status and take care of ourselves.

Please remember to stay safe and encourage others to do the same. HIV doesn't choose, and anyone can be affected. Let's always support those living with it, without judgment.

What touched me most was hearing stories of people living positively with HIV—still strong, still chasing their dreams. It gave me hope and reminded me that with the right support, life can still be full of meaning and joy.

*I miss our old days of herding cattle and hunting mice—what fun times!
Hope to hear from you soon.*

Take care of yourself and greet everyone for me!

*With warm thoughts,
Didi.*

Activity 2: Using appropriate language to write an informal letter

- Explain to the learners that appropriate use of language in letter writing is very important.
 - Courtesy
 - Respectfulness

Activity 3: Producing an informal letter orally

- Ask learners to write informal letters (in pairs or groups).
Examples: - Write a letter advising a friend who believes in myths about HIV and AIDS.
 - Write a letter to your sister where you share ideas about HIV and AIDS.
- Group representatives to present to the rest of the class

Activity 4: Writing informal letters

- Learners to write informal letters individually
Suggested topic:
 - Write a letter where you comfort a friend or relative living with HIV and AIDS.

4.0. EXPECTED STANDARD: Informal letters written correctly

Assessment:

- Ask Learners to practise writing letters to friends using appropriate language.

SUMMARY

- Informal letters are friendly in tone and written to share thoughts, news, emotions or information between friends, family and close workmates.
- The language is relaxed and conversational.

PREPOSITIONS

1.0. Introduction

- Overview: Prepositions are words that establish relationships between nouns and other words in a sentence, typically to show direction, location, position, time, manner, or to introduce an object. Prepositions are essential components of English grammar because they act as linguistic connectors to clarify relationship, add precision, and enrich communication
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively
 - Speak effectively in public
- Hook: Picture a cat hiding under the bed. Where is the cat?

Key Terms

- Preposition: word that show relationships between a noun or pronoun and other words in a sentence.
- Object: the noun or pronoun that follows the preposition and completes its meaning
- Collocation: phrases where certain words naturally pair with specific prepositions.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: TYPES OF PREPOSITIONS

- Introduction: This topic introduces learners to types of prepositions. Teaching the types of prepositions (of time, place, direction ...) is aimed at helping learners understand how prepositions function in sentences.
- Specific Competence: Use prepositions in sentences.

3.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing prepositions

- Provide a passage and ask learners to identify words that connect nouns and pronouns to the rest of the sentence.

Example:

Passage

Last week, Lubona spoke with a nurse at the clinic about HIV prevention. He sat on a bench under a big tree while waiting for his turn. During the talk, the nurse spoke to him in a soft voice and gave him a booklet with information on how to stay safe. She also placed posters on the wall and asked Lubona to share the message with his friends. After the session, he walked through the village and stopped at his friend's house to talk about what he had learned.

- Explain to the learners that the words identified in the passage are called prepositions.
- Give a definition. (Prepositions are words that establish relationships between nouns and other words in a sentence, typically to show direction, location, position, time, manner, or to introduce an object.)

Activity 2: Distinguishing types of prepositions:

- Using the prepositions in the passage explain the types.
 - Prepositions of time: These are prepositions that show the relationship between time and other parts of the sentence. They tell when something happens (at, on, before, after, during...)
Example: During the talk the nurse gave him a booklet...
 - Prepositions of place: These are words that show the location or position of something or someone in relation to another object or place (at, on, in, under...)
Example: He sat on a bench under big tree ...
 - Prepositions of direction: These are words that show movement from one place to another. They tell where something is going or in which direction it is moving (to, through...)
Example: After the session, he walked through the village ...
 - Prepositions of manner: These show how something happens or the way in which an action is done (with ...)
Example: The nurse spoke to him in a soft voice and gave him a booklet with ...
- Ask learners to supply more prepositions (of place, time, direction ...)

- Explain that one preposition can fall into more than one type.
- Give learners a list of prepositions and ask them to group them according to type.

List of prepositions

At	Between	Due to
On	Above	Since
Before	During	Until
Under	Into	with
Beside	By

Activity 3: Constructing sentences using prepositions

- Ask learners to construct two sentences on each type using prepositions.
 - a. Time: We will meet after lunch
 - b. Place: Chipota is at the salon.
 - c. Direction: We all stood when the head teacher walked into our classroom.
 - d. Manner: He travelled by bus to Lusaka.

Suggested teaching and learning materials:

- Passage with prepositions
- Worksheets with list of prepositions
- Sentences with prepositions

4.0. EXPECTED STANDARD: Prepositions in sentences used correctly.

Assessment:

- Sentence creation: learners create their own sentences using different prepositions.
- Identification exercise: Provide sentences and ask learners to identify the prepositions.
- Filling in blank spaces: learners fill in the correct prepositions in the given sentences

Summary

- Prepositions are words that show relationships between other words and in a sentence, often related to time, place and direction.
- Prepositions of time show when something happens
- Prepositions of place indicate where something is located.
- Prepositions of direction show movement or route.
- Prepositions are essential to clarify relationship and to add conciseness in speech and writing.

