RATIONALE: This is an integrated literacy lesson with three components: Listening and speaking, reading and writing. Listening and speaking is on descriptions. It is important to the learners as they will be able to give accurate physical descriptions of people and will use appropriate words their descriptions of people. Under reading, learners will learn to identify and manipulate sound /t/ in oral syllable and words as well to sound letter ‘t’ and to form syllables using letter ‘t’. Under writing, learners will learn how to form letter ‘t’. These skills are necessary in learning how to read and write. The lesson will be delivered using the following strategies: Gradual Release Model, question and answer, and discussions. This is lesson 1 of 2 lessons on sound /t/ in Week ...