STRUCTURE 2

PHRASAL VERBS

1.0. Introduction

- Overview: Phrasal verbs are formed by combining verbs and one or more particles of prepositions, and sometimes of adverbs. Phrasal verbs form part of frequently used structures in English language conversation. They offer a variety of expressions, and make communication efficient. Learners will identify and use phrasal verbs correctly in sentences so that they can demonstrate effective spoken and written communication in English.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively
 - Speak effectively in public
- Hook: Do you know that the meaning of a simple verb can completely change when paired with a preposition?

Key Terms

- Verb: the base action or state word. For example, run, jump, think.
- Preposition: a word that shows a relationship between a noun or pronoun and another word in a sentence. It often indicates direction, place, time, cause, manner, or possession.
- Particle: a small word that has a grammatical function that is used in combination with verbs to form phrasal verbs. It can either be a preposition or an adverb that combines with the verb to form a phrasal verb.
- Transitive phrasal verb: one that requires an object to complete its meaning. E.g. take off your hat, putt off the meeting, she turned down the offer.
- Intransitive: one that does not require an object to complete its meaning. E.g. he woke up late.
- Separable: some phrasal verbs allow the object to split the verb and the particle. E.g. turn the lights off, and look after someone.
- Inseparable: some phrasal verbs do not allow the object to split the verb and the particle.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: PHRASAL VERBS

- Introduction: Phrasal verbs are a combination of verbs plus prepositions and/or verbs plus adverbs. This topic introduces learners to phrasal verbs and their uses in communication. Learning about phrasal verbs can enhance communication skills and deepen learner's grasp of language subtleties.
- Specific Competence: Use phrasal verbs in sentences.

3.0.Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing phrasal verbs:

- Guide learners in discussing phrasal verbs (Display flashcards, worksheets with phrasal verbs). Examples of phrasal verbs include:
 - Break down-to stop functioning
 - Bring up-to mention a topic or to raise a child.
 - Call off- to cancel something
 - Give up- to stop trying
 - Pick up- to lift something or someone or to learn informally
 - Put off- to postpone or delay
 - Look after – to take care of someone or something

Activity 2: Differentiating between transitive and intransitive phrasal linking verbs

- Explain that transitive phrasal verbs require an object while intransitive phrasal verbs do not require an object.

Example:

- Pick up the ball and return it to the owner. (transitive)
 - Get up, and go home now. (Intransitive)
- Write sentences and ask learners to assign transitive or intransitive phrasal verbs

Activity 3: Interpreting phrasal verbs used in sentences

- Write sentences containing phrasal verbs for learners to interpret. (This can be in the form of a 'Fill in the blanks' activity of a 'dialogue').

Examples:

1. She broke down when her friend died of HIV and AIDS.

2. We need to speak out against the stigma surrounding people living with HIV and AIDS.
3. Cases of HIV and AIDS have gone down in my community.
4. She looked after her younger brother while her parents were away.

Suggested teaching and learning materials:

- Passages/worksheets with phrasal verbs
- Flashcards
- Fillin the blanks
- Dialogue

4.0. EXPECTED STANDARD: phrasal verbs in sentences used correctly

Assessment:

- Identification exercise: Provide sentences and ask learners to identify the phrasal verbs.
- Sentence creation: Ask learners to create their own sentences using different phrasal verbs.

Summary

- Phrasal verbs are formed by a combination of verbs and prepositions or adverbs
- They can be transitive or intransitive.
- They offer a variety of expressions, and make communication efficient.

SUMMARY WRITING

1.0. INTRODUCTION

- Overview: A summary is a brief and concise piece of writing that presents only main points from a given text (oral or written) without altering the meaning of the text. The ability to summarise a text is an important skill in academic and social contexts in which there is endless need to make information easier to communicate and understand.
- General Competence(s):
 - Critical thinking:
 - Analyse texts to improve the ability to understand.
 - Creativity and Innovation:
 - organise information and ideas
- Hook: Can you imagine telling or writing a long story in just a few words?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Paragraph: A group of sentences relating to a single idea
- Paragraph summary: the process of shortening a passage by capturing only the important information.
- Topic sentence: A sentence that states the main idea of a paragraph.

3.0. SUB-TOPIC: PARAGRAPH SUMMARY

- Introduction: A paragraph summary is a concise restatement of the key points of a passage. It preserves the original content of the passage without including unnecessary details, examples, or repetitions. Summarising is an important skill that can improve reading comprehension and writing. By learning how to summarise paragraphs, we can better understand and communicate the core message of a text. This topic will focus on identifying the main idea, distinguishing important supporting details, and creating a concise summary that reflects the original passage's meaning.
- Specific Competence(s): Choose the best paragraph summary.

3.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Reading given passage(s)

- Provide a model paragraph and ask learners to read the content.
- Put learners in groups and ask them to discuss the main ideas of the given passage

HIV and AIDS

HIV, which stands for Human Immunodeficiency Virus, attacks the body's immune system, making it harder to fight off infections and diseases. If left untreated, HIV can lead to AIDS

(Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome), a more severe stage of the virus. HIV is mainly spread through unprotected sex, sharing needles, and from mother to child during birth or breastfeeding. Although there is no cure, antiretroviral treatment allows people with HIV to live long and healthy lives.

Raising awareness about HIV is crucial in reducing its spread and combating the stigma associated with the virus. Many people living with HIV face discrimination and social isolation, which can affect their mental health and willingness to seek treatment. Educational programs and community outreach can help dispel myths and encourage testing, early diagnosis, and adherence to treatment. Empowering people with accurate information fosters compassion and creates a more supportive environment for those affected.

In recent years, advancements in medicine have significantly improved the quality of life for individuals living with HIV. Pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP) and post-exposure prophylaxis (PEP) are preventive medications that reduce the risk of contracting the virus. Regular testing, safe sex practices, and access to healthcare services all play a role in controlling the epidemic.

While efforts continue to find a cure or vaccine, global cooperation and sustained public health initiatives remain essential in the fight against HIV and AIDS.

Options

- A. HIV, a virus that causes AIDS in its early stages, spreads easily through casual contact like hugging or sharing food. While treatment options exist, they have limited success in managing the disease. Safe sex practices, and access to healthcare services all play a role in controlling the epidemic. While efforts continue to find a cure or vaccine, global cooperation and sustained public health initiatives remain essential in the fight against HIV and AIDS.*
- B. HIV weakens the immune system and can progress to AIDS if untreated. It spreads through unprotected sex, shared needles, and from mother to child. Though there is no cure, antiretroviral treatment allows people to live healthy lives. Raising awareness helps reduce stigma, encourage testing, and support treatment. Medical advances like PrEP and PEP, along with global health efforts, play a key role in preventing and controlling the spread of HIV and AIDS.*
- C. HIV affects only a small group of people involved in high-risk behaviours and is quickly becoming a problem of the past. The passage highlights that medical treatment is not very reliable and focuses more on the need for containment than on awareness or education. Preventive tools are limited, and the outlook for controlling the virus remains uncertain*

Activity 2: Choosing the best paragraph summary

- Divide learners into groups
- Ask Learners to identify the best paragraph summary from the options given
- Explain to the Learners that the best paragraph summary must be concise, accurate, clear, focused and well-structured
- Present charts containing paragraph summaries.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Passages/Texts
- Sample paragraph summaries
- Charts

4.0. EXPECTED STANDARD: Best paragraph summary chosen correctly.

Assessment:

- Teacher to ask learners to continue practising how to choose the paragraph by applying the necessary reading skills after he provides sample paragraphs or texts.

SUMMARY

- Summary writing is important because it makes information easier to understand and communicate
- It also helps to organise information and ideas that can easily aid memory.

CHAPTER 4: DIGITAL LITERACY

POETRY

1.0. Introduction

- Overview: Poetry is a unique form of literature that uses rhythm, imagery, and carefully chosen words to express deep emotions, thoughts, and experiences. Unlike prose, poetry often follows a specific structure and may use devices such as rhyme, metaphor, and simile to create meaning beyond the literal. In this topic, learners will explore different types of poems, understand poetic devices, and learn how to read, interpret, and even compose their own poems. Through reading, discussion, and creative activities, learners will appreciate the beauty and power of poetry as both a form of art and a tool for personal expression.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Effectively share one's thoughts and emotions and understand others.
 - Speak effectively in public
 - Creativity and innovation:
 - organise information and ideas

- Hook: Can words paint a picture in your mind and stir your emotions?

Key Terms /Words/Vocabulary

Stanza: A group of lines in a poem, forming a unit.

Rhythm: The musical quality created by the pattern of stressed and unstressed syllables.

Rhyme: Words that sound alike, especially at the ends of lines.

Imagery: Descriptive language that creates vivid pictures in the reader's mind.

Tone: The mood or attitude conveyed by the poem.

Theme: The central idea or message in the poem.

Metaphor: A comparison without using "like" or "as."

Simile: A comparison using "like" or "as."

Symbolism: The use of symbols to represent ideas or qualities.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC- RECITING POEMS

- Introduction: Reciting poems is more than just reading words aloud. It is about bringing the poem to life with your voice, feelings, and expressions so that the listener can feel the message and emotion behind the lines. Through poetry recitation, people learn to speak clearly, use the right tone, and connect with the audience. In this topic, learners will explore how to use voice, facial expressions, and gestures to recite a poem effectively. Learners will practise how to recite a poem with confidence and expression.
- Specific Competence: Recite poems

3.0. Learning Activities

Activity 1: Identifying appropriate elements to recite simple poems

- Distribute worksheets with a short engaging poem and recite or play an audio.

Sample Poem

Digital Windows
Through glowing screens, we reach afar*

*Where knowledge shines, a guiding star.
With clicks and taps, the world unfolds
Its truths and tales, both new and old.*

*But tread with care, this boundless stream
Where fact and fiction weave their seam.
To sift the gold, you need the skill
A curious mind, a questioning will.*

*Protect your voice, your space, your name
In digital realms, it's all a game.
Empowered choices set you free
To own your path, responsibly.*

*So rise, young learners, eyes alight
Decode the world, and share the bright.
In literacy's glow, we forge ahead
Connected hearts, knowledge widespread.*

- Explain the elements of a poem (Refer to the definitions in the terminologies).
 - Line
 - Stanza
 - Rhyme
 - Rhythm
 - Tone
 - Mood
 - Theme

Activity 2: Using appropriate expressions to recite poems on different cross-cutting issues e.g. digital literacy...

- Put learners in groups and ask them to recite a stanza from a given poem
- Learners should express the mood, intonation, and rhythm in the stanza

Example: Stanza 1

*Through glowing screens, we reach afar
Where knowledge shines, a guiding star.
With clicks and taps, the world unfolds
Its truths and tales, both new and old.*

- Mood: wonder and excitement
- Tone: hope

- Rhythm: smooth flowing

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Worksheets with poems
- Recordings with poems
- Poetry books

4.0.Expected Standard- Poems recited correctly.

Assessment

- Observe learners' participation in discussions and recitation.
- Provide feedback on pronunciation, expression, and clarity.
- Ask oral questions and encourage class discussion on identifying the appropriate elements of a poem (mood, tone).
- Ask learners to recite given poems and recognise rhythm and rhyme.

Summary

- Poetry is a form of literature that uses rhythm, rhyme, and expressive language to convey emotions, ideas, and messages.
- Using appropriate intonation (changes in pitch) and expression (facial and vocal cues) is crucial for conveying the poem's mood and tone.
- Speaking with clarity and confidence helps engage the audience and make the poem more impactful.
- Appreciating and understanding the elements of poetry enhance listening and speaking skills.
- Poetic recitation encourages self-expression and helps develop public speaking confidence.

COMPREHENSION

TOPIC: INTENSIVE READING

1.0 INTRODUCTION

- Overview: Comprehension is a process of active engagement that leads to accurate understanding and interpretation of what is heard or read. The importance of comprehension lies in its application to real-life situations such as understanding instructions, engaging in conversations, and interpreting information. Learners will read passages, extract main ideas, and engage in discussions to enhance their understanding. This topic introduces learners to the basic skills of comprehension, focusing on reading comprehension.
- General Competence(s)
 - Communication: Apply good reading skills.

- Critical Thinking: Analyse texts to improve the ability to understand.
- Hook: Have you ever read something so carefully that you discovered a hidden meaning between the lines?

KEY TERMS /WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Skimming: reading quickly to note only the important points
- Scanning: reading carefully to find specific information
- Factual: actually happening
- Inference: conclusion reached on the basis of evidence and reasoning

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: INTENSIVE READING

- INTRODUCTION: The ability to read with understanding allows a learner to understand other subjects in school. Learners need to develop skills in reading at a good speed, answering questions, recalling details and understanding meaning of unfamiliar words. This lesson gives an opportunity for the learner to practise and develop intensive reading skills.
- SPECIFIC COMPETENCE: Read and comprehend information.

4.1.LEARNING ACTIVITIES:

Activity 1: Intensive reading and comprehending various pieces of information or texts.

- Ask learners to Skim through the passage to get the general idea
- Ask learners to read the passage
- Time learners to ensure that they read at a speed of 200 words per minute.
- Guide learners to avoid bad reading habits

Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

1. In today's fast-changing world, knowing how to use digital technology is not just helpful—it is very important. Digital literacy means being able to find, understand, create, and share information using computers, smartphones, and the internet. It is not only about using a phone or computer, but also about thinking carefully, solving problems, and using the internet wisely.

With digital literacy, people can find useful information, learn online, and talk to others around the world. But even though it has many advantages, digital literacy also brings some problems that need attention.

2. One big problem on the internet is misinformation, which means wrong or false information. The internet has many websites, blogs, and social media posts. Some of them are not true. Some people or groups share fake news to change people's opinions, cause fear, or push their own plans. A digitally literate person should always check if the information is true by looking at trusted sources like school websites, government sites, or good news channels. Without this skill, people may believe false information, which can be dangerous for everyone.

3. Another important part of digital literacy is online safety. More people are using the internet for social media, online shopping, and banking. This gives cybercriminals (online thieves) more chances to steal from people. These criminals can hack accounts, steal personal information, or cheat people with fake offers. Many people share private details without knowing the danger. To stay safe, everyone should use strong passwords, turn on two-step verification (like a code sent to your phone), and be careful with links they click on.

4. Digital literacy also helps people get better jobs and work faster. Today, many jobs need basic computer skills, like typing documents, using spreadsheets, or joining online meetings. Also, digital tools help business owners sell products to people in other places. Even farmers use digital tools to check the weather, see market prices, and learn better ways to farm. In hospitals, doctors use computers to keep patient records and talk to patients online.

5. Even though digital literacy is needed more and more, many people still don't have access to it. In rural areas, some people don't have computers, internet, or good training. This makes it hard for them to learn and compete in today's world. Governments and schools should work together to fix this problem by giving low-cost internet, teaching programs, and better digital tools. With these efforts, digital literacy can reach everyone and help both individuals and communities grow.

- Divide the learners into groups and ask them to discuss the passage.
- Groups retell the details of the passage.
- Scan the passage and identify unfamiliar words. Inferences should be drawn from the text.

VOCABULARY

- The following are some of the unfamiliar words that might be drawn from the passage:
 - Digital Literacy – The ability to find, evaluate, and use digital information responsibly.
 - Misinformation – False or misleading information spread online or offline.
 - Cybersecurity – Practices to protect computers, networks, and data from cyber threats.
 - Verification – Checking the accuracy of information before believing or sharing it.
 - Reliable Sources – Trustworthy websites, books, or experts that provide accurate information.
 - Fake News – False stories or reports created to mislead people.
 - Online Safety – Steps taken to protect personal information and avoid internet risks.
 - Hacking – Gaining unauthorized access to someone’s computer or online accounts.
 - Scam – A dishonest scheme to cheat people, often online.
 - Critical Thinking – Analysing and evaluating information carefully before making judgments.
 - Identity Theft – When someone steals another person's personal information to commit fraud.
 - Two-Factor Authentication – An extra security step that requires a second form of verification when logging into an account.
 - Digital Divide – The gap between people who have access to digital technology and those who do not.
 - Phishing – A fraudulent attempt to trick people into revealing sensitive information, such as passwords.
- Ask Learners to answer the following factual and inference questions:

Questions

1. From paragraph 1, What is digital literacy mainly about?
 - A. Playing games online
 - B. Using only smartphones
 - C. Finding and sharing information using digital tools
 - D. Learning to code
2. In paragraph 2, Why is misinformation on the internet a problem?
 - A. It helps people laugh
 - B. It improves computer skills
 - C. It causes people to think carefully
 - D. It can change opinions and cause fear
3. In paragraph 2, Which of the following is a good way to check if online information is true?
 - A. Believing what friends say
 - B. Using government or school websites
 - C. Watching only entertainment videos
 - D. Asking strangers on social media
4. From paragraph 3, What is a cybercriminal likely to do?
 - A. Teach people online
 - B. Hack into accounts and steal information
 - C. Help others find information
 - D. Share free learning materials
5. In paragraph 3, What is one way to stay safe online?
 - A. Use simple passwords
 - B. Share private information
 - C. Click on all links
 - D. Use two-step verification
6. From paragraph 4, How does digital literacy help people at work?
 - A. It stops people from using phones
 - B. It makes jobs disappear
 - C. It helps them use tools like spreadsheets and video calls
 - D. It teaches only farming
7. From paragraph 4, What is one challenge some rural areas face with digital literacy?
 - A. Too many online schools
 - B. Lack of good roads
 - C. No access to internet, computers, or training
 - D. Too many smartphones
8. Why do you think digital literacy is important in today's world? Give at least two reasons.

8. What are some things that people and governments can do to help improve digital literacy in rural areas?

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Passages
- Phones
- Laptops/computers
- Worksheets with vocabulary on the passage

4.0. EXPECTED STANDARD: Texts read with comprehension.

Assessment

During the Lesson

- Observe learners' participation in discussions.
- Check their ability to locate answers in the passage.
- Assess group work and engagement.

At the end of the Lesson ask

- Oral questions on key ideas from the passage.
- Reading a variety of passages drawn from real-life scenario where they apply digital literacy skills (e.g., identifying fake news).

Summary

- The ability to read with understanding allows a learner to understand other subjects in school.
- Learners need to develop skills in reading at a good speed.
- Real-Life Application: Practise applying digital literacy skills by analysing real online articles.
- Reflection: Always evaluate the source and credibility of information before trusting it.

COMPOSITION WRITING

TOPIC: EXPOSITORY WRITING

1.0 INTRODUCTION

Expository writing is a type of writing that explains, describes, or informs. It is different from narrative or persuasive writing because it focuses on giving clear and factual information rather than telling a story or convincing someone. Good expository writing answers questions such as:

- i. What is it? (definition)
- ii. How does it work? (process)
- iii. Why is it important? (explanation)

This type of writing is widely used in education, research and professional fields. Making it an important tool for acquiring and sharing knowledge.

Examples of expository writing essays include: textbooks, newspaper articles and information essays.

- GENERAL COMPETENCES
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
 - Creativity and innovation:
 - Organise information and ideas.
- Hook: Have you ever explained how to do something to a friend?

KEY TERMS/WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Expository writing: Writing that explains or informs.
- Thesis statement: The main idea of the writing.
- Topic sentence: A sentence that introduces the main point of a paragraph.
- Supporting details: Facts, examples, or explanations that support the main idea.
- Transition words: Words that connect ideas smoothly (e.g., first, next, therefore, in conclusion).
- Clarity: Writing in a way that is easy to understand.

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: WRITING EXPOSITORY ESSAYS

An expository essay follows a clear structure to ensure coherence and logical flow of ideas. The key features include:

- Title: The title should reflect the topic being discussed and indicate the purpose of the essay. For example, “The Effects of Climate Change on the Environment.”
- Introduction: The introduction presents the topic, provides background information, and states the main idea.
- Sub-titles (Headings): These help organise the main points into sections, making the essay easier to read and understand.
- Main Body: This section contains detailed explanations, facts, examples, and supporting evidence. Each paragraph should focus on one key idea, supported by relevant information.
- Conclusion: The conclusion summarises the main points and reinforces the significance of the topic, often suggesting further thought or action.

- SPECIFIC COMPETENCES: Write expository essays

2.0. Learning Activities:

Activity 1: Discussing the significance of expository essay writing (for information, research ...)

- Explain to the learners that:
 - It helps one develop critical thinking
 - Allows Learners to organise ideas logically and express themselves effectively using facts and explanations
 - It is important for gathering and sharing information, and research
 - Helps readers grasp complex ideas
 - It enhances the development of communication skills

Activity 2: Discussing features of an expository essay

- Learners read the given essay

The Impact of Climate Change

Climate change is one of the most pressing global challenges today. It refers to long-term changes in temperature, precipitation, and weather patterns, largely caused by human activities such as deforestation and burning fossil fuels. Scientists warn that if climate change is not addressed, it will have devastating effects on the environment and human life. This essay explores how climate change is affecting the planet through rising temperatures, extreme weather conditions, and loss of biodiversity.

One of the most significant effects of climate change is the rise in global temperatures. Greenhouse gases, such as carbon dioxide and methane, trap heat in the Earth's atmosphere, causing global warming. As a result, ice caps and glaciers are melting, leading to rising sea levels that threaten coastal communities. If this trend continues, many low-lying areas could be submerged, displacing millions of people.

Climate change has also led to an increase in extreme weather events. Hurricanes, droughts, and heatwaves have become more frequent and intense. These weather changes affect agriculture, leading to food shortages and economic losses. Additionally, excessive heat waves pose health risks, especially for vulnerable populations such as the elderly and children.

Another major consequence of climate change is the loss of biodiversity. Many species struggle to adapt to changing environmental conditions, leading to their extinction. Forests, oceans, and wetlands are being destroyed, disrupting ecosystems and reducing the number of plants and animals that contribute to ecological balance. Protecting biodiversity is essential for maintaining healthy ecosystems that support life on Earth.

In conclusion, climate change has far-reaching effects on the environment, including rising temperatures, extreme weather, and loss of biodiversity. It is a global problem that requires immediate action. Governments, organisations, and individuals must work together to reduce carbon emissions, promote sustainable practices, and protect natural resources. By taking responsibility today, we can help preserve the planet for future generations.

(Slightly adapted from UN Environment Programme)

- Learners discuss the features of an expository essay. The following are the expected teaching points from the discussion:
 - Title: The title should reflect the topic being discussed and indicate the purpose of the essay. For example, “The Effects of Climate Change on the Environment.”
 - Introduction: The introduction presents the topic, provides background information, and states the main idea.
 - Sub-titles (Headings): These help organise the main points into sections, making the essay easier to read and understand.
 - Main Body: This section contains detailed explanations, facts, examples, and supporting evidence. Each paragraph should focus on one key idea, supported by relevant information. There is need to ensure that the information in the essay is clear and simple. It should have well organised transitions.
 - Conclusion: The conclusion summarises the main points and reinforces the significance of the topic, often suggesting further thought or action.

Activity 3: Making an outline of points based on the subject

- Divide learners into groups and give them subjects/topics to create outlines. Provide an example outline
Example:
Subject: Cyberbullying

Introduction:

- Many young people today spend a lot of time on the internet without knowing the risks involved.

- Background: Cyberbullying is when someone uses the internet or a phone to send mean messages or hurtful content.
- Main idea: This essay explains what cyberbullying is, its effects, and how we can stop it.

Main body:

- Definition of cyberbullying
- Examples of cyber bullying
- How it happens (e.g. through social media or messaging apps)
- What is cyberbullying?
- Effects of cyberbullying
- How to stop cyberbullying

Conclusion:

- State the importance of the topic.
- Summarise key points.
- End with a strong message or call to action.

Activity 4: Writing expository essays based on given topics

- Using outlines created in activity 3, ask learners to write expository essays based on given cross-cutting issues (Climate change, Global warming...)

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Chart/power point presentation on expository essay writing/outlines
- Model essay outline

7.0 EXPECTED STANDARD: Expository essays written correctly.

ASSESSMENT

- Group learners and give them an expository composition and observe them as they identify features of an essay (topic sentence, supporting details and transition words)
- Individual work: ask learners to choose a simple topic and write a short expository essay (e.g., How to Stay Healthy or The Importance of Education)
- Peer review: learners exchange essays and give feedback for clarity and organisation.

SUMMARY

- Expository writing focuses on explaining, informing, or describing a topic clearly and logically.

- The features of an expository essay include the title, introduction, main body, and conclusion.
- Encourage learners to write expository essays on various topics in everyday life.

STRUCTURE

TOPIC: QUESTION TAGS

1.0 INTRODUCTION

Good communication is essential in both spoken and written language. One way we make conversations more engaging and interactive is by using question tags. These are short questions added to the end of statements to confirm information, seek agreement, or encourage a response.

This topic will discuss how to check if what we are saying is correct or if the other person agrees with it. Instead of asking full questions, learners will use short question tags to do this.

- GENERAL COMPETENCE
 - Communication:
 - Use appropriate language (verbal and non-verbal) in different situations.
 - express oneself (spoken and written) clearly and effectively.
 - Ask for feedback.
- Hook: We ask questions every day, don't we?

KEY TERMS/WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Question Tag: A short question added at the end of a statement to confirm information or seek agreement
- Auxiliary Verb (Helping Verb): A verb used with the main verb to form different tenses, voices, or moods
- Positive Statement: A sentence that does not contain a negative word
- Negative Statement: A sentence that includes a negative word like not
- Positive Question Tag: A question tag that is positive and follows a negative statement
- Negative Question Tag: A question tag that is negative and follows a positive statement
- Short Answer: A brief response to a question tag, often using “Yes” or “No” followed by an auxiliary verb
- Confirmation: The act of checking if information is true or correct using question tags
- Agreement: When someone responds to a statement with a question tag to show they agree or disagree

2.0. SUB-TOPIC: QUESTION TAGS AND SHORT ANSWERS

- Specific competence: Add question tags to statements

3.0.Learning activities

Activity 1: Discussing the rules applying to question tags

- Write sentences on the board and ask learners what they notice.

Example:

- i. You love social media, don't you?
 - ii. He hasn't posted on Instagram today, has he?
- Explain what question tags are and the rules.

- Questions tags are short questions added at the end of a statement to confirm or check information. They help keep information or seek agreement from the listener.

Rules

- If the main sentence is positive, the tag is negative. E.g. She is online, isn't she?
- If the main sentence is negative, the tag is positive. E.g., She isn't online, is she?
- Always look at the helping verb (e.g., is, are, do, does, didn't ...) in the main sentence to help form the question tag.
- If there is no auxiliary verb, use 'do/does/did'. E.g., She plays online games, doesn't she?

Activity 2: Using question tags in sentences

- Divide the class into groups and give each group sentence strips with at least four statements e.g., Tag it right (supply the correct question tag)
- Each group to choose a representative to present their sentences with tags to the class.
- Give feedback and correct errors.
- Let learners peer mark each other's work to encourage discussion of given activity.

Sample questions

Tag It Right!

Read each sentence carefully. Then, write the correct question tag in the blank space.

Example:

You use the internet every day,?

Answer: You use the internet every day, don't you?

1. She doesn't like online classes,?
2. Computers are useful for learning,?
3. He downloaded the app yesterday,?
4. We shouldn't share our passwords online,?
5. They haven't finished their ICT homework,?
6. Digital skills are important today,?
7. You can't create a website without coding,?
8. Online safety is important for students,?
9. He doesn't play online games at school,?

Activity 3: Using short answers to respond to question tags

- Explain that when responding to question tags it is advisable to use short answers.
- Pair the learners and ask them to take turns at reading sentences aloud and provide short answers. Use worksheets and flashcards.

Example:

1. You've used Google before, haven't you? Yes, I have.
2. She doesn't like online games, does she? No, she doesn't.
3. They can use PowerPoint, can't they? Yes, they can.
4. You didn't post that photo online, did you? No, I didn't.
5. He watches tech videos on YouTube, doesn't he? Yes, he does.

Dialogue

Learner A: You have a smartphone, don't you?

Learner B: Yes, I do.

Learner A: She doesn't know how to use Google Documents, does she?

Learner B: No, she doesn't.

Learner A: They can access the school's online portal, can't they?

Learner B: Yes, they can.

- Let learners construct their own sentences using question tags and short answers based on things they do with phones, computers or the internet.

Examples:

1. You can create a strong password, can't you? (Yes, I can/ No, I can't)
2. He doesn't know how to use a search engine, does he? (Yes, he does/No, he doesn't)
3. They have installed the new app, haven't they? (Yes, they have/No, they haven't)
4. Your mother is flying out of the country today, isn't she? (Yes, she is/No, she is)
5. You don't love shopping, do you? (No, I don't/Yes, I do)

Oral activity

- Ask question tag sentences and let learners respond with short answers.

Examples

1. You have a Facebook account, don't you? Yes, I do.
2. She doesn't know how to send an email, does she? No, she doesn't
3. She has posted a new video, hasn't she? Yes, she has.

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Sentence cards/worksheets
- Quizzes
- Sentence strips
- Flashcards

4.0.EXPECTED STANDARD: Question tags to statements added correctly

ASSESSMENT:

- Observe learners' participation and their oral responses (ability to explain).
- Carry out peer discussions for learners to correct each other's mistakes.
- Let each learner write one correct question tag sentence.

SUMMARY

- Question tags are short questions added at the end of statements to confirm information or seek agreement.
- Positive statements take negative tags ("You use Google, don't you?").
- Negative statements take positive tags ("She isn't online, is she?").
- Auxiliary verbs (is, have, do, can, etc.) are used in forming question tags.
- Short answers like "Yes, I do." or "No, she doesn't." are used to respond to question tags.
- Encourage learners to use question tags in everyday life.

TOPIC: SUMMARY

1.0 INTRODUCTION

- Overview: A summary is a brief and concise piece of writing that presents only main points from a given text (oral or written) without altering the meaning of the text. The ability to summarise a text is an important skill in academic and social contexts in which there is endless need to make information easier to communicate and understand. This topic, will discuss different types of abbreviations and how to use them correctly in our everyday language.
- General Competence(s):
 - Communication:
 - Express oneself using different media and symbols
 - Communicate and relate effectively with others
 - Creativity and innovation
 - Organise information and ideas
- Hook: Imagine you are texting a friend and want to send a message quickly. How would you shorten your words to save time?

KEY TERMS/WORDS/VOCABULARY

- Abbreviation – A shortened form of a word or phrase.
- Clipping – A word that is shortened by removing one or more syllables
- Contraction – A shortened form of two words combined using an apostrophe
- Acronym – An abbreviation formed from the first letters of a phrase and pronounced as a word
- Initialism – An abbreviation where each letter is pronounced separately
- Symbols – Characters used to represent words or concepts
- Ellipsis – The omission of letters or sounds in contractions
- Formal Writing – A style of writing where abbreviations are used less frequently.
- Informal Writing – A casual style of writing where abbreviations, symbols, and contractions are common.
- Period (.) – A punctuation mark sometimes used in abbreviations.

3.0. SUB-TOPIC: ABBREVIATIONS

INTRODUCTION:

Abbreviations are shortened forms of words, phrases or sentences while maintaining the intended meaning. Abbreviations help us communicate faster and more efficiently, whether we are texting, writing, or even speaking. This topic will look at different ways of abbreviating words.

- Specific competence: Apply abbreviations in writing

3.0.Learning activities:

Activity 1: Discussing abbreviation

- Display a chart with a list of words and ask learners to provide abbreviations for them.

Examples:

- | | | |
|----------------|-------------------|-----------------|
| - Doctor – Dr. | - Avenue – Av. | - Kilogram - Kg |
| - Mister – Mr. | - February – Feb. | - Minute – Min |

Fill in the blanks using the correct abbreviation from the list.

(Box: kg, Dr., Feb., min, Rd.)

1. The patient visited Omelo Mumba at the clinic.
2. We bought 5 of sugar from the shop.
3. The test will last for 30
4. Our school will open in
5. I live on Yotamu Muleya

- Discuss the rules for using abbreviations

- Abbreviations should be used appropriately depending on the formality of the writing (e.g., abbreviations like ‘Dr.’ or ‘Mr.’ are acceptable in both formal and informal contexts, but ‘TV’ or ‘can’t’ may not be appropriate in academic writing).
- Always use periods after some abbreviations (e.g., ‘Dr.’, ‘Mr.’), but not for others (e.g., ‘USA’ ‘ATM’)

Activity 2: Discussing types of abbreviations

- Display chart/use PowerPoint with abbreviations and discuss with the learners

Types of abbreviations

- Initialisms: composed of the first letter of each word (e.g., ‘ECZ’ for Examinations Council of Zambia, ‘ATM’ for Automated Teller Machine, ‘UTH’ for University Teaching Hospital, ‘FB’ for Facebook).
- Acronyms: abbreviations formed from the first letter of a phrase but pronounced as a word (e.g., ‘NASA’ for National Aeronautics and Space Administration, ‘ZESCO’ for Zambia Electricity Supply Corporation).
- Clipping/Shortened words: some words are shortened (e.g., ‘Dr.’ for Doctor, ‘Inc.’ for Incorporated, ‘Exam’ for examination, ‘Phone’ for Telephone, ‘Ad’ for Advertisement ...).
- Dates and Time: abbreviations related to dates and time (e.g., ‘Mon.’ for Monday, ‘AM’ for ante Meridiem, ‘PM’ post Meridiem).
- Contraction: a combination of two words, where some letters are omitted and replaced by an apostrophe (‘) (e.g., can’t - cannot, I’m – I am, he’s – he is ...)

- Symbols: are used to replace words or numbers in writing especially in informal communication (e.g., & - And, @ - At, # - Number/Hashtag, % - Percent, $ - Dollar, K - Kwacha ...)

Activity 3: Applying common abbreviations and symbols in writing

- Using worksheets with sentences and tables ask learners to match the abbreviation symbol to its full meaning.

Sample exercise:

Match it up!

Match the abbreviation or symbol to its correct meaning.

Abbreviation/Symbol	Meaning
ASAP	A. Do it yourself
DIY	B. At
@	C. As soon as possible
etc.	D. And so on
info	E. Information

Activity 4: Discussing acronym

- Provide full words and ask learners to discuss their pronounceable acronyms.

Fill in the blanks with the correct acronym

1. The teacher wants the homework submitted _____. (as soon as possible)
2. _____ is an agency that sends astronauts to space. (National Aeronautics and Space Administration)
3. _____ helps promote education and culture worldwide. (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization)
4. _____ is a serious disease caused by a virus. (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome)
5. Planes use _____ to detect other aircraft. (Radio Detection and Ranging)
6. My father graduated from _____. (the University of Zambia)

Activity 5: Discussing initialism

- Use the correct form of initialisms.

Examples:

1. She sent me an instead of calling. (Short Message Service)
2. It is my turn to do the project. (Do It Yourself)

Activity 6: Applying contractions in writing

- Use contractions in writing.

Examples:

1. I believe we finished the test early. (cannot)
2. You leave without your phone. (should not)

Activity 7: Discussing clipping

- Use clippings in writing.

Examples:

1. We will have an next week. (examination)
2. I need more on this topic. (information)

Suggested Teaching and Learning Materials:

- Charts
- Worksheets/flashcards

4.0.EXPECTED STANDARD: Abbreviations in writing applied correctly.

Assessment

- Observe learners as they discuss and practice writing activities.
- Assess individual understanding and correct usage of abbreviations.
- Ask learners to write a short paragraph with at least five different abbreviations

SUMMARY

- Abbreviations are shortened forms of words or phrases used to save time and space.

- There are different types of abbreviations (Initialisms, Acronyms, shortened words, Date and Time).
- Some abbreviations require periods while Acronyms do not need periods.
- Use abbreviations appropriately depending on formality.
